Fire response report ignites tempers

Don Howard
Staff Writer

Plymouth Township firefighters are a little hot under the collar following accounts of a recent house fire in the City of Plymouth which they had displayed their actions during the emergency and credited another department for a "fast response."

Firefighter Greg Mangan of Plymouth Township Local 1406 said it was the quick response of the Plymouth Township department which helped control the damage at a two-story home at 1280 Ann Arbor Trail in the City of Plymouth last week. He said

"Plymouth Township firefighters responded to the call even though it was in the City of Plymouth..."

the call came into the dispatch center at "about 11 p.m." and the Plymouth Township firefighters responded to the call even though it was in the City of Plymouth, usually served by paid on-call firefighters from the cities of Northville and Plymouth. The city and the township departments operate under an automatic modified mutual aid agreement as members of the Western Wayne County Fire Department Mutual Aid Association.

The township firefighters were at the home within 7 minutes of the alarm reporting a "fireplace fire." The published comments from Northville/Plymouth Fire Chief Steve Ott thanking them for their "assistance," did not sit well when, Mangan said, it was some time before the Northville/Plymouth city on-call firefighters arrived at the home. He said by the time the other department arrived, the township department had taken charge of the scene, and township personnel were responsible for controlling and extinguishing the blaze. The fire, which occurred during the windstorm Wednesday, kept firefighters at the scene for four hours.

According to reports, the township fire department responding with a crew of eight firefighters immediately con-

The Romulus Eagles varsity basketball team followed up their district title with the regional championship last Wednesday. The Eagles beat the Ann Arbor Pioneer 56-53 in the regional championship game improving the Eagles record to 20-4. With the game tied at halftime, the Eagles came out strong in the second half going on a 12-0 run. Head coach Jerret Smith said, "We just had to keep pushing, we knew we had to wear them down." The Eagles have advanced to the final eight teams in the state tournament and are hoping to win their second state championship in the past five years. Crowds welcome newest Busch's to Canton

The long-anticipated Busch's Fresh Food Market officially opened last Friday on Canton Center Road in Canton Township.

"We can't wait for the Canton community to see all the hard work that's been done here," said Mike Brooks, president and CEO. "I believe our guests will be pleased with our unique offerings and emphasis on local products."

The 54,000 square foot store includes features an expanded produce department with a garden manager station, more than 200 locally-sourced products, Busch's-made artisan bakery breads, bulk food stations, fresh sushi and a hot Asian bowls stand, an expanded hot food and salad bar, a world-class wine and beer department, a gelateria with authentic Italian gelato by Joriso, a juicery, Indian and Thai cuisine, a Starbucks kiosk, and J.B.'s Smokehouse, Busch's own restaurant featuring southern-style barbecue, with a Michigan twist.

"We are offering an expansion of multiple departments and we are providing opportunities to 200 employees," said John Busch, chairman. "We look forward to seeing the community come together, while enjoying all the new selections our one-of-a-kind store has to offer."

A ribbon cutting with the Canton Chamber of Commerce took place March 17 and the new market presented goodie bags to the first 150 shoppers at the new store. Numerous local vendors were also on hand distributing food samples to guests. Busch's Fresh Food Market is located at 225 S. Canton Center Road. This is the 18th location of the chain and the first to include a restaurant inside the store.

The restaurant features modern, rustic décor that is casual and family friendly. Seating 170, including outdoor patio seating in warmer weather, J.B.'s Smokehouse will offer a selection of Michigan brews and indulge in cuisine prepared by Executive Chef Todd Buchanan.

"We proudly use ingredients you can pronounce and when we say locally made, we mean it," said Buchanan. "Our barbe-

Township purchases new portable defibrillators

Don Howard
Staff Writer

Plymouth Township officials approved the purchase of six new state-of-the-art Automatic External Defibrillators (AEDs) last week in an effort to meet what has been described as a "critical need."

A single source bid from Physio Control of Redmond, WA, for $11,868.52 was approved unanimously by members of the board of trustees following a report from Fire Chief Dan Phillips last month. Phillips reported there was a crucial absence of up-to-date defibrillators throughout the township and those that exist are old, out-dated and long-past their service life.

Phillips said the new AEDs are compatible with the units currently on board township emergency vehicles and would allow immediate hook-up when firefighters arrive at an emergency scene.

The need for the devices is part of an attempt to update and replace aging and out-of-date or non-working emergency equipment throughout the township and in the fire department where the need is "dire," according to Phillips who presented a formal report regarding conditions last month in response to an administration request.

"The new AED devices will give employees, residents and members of the public a stronger chance of survival in the event of sudden cardiac arrest, should they be a candidate for defibrillation. Whether they live or die depends on how fast they receive treatment," Phillips said.

"It's about time we're doing something."

