Drug forfeiture funding is suspended

Don Howard
Staff Writer

A 1.2 billion dollar reduction in the Federal Drug Asset Forfeiture Program announced last November, after the enactment of The Bipartisan Budget Act, has suspended equitable fund sharing to police agencies across the U.S. including those in Plymouth Township and Northville.

Federal officials have already begun implementing cost reduction measures

"If we can no longer share assets with state and local governments, then we can't afford to have people assigned to a DEA task force."

according to a letter dated Dec. 23, 2015 sent to state and local law enforcement agencies. The equitable sharing asset forfeiture program through the Department of Justice was designed as an incentive for state and local governments to seize the property of criminal suspects, according to officials.

The program, critics said, widely criticized outside of law enforcement circles, allowed enforcement agencies like the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) to get around state law limitations on asset forfeitures and therefore seize more assets, sometimes keeping 80 percent of the value. Criminal suspects, the subjects of the seizures, included many who have never been charged with any crime, nor prosecuted, according to officials.

According to published accounts, property owners in some states were denied an opportunity to challenge the seizures and law enforcement agencies were able to hold on to their assets for many months without a hearing. Their attorneys labeled the program

Solid state Leaders report progress in local communities

At "halftime," things are looking good for the City of Romulus.

Mayor Leroy Burroff gave his annual State of the City address last week, comparing his four-year term to the four quarters of a football game. With two years or two quarters under his belt, he said he's proud of the things that have been accomplished and eager for the progress to come.

Highlights include the expansion of public-private partnerships that brought new parks and programs to the city, additional economic development and enhanced communication between the city and residents.

In economic development, he said the city is working with developers, still, on the proposed Outlets of Michigan retail outlet mall, and hoped to see some progress this year. Due to its proximity to I-94, the project requires federal approval for additional access points. He said they're also working to land some additional anchor tenants that would ensure that when the project is ready to go it will be filled from day one.

"They don't have all the tenants locked in yet," he said. "We still feel good about it; we haven't heard anything that tells us they want more forward."

The city is also working with a new tenant for the former Romulus Marketplace in downtown.

Romulus returned two recreation facilities to residents with the re-opening of Park #1, located near the intersection of Beverly and Henry Ruff roads, as St. John's Lodge Park, and the redevelopment of the dilapidated tennis and roller hockey court at Elmer Johnson Park into the city's second dog park. This one, now named US Ecology Dog Park, was funded by a Romulus-based business, US Ecology, which bought the dog exercise equipment and top soil.

The city partnered with another business, Westside Beer Distributors, on a new project called Pint The Town, which used donated supplies and volunteers to repair the home of a Romulus resident and veteran. Working with the Rolling Thunder Chapter 5 members, city employees and members of local St. John's Lodge #44, about 40 volunteers from the company helped out in the project.

Burroff also created a new committee made up of employees and residents that brainstormed ideas for new events as well as ways to build up attendance at current events. Through the committee, events like the Sounds in Downtown, Free August Youth Days at local parks were implemented and the adult co-ed summer softball league was reinstated at Elmer Johnson Park, as well as many other fun initiatives.

Also completed in 2015 were the Downtown Streetscape and Goddard

Canton supervisor speaks to Plymouth Rotary Club

Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy gave members of the Plymouth Noon Rotary Club a preview of his State of the Township address planned for March 2.

The supervisor, who announced that he will not seek reelection earlier this year, encouraged the audience to attend his annual address, but did offer several hints as to the message he would be delivering.

LaJoy, a former state representative and township trustee, told the assembled crowd that "Canton Township financially and otherwise is in good shape."

He lauded the reactions of township employees faced with the Dec. 23 tornado that damaged several industrial buildings on Lilly Road near Joy.

"There was no warning whatsoever," LaJoy told the crowd. "The good news is no one was hurt."

He said that about 24 businesses suffered damage and that Canton staff people were working on Christmas Eve. "Our emergency management procedures went well. You always have to be ready."

LaJoy teased the crowd with news of impending financial development in the township but cautioned them that there were things he "could

"It's a huge win/win for everyone involved."

Council President James Godbout

Members of the Westland City Council approved a rezoning to allow for the development of land at the corner of Ford and Newburgh roads which will include a skilled-care nursing facility and other retail businesses.

Council members unanimously agreed to rezone the 12.5 acres, the former site of the Feister Auto and RV business, to allow Ciena Healthcare to purchase the land from current owner Glenn Shaw, &c. for the planned 76,000 square foot construction. Nearby residents in the

Carolyn Condominiums had originally opposed the rezoning at a recent meeting of the planning commission. The residents cited concerns about possible noise and increased traffic from the new center. To ameliorate those concerns, Ciena purchased an additional parcel of land closest to the Carolyn Condominiums and agreed to use it as a buffer between the new construction and the existing homes. Ciena will install a detention basin and add to the Road construction and the Wayne Road sidewalk projects.

"Both make our community more safe, walkable and pedestrian-friendly," said Burcuff.

This year, he said the city would concentrate on additional economic and community development projects, including the expansion of the 34th District Court, which will be funded through bonds sold by the city.

Much has been accomplished, during the "first half," he said, but there is still plenty to do.

"Don't give up at halftime," Burcuff said, quoting legendary football coach Bear Bryant. "Concentrate on winning the second half."

Mayors to host charity event

The Mayors' Ball, hosted by Romulus Mayor LeRoy D. Burcuff and Belleville Mayor Kerreen Conley, is planned for 5 p.m. until midnight, Saturday March 12 at the Romulus Sheraton Hotel, 8000 Merriman Road in Romulus.

Tickets are $100 per person and the donation to the Boys and Girls Clubs in the communities will include dinner, an open bar, dancing and entertainment along with live and silent auctions.

Advance ticket purchase is required. Tickets and information are available from Rob McLachlan, (734) 578-5682 or romelmclachlan@gmail.com.

Sponsorships at various financial levels are still being sought for the event and ads in the program book are available. The Boys and Girls Clubs is a registered 501(c)(3) organization.

Student takes gun to school

A 13-year-old freshman student at Belleville High School was arrested and subsequently expelled after a gun was discovered in his backpack Dec. 15.

Parents of students at the high school expressed their displeasure at the failure of school administrators and particularly with principal Abdul Madyn to notify them of the incident. Madyn told TV reporters that the student had been arrested by police and subsequently expelled. He also said he had an "open door policy" and would discuss the incident with any parents who had questions about the incident.

According to Madyn's aired comments, the student had some issues with others at the school and brought the stolen handgun to class. The gun was unloaded but the teen did have bullets in his backpack.

Staff members and parents only found out about the situation last Friday, according to reports, and were upset that no notification had been forthcoming from school administrators.

Monday morning, Jan. 25, city officials announced that in "response to a generic threat received by several high schools in southeast Michigan, Romulus High School and Romulus Police Department instituted proactive precautionary security measures to ensure the safety of students and staff."

The response came after a student brought an Instagram message to the attention of a staff member at the high school. The message contained a non-specific threat directed to "rbs," similar to other generic threats received by several other high schools. The post did not mention Romulus High School by name.

Romulus Police Department officers were able to determine that the threat to the high school "was not credible."

Police officials said that a state of heightened awareness was still in place and that the department and the school district were "partnering to ensure the continued safety and security of students, staff, residents and citizens in our community."

School board honored

Superintendent of Romulus Community Schools Marjorie McAnally presented members of the Romulus Community Schools Board of Education certificates of appreciation at their Jan. 11 meeting.

"Serving on a school board has been described as the toughest volunteer job in America. Yet Michigan's public school board members dedicate countless personal hours to attending meetings, school functions, and hours of preparation for the decisions they make," said McAnally.

"On top of that, many pursue their own professional development to stay on top of the ever-changing education landscape. Collectively, school board members in Michigan have spent about 7,000 hours attending training and professional development. They're dedicated individuals who are committed to the continuing success of our schools and students," she added.

January is School Board Recognition Month and Romulus Community Schools joined 541 local and 76 intermediate school districts across the state to thank these community volunteers for their untiring dedication to public education.

School board members in Romulus develop policies and make tough decisions that help shape the future of our education system. They bear responsibility and oversight for an annual budget of over $30 million, 3,000 students, 300 employees and seven instructional buildings, she said.