According to Phillips, the new portable devices automatically diagnose life-threatening arrhythmias of ventricular tachycardia or ventricular fibrillation (cardiac arrest). The devices, he said, are simple to use and provide oral directions to the user, dictating step-by-step instructions when minutes can mean the difference between life and death.

Medical experts say trained citizen first-responders can perform basic care until paramedics arrive to administer advanced cardiac life support.

The units will be installed in the Friendship Station on Schoolcraft Road, Township Park Pavilion 1, the Four-Seasons pavilion in township park, Township Hall, Lake Pointe Soccer Park and the DPW Building on Fort Street. There are plans to replace the AED in the police department lock-up using funds from a municipal grant.

"It's about time we're doing something," Phillips said after the meeting, referring to his report last month which cited eight years of neglect by previous township administrations in purchasing, repairing or repairing dated lifesaving equipment and vehicles in the fire department.

Irreversible brain damage can occur in approximately three minutes of cardiac arrest as organs shut down, one-by-one. Documented fire department response times in Plymouth and Plymouth Township currently average longer than six minutes. After that critical time, there is virtually no chance of survival in cardiac arrest, according to medical experts and national statistics.

Phillips said he recommended to the board members that units be strategically placed throughout township work places so that no employee would be unreachable in case of a cardiac emergency. He said there are plans to train all township employees and classes for the public in the use of the AEDs will take place monthly, as firefighters' schedules permit.

Officials request clean-up at historic city cemetery

Shannon C. Shaver
Special Writer

The time has come for a spring-cleaning of a centuries old cemetery. The Romulus Memorial Cemetery Board of Trustees is urging a clean-up of the facility this month.

The cemetery, five years older than the state of Michigan, is a historic site that remains the resting place of war heroes, political figures and community families. City Clerk Ellen Craig-Bragg reminds residents with family members in the cemetery that all floral arrangements including wreaths and grave blankets must be removed or they will be discarded.

A dumpster will remain on the property until March 31 as part of the clean-up effort.

Craig-Bragg said there will be a box placed outside the cemetery shed where visitors can find any personal items not picked up by the end of the month.

The clean up is part of the Romulus Memorial Cemetery Rules and Regulations, created to help maintain the grounds.

"When you have to cut the grass and drive them for months or buried, well, if you have a lot of things that are out that kind of encroach in the aisle ways or on other graves it causes a problem," said Craig-Bragg. By having the rules and regulations, it lends the order."

The Cemetery Board of Trustees was created in 2009, due to the growing need for maintenance and order at the facility.

"It wasn't easy making rules and regulations, because everyone mourns differently, but you also have to have respect for the grave site beside you," said board member Jan Lemmon. The rules and regulations can be found on the city clerk web-site.

needed water lines and entered the burning home within minutes of their arrival. Mangan said he and the other firefighters "fatigued after responding to nearly 48 prior runs" due to the windstorm, broke off into three teams. He said his team entered the home and worked until their portable air packs were nearly depleted, approximately 15 minutes later.

"The three of us worked inside and took down the interior walls while the three others worked outside taking out the exterior of the add-on fireplace with a chainsaw," he said. "The fire spread from the fireplace to the interior and the basement ceiling joists. While we were working inside, two other firefighters manned the engine-pumper and water lines.

Reports by various township firefighters say it was almost 15 minutes later that the Northville-Plymouth Fire Department finally arrived on the scene, accompanied by Plymouth City Manager Paul Sincio. It was reported that the there was "some kind of" "radio miscommunication," according to Mangan. According to Ott, however, the Northville-Plymouth fire engine arrived at the scene only "34 minutes" after Plymouth Township, "at 11:17 p.m."

In a telephone interview after the fire, Ott acknowledged that Northville firefighters were late to the scene and stated that the heavy windstorm caused a "three and a half minute" delay in their dispatch.

"Plymouth Township got there first," he said.

He said weather-related circumstances caused a problem with the receipt of the incoming signal to Plymouth City Hall, the location from which pages received from dispatch originate to on-call firefighters.

"Dispatch then sent the page to Northville Township dispatch who in turn sent it to us," Ott said.

According to the township fire incident report based on 911 radio data obtained through a Freedom of Information Act Request (FOIA), the time of the initial 911 call from the homeowner was 11:06 p.m.

According to the report, dispatch personnel telephoned Northville Township dispatch for assistance at 11:08 p.m. and the first fire engine on the scene, Plymouth Township No. 3, arrived at 11:13 p.m. seven minutes and 9 seconds after the initial call.

Ott, citing his departmental reports, maintained his crew arrived at the scene in the Northville-Plymouth Station 2 engine at 11:17 p.m. and entered the home and still found five extensions in the attic, first floor and basement ceiling. He said the combined effort of all the departments saved the home. Ott took over command at the time of his arrival from Plymouth Township Fire Captain Dan Atkins.