"We proudly join educators and community members in saluting these education advocates as they provide vision and leadership for student achievement, academic programs, district funding and school facilities," McAnally added. "They preserve the core of our democracy-public education."

Mayor visits D.C.

Mayor William R. Wild visited the White House Jan. 21 during his attendance at the 84th winter meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors. Wild joined more than 250 mayors from across the country at the conference last week. President Barack Obama hosted the bipartisan mayors at the White House to thank them for their steadfast partnerships during the past seven years of his administration and to outline America's priorities for cities across the country in the year ahead. The meeting also focused on the economic progress that each city has made since the president took office.

The mayors recently unveiled their urban agenda - The 2016 Compact for a Better America: A Call to Action - which calls on presidential candidates and Congress to invest in and protect America's cities and metro areas.

The gathering convened at the Capital Hilton in Washington D.C.

Wild met with Capitol Hill leaders and administration officials during the week and he was among the mayors urging Congress to continue to work in a bipartisan fashion to spur job creation and economic growth in America's cities and metropolitan areas.

"We have experienced many situations in our state alone that are real examples of why mayors should always be at the table on a state-wide level and federal level discussing issues and solving problems," said Wild. "The Flint water crisis being the most relevant reason to date. In general, problems are solved at the city level and meetings with the president and other leaders on the federal level are imperative, if we want to keep moving in a positive direction."

Some other topics of discussion included: criminal justice reform and community policing, advanced manufacturing and tech innovation, trans-Pacific partnership, education, veterans homelessness and transportation and infrastructure.

John Gaber, attorney for CIMA Healthcare. "The land is part of our development. It locks it in, so that the condominium owners know exactly what they will be getting," Gaber said.

Carolyn residents who attended the meeting were in agreement with the new plans and applauded the decision of the city council members.

"It's a huge win/win for everyone involved," Council President James Goodhart said.

CANTON - NORTHVILLE

Schools honor life, legacy of Dr. King

Following celebrations throughout the area honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. earlier this month, students across Northville Public Schools continued to honor Dr. King's life and legacy in a variety of ways throughout January. The theme this year for student activities and initiatives is "Life's most persistent and urgent question is, 'What are you doing for others?'," a quote from Dr. King.

Students were not in school Jan. 18, to mark Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, but upon their return to classrooms across the 10 Northville school buildings, students took time to reflect on Dr. King's message of peace, equality and service to others through teacher-led activities that included a range of experiences aligned with curriculum standards that included book talks, reading and listening to selected Dr. King speeches, writing reflections, art projects, sharing poetry and music, researching and reporting on everyday kids who have made a difference in the world, playing friendship games and making kindness cards to share with others.

Along with classroom lessons, several buildings also had school-wide and grade-level themes planned that reinforce connections with Dr. King's messages of peaceful problem-solving and strengthening communities through service. At Thornton Creek Elementary School, kindergarten through fifth grade students will write about how they can make a difference in their community and created an artistic representation of their ideas. In addition, Thornton Creek kindergarten teachers brainstormed and voted on a community service project for February to help those in the community who are less fortunate. The entire Thornton Creek school community honored Dr. King and Rosa Parks at its school-wide January. The Leader in Me assembly in January.

Meads Mill Middle School

sixth graders viewed the video "Mighty Times: The Children's March," which chronicles the impact the young people of Birmingham, Alabama, had on the civil rights movement and segregation in 1963. Students then created a "footprint" in words and/or a drawing showing how they can promote social change today. The footprints will be shared with parents and guardians and displayed in the school's main hallway through mid-February. Students at the district's special education center program at Cooke School viewed videos, listened to books and participated in web-based activities related to Dr. King's work, and then brainstormed ways they could help others, as well as make connections with those individuals throughout history who have devoted their lives to serving others.

At Northville High School, Principal Troy Koski reflected on Dr. King's life and legacy via morning announcements and teachers in all social studies classes incorporated student activities focused on Dr. King's message of service to others. In addition, teachers and students in all high school classes will take time to reflect on Dr. King's contributions to our world.

Along with honoring Dr. King's legacy as a civil rights pioneer, the high school also hosted an event for students and the community recognizing civil rights leader Fred Korematsu who was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 1998 for his fight for equal rights for Japanese Americans during World War II and throughout his life. Speakers included Ron Aramaki, from the University of Michigan Department of American Culture; Roland Hwang, Commissioner for the Michigan Asian Pacific American Affairs Commission (MAPAAC); and Adjunct Instructor for the U of M Department of American Culture and Mary Kamidol, former Rohrer Camp internec. The activities that our students and staff are taking part in, focused on Dr. King's legacy and the civil rights movement, go hand-in-hand with Northville Public Schools' mission and vision for all Northville students to become compassionate, quality contributors in our 21st century world," said Deanna Banash, Northville assistant superintendent for instructional services.

"The meaningful ways in which students, teachers, staff and our community are giving thought to and putting into action the principles taught by Dr. King are important," said Northville Superintendent Mary Kay Gallagher.

"It is our hope that these experiences will resonate for our students beyond this one day and beyond their classrooms, and serve as a reminder to all of us in the Northville community that the journey toward greater understanding and respect for one another is both ongoing and worthwhile."

Butterfly Balls planned

An annual Valentine's Day tradition, The Butterfly Balls, will take place Feb. 5 and 6 at the Summit on the Park in Canton.

The annual daddy-daughter dances will continue from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. on Friday and from 2-4 p.m. and 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. on Saturday in the gymnasium at the Summit.

"Canton's Butterfly Ball truly offers a treasured experience where dads and daughters can create special memories that they'll cherish forever," said Recreation Specialist Jennifer Girard. "What's also nice about this event is that grandfathers, big brothers, and other male role models are also welcome."

Guests will make memories sure to last a lifetime as they enjoy dancing to age-appropriate music, refreshments, a special butterfly souvenir, and the balloon drop that caps off the festivities. Keypoke photos and face painting are available for an additional cost.

Due to limited space, advance ticket purchase is required for all ages, and walk-ins will not be accepted. Tickets, now on sale, are $10.25 per Canton resident and $13.25 for non-residents. All tickets must be purchased in person at the front desk of the Summit on the Park, located at 46000 Summit Parkway in Canton. All dads and daughters require a ticket regardless of age.

No tickets will be sold after Feb. 1, without exceptions.

not share just yet." He did say that economic development in the township including several new restaurants was very healthy and growing. "We have some exciting things that are going to be happening," he said.

Rotary Club members asked about the congestion on Ford Road, suggesting a Warren Road or Cherry Hill exit from I-275 could provide any help. LaJoy explained the expense of road repair in detail and recalled the three trips he has made to Washington, D.C. in attempts to obtain federal funds to help with the Ford Road congestion.

He said all the efforts the township has made to ease the situation for motorists have resulted only in the finding of plans and studies, but no actual construction.

"We're going to keep going after it," he told the club members.

He also discussed the township use of focus groups to determine needs of residents and the support he feels the administration receives from the public. Overall, he reiterated, while Canton Township suffered the financial impact of the recent recession, the township is now "in very good shape," he concluded.

PLYMOUTH

Rotary Club offers scholarships to students

The Plymouth Noon Rotary Club is offering two memorial scholarships for students in the Plymouth Canton Community Schools.

Each of the scholarships is for $2,000 annually for four years for a total of $10,000. Additional one-year scholarships will also be awarded by the club.

Members of the Rotary Club Memorial Scholarship Committee are looking for well-rounded individuals who have demonstrated academic success, show leadership qualities and exhibit the characteristics of "Service Above Self." To be considered for this scholarship students must reside within the Plymouth-Canton school district, be a graduating senior, have a grade point average of at least 3.0, be a person of high personal and moral character and have demonstrated school and community service.

The Plymouth Rotary Club has awarded hundreds of scholarships to students during the past decades. Committee members

"This year, Weber said, the club members expect to award more than $50,000 in scholarships.

said that making a selection from among the applications submitted each year is very difficult.

"It is truly rewarding to realize that so many of our students are talented and contributing young citizens. The Rotary Club of Plymouth is pleased to be able to make these scholarships available to the deserving youth of our community," noted Bill Weber, a member of the scholarship committee.

In addition to the Plymouth

Rotary Club Memorial Scholarships, the club also funds technical education and academic scholarships. This year, Weber said, the club members expect to award more than $50,000 in scholarships.