"Lots of credit to Plymouth Township—they're good guys," Ott said. He added that the day was filled with "a lot of good effort, cooperative effort between the two departments. He also stated the communication problem with city hall was "now fixed."

Library awarded certification from state

The efforts of staff members at the Canton Public Library to provide the best service possible to users has been recognized by the Library of Michigan.

The Canton Public Library was recently awarded a certificate of completion for meeting the Essential Level requirement of the Quality Services Audit Checklist of the Library of Michigan. To earn certification, the Canton Public Library demonstrated competence in seven categories of achievement including human resources; governance/administration; services; collection development; technology; facilities and equipment and public relations/marketing.

"Achieving the Essential Level certification proves to Canton residents that our public library is committed to excellence in governance, operations, finances, and public service," said Eva Davis, library director.

"I am proud of my coworkers, library board, and volunteers for all they do to contribute to our success."

Essential services have been defined by the Library of Michigan as the basics of all library service; relatively low-cost standards that every library can and should achieve. They are helpful guidelines to libraries just starting out, while providing important review for more established institutions, noted State Librarian Randy Riley. Essential standards are described as "those which should be achieved first because of their fundamental importance."

"Quality Services Audit Checklist (QSAC) represents the word of more than 100 library directors, trustees and staff members who together created measures of quality for our state's public libraries," said Riley. "The staff of the Canton Public Library is to be commended for achieving a vital milestone in library service."

The measures of QSAC are updated on a three-year schedule so certified libraries remain at the forefront of excellent service. QSAC was made possible by the Institute of Museum and Library Services. The Institute of Museum and Library Services, an independent federal grant-making agency dedicated to creating and sustaining a nation of learners by helping libraries and museums serve their communities, supports the Canton Public Library.

"We will soon begin work on achieving enhanced certification, benchmarking our services at the next QSAC level to ensure that we remain leaders in the library industry and across the state," Davis said.

The Canton library is in the final stages of the fourth phase of the Patron Service Improvement Project, which includes a renovation of the Friends of the Canton Public Library bookstore, Secondhand Press, the Northeast Corner, including the Teen Space, and the Southeast Corner Study Space. The Teen Space is the last of the phase four renovations and it will be complete in April, Davis said.

Phase IV carries on the improvements of the previous program, which renovated service points in the central area of the library, including the main restrooms, lobby and the Children's Library. The ongoing plan includes the replacement of worn furnishings at the library and an update at the facility to meet changing needs in the community.

For more information about the Canton Public Library, visit cantonline.org or call the library at (734) 297-0099.

2 appointed to city historical commission

Michael McElhorne

Dennis Boyzk

Two new members have been appointed to the Westland Historical Commission, filling vacant terms.

Appointed to the commission by Mayor William Wild were Michael McElhorne and Dennis Boyzk.

McElhorne said he has strong roots in metro-Detroit and has been interested in pursuing his education in American History since childhood. He moved to Westland in 2002 and is currently an officer of the Detroit-Windsor Algonquin Historical Club which was established in 1934 to promote the shared local history between Windsor and Detroit.

"As I'm looking towards retiring in Westland within the next few years, I've decided I want and need to be more involved with local Westland history," commented McElhorne.

Boyzk, the second new face on the Historical Commission, is a 43-year Westland resident. Boyzk is the chair of the Department of History at Madonna University. His academic emphasis has been in the area of International History, but he said he has recently discovered his interest for local and state history.

"Since the announcement of vacancies on the commission, I met with the president Jeff Koslowski," commented Boyzk. "And I agree that it may be able to contribute to the commission's efforts to recover the story of Westland and to share that story with our fellow citizens."

The Historical Commission is a nine-member board appointed by the mayor. The commissioners collect, maintain, and preserve any materials and documents relating to the history of Westland and Nankin Township. The commission also operates the Helen C. Brown Historical Museum at 857 N. Wayne Road.

Westland Historical Commission members meet at 7 p.m. the last Tuesday of the month at the Helen C. Brown Historical Museum.

"I could not be more thrilled to welcome these two gentlemen to the Westland Historical Commission," commented Wild. "Preserving and sharing the history of the City of Westland is crucial and these new members bring incredible experience and passion to the commission."

Wayne-Westland Relay for Life efforts begin

The newly combined Westland-Wayne Relay for Life effort to raise funds for the American Cancer Society began with a Pizza Palooza event that generated $500 recently.

Participating in the first effort were Cottage Inn, Tormina's Pizza, Vizio's Pizza Place, Pizza Hut, Happy's Pizza, Palmer House, U.S. 12 Bar and Grill, Papa Romano's, Mr. Pita and Jet's Pizza. The restaurants participated in a casual competition and Cottage Inn was voted as the best pizza at the event.

Carol Nelius is chairperson of the local Westland-Wayne event which will take place from 11 a.m. Saturday, June 10, until 7 a.m. Sunday, June 11 in Central City