Memorial Scholarship Application forms are available in the counseling offices at each of the high schools as well as on the Rotary website, www.plymouthrotary.org.

Application deadline is March 6.

"abusive."

Plymouth Township Police Chief Tom Tiderington expressed his disappointment with the secession of the program, noting that since 2011, $2.5 million in asset forfeiture funds were returned to the township. Tiderington referred to the changes as a significant blow to drug law enforcement.

"This is the best thing to happen to drug traffickers," Tiderington said.

Tiderington, who was an undercover police lieutenant in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida for 10 years before coming to Plymouth, is familiar with the program and its intricacies. Plymouth Township participates in a statewide Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) task force.

"If we can no longer share assets with state and local governments, then we are left with having people assigned to a DEA task force," he said.

A later letter sent by the DOJ on Jan. 6, 2016 titled, "Deferral of Department of Justice Equitable Sharing Payments" Fact Sheet, contradicted their initial notice of rescission.

Contrary to some reports, the Department did not "shut down" or otherwise terminate the Equitable Sharing Program. Rather, the department was required to temporarily defer equitable sharing payments to our state, local, and tribal law enforcement partners due to the combined effects of the $12 billion rescission and our obligations to maintain the financial solvency of the Asset Forfeiture Program and operate within legal guidelines for Federal financial management. This deferral decision was made purely for budgetary reasons, and does not alter the department's commitment to supporting state, local, and tribal law enforcement," the letter stated.

John Werth, Northville Township public safety director and current president of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police also takes exception to the deferral and the inference that the system is riddled with abuses.

"We're not looking for a windfall of dollars, but need to recoup expenses for our personnel. To stop crime you have to hit them where the money is... sometimes there is just negotiation and the seizure is the punishment. It's not that they're not guilty."

Werth said that last week representatives from his chiefs of police organization and other community law enforcement officials met with Barbara L. McQuade, U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Michigan.

"We're reaching out to our congressmen and government officials to educate them on the importance of equitable sharing," Werth said.

The DOJ letter said there was no definite date for the return of the forfeiture funding.

"The bottom line is that the department views this as a 'pause' whereby we are holding payments in place until the funding situation improves. We hope that when funding allows, we will resume payments where they left off either in full, or as close to full as the budgetary situation allows," the latest letter stated.

Legislator blasts supervisor

Political science has already begun in Plymouth Township with the criticism of a presumptive candidate for supervisor on an internet site.

State Rep. Kurt Heise took Plymouth Township Supervisor Shannon Price to task about the site during the public comment portion of the agenda at a regular meeting of the board recently.

Heise accused Price of being complicit in "cyber bullying" and said the supervisor, who is expected to be a candidate in November, knows "all the people behind this."

Heise showed a photo of the site, which has a photo of him, imposed over a menacing looking man behind bars. The internet site is critical of Heise's current bill which would allow future prisoners to be eligible for release if they have served their minimum sentence.

He told the board of trustees that this bill had "passed the House with a majority of Republican support. It's supported by Speaker Cotter, the Detroit News and Free Press, and is one of Governor Snyder's top three priorities for 2016," he said.

"I'm all for debate on the issues, but this kind of imagery and messaging crosses the line, and puts our township in a negative light. The image of an African-American man behind bars along with dishonest and racist code words and imagery on both a Facebook site and website is the kind of demagoguery that people of goodwill must reject," Heise said.

He said the site was the work of political activist Joe Munem, who is also the head of government relations for Rizzo Environmental. Heise said Munem has donated money to Price's campaign and that Rizzo just "got a multi-year contract with the township."

He said that Munem's partner in the internet site is Canton attorney Deb Wyman.

"The Citizens for Accountable Government PAC has been used for years by Munem and Wyman to help Rizzo obtain trash contracts, and as you all know, to attack and smear political opponents," Heise claimed.

"Now I think Rizzo Environmental is a good corporate citizen; I sure hope they're not financing this effort," Heise added.

Heise also criticized Stu Sandler, with whom Price formerly worked and who attended Price's interviews for the supervisor's appointment and his subsequent swearing in.

"We discovered that the 'Citizens for Accountable Government' Facebook site is directly linked to Sandler's political consulting company, and Sandler has made it very clear to me that he's running your political operations," Heise claimed.

"Plymouth Township must be a tolerant and welcoming community, and must denounce racist and malicious fear-mongering like this," Heise said.

"If you really want to stop cyber-bullying, this would be a great place to start," Heise told Price.

Price made no public comment on Heise's claims.

WAYNE

City hires former Westland development director

It didn't take Lori Fodale long to find a new position when her contract as the Economic Development Director in Westland was not renewed Jan. 31.

Last week, Fodale, who worked in Westland for eight years, was hired for the same job in the City of Wayne.

Fodale was introduced to the members of the Wayne City Council at their regular meeting by City Manager Lisa Nocerini who said that while there had been interest from businesses about moving to Wayne, there had been no one for them to talk to about the process. She said Fodale's experience will bring a new perspective to the city.

Fodale was the director of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce for 13 years prior to taking the job in Westland.

Her $70,000 annual salary will be split between the city and the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) as she will also serve as a staff person for that group.

Nocerini said that Fodale would help with economic development planning for the future, which is a key to bringing additional revenue into the city.

"Lori has the background that we need and knows Wayne - her family lived here," said Nocerini. "We have vacant buildings - that's one of the biggest complaints we hear. The city is in a financial situation where it needs to bring in revenue."

Nocerini said that employing Fodale would not impact the support the city has for the Wayne Main Street project and Fodale said that she is supportive of that effort.

Currently, the City of Wayne faces a $2.25 million budget shortfall and auditors predict the city could be out of money in early 2017.

St. Mary sets open house

In conjunction with Catholic Schools Week, St. Mary Catholic School will be hosting an Open House from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 31.

The event is open to anyone who may be interested in school for grades Preschool 3, Preschool 4, and Kindergarten through 8th grade.

Visitors will have an opportunity to meet teachers and administration, as well as view classrooms and work done by students. St. Mary is a diverse school that offers many extracurricular activities to meet each individual student's interests. The school Learning Specialist will be available to discuss extra help that is available to students during the school day as well as after school small group tutoring. Students from the middle school will also be demonstrating a dissection in the science lab.

Registration and tuition information for the 2016-2017 school year will be available. Families may also inquire about Tuition Assistance Programs.

More information regarding St. Mary School is available at stmaryschool-wayne.org or feel free to call the School Office at (734) 721-1240 or email schooloffice@stmarywayne.org.

The school is located at 34516 West Michigan Ave. in Wayne.

Alumni sought for honor

This year's commencement ceremony for Wayne Memorial High School will continue the tradition of awarding a "Distinguished Alumni" medal to a graduate of Wayne Memorial High School.

"We have had many outstanding people graduate from Wayne Memorial," said Kevin Weber, Wayne principal. "Many have contributed significantly to the betterment of society on a local, state, national or international level. The Distinguished Alumni Award is our way of honoring an outstanding graduate on an annual basis."

Each winner is awarded a medal inscribed with the official school seal.

"This is an opportunity for our current graduating class to hear first hand from a former alumnus who has made his/her mark on society," Weber said.

The most difficult task is to locate the many alumni who have distinguished themselves since their graduation. For that reason, Wayne Memorial officials are asking the community to help in the search. If any member of the community wishes to nominate a Wayne Memorial graduate, contact the principals office at Wayne Memorial High School, (734) 419-2206. The school is located at 3001 Fourth St. Wayne, Michigan 48104.

A "Distinguished Alumni" committee has been established at Wayne Memorial to decide on the recipient for 2016. An announcement of the winner will be made in mid-May and the recipient will then be honored at commencement, June 4. Nominations are due by Feb. 28.

Parents meeting is planned

Wayne Memorial High School will be hosting an 8th grade parent night for those with students transitioning to 9th grade or those interested in getting more information about Wayne Memorial High School for the 2016-2017 school year.

Students do not have to be currently attending a Wayne-Westland Community School to attend. The event will take place at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 10 in the Wayne Memorial High School Stockmeyer Auditorium. Topics covered will include: scheduling, graduation requirements, testing out requirements, direct college courses, AP courses, extra-curricular activities, and more. All are welcome to attend and questions are encouraged.

Parking is available in the Glenwood Street parking lot and guests should enter through the front of the auditorium. Any additional questions should be directed to the Counseling Department at (734) 419-2215.
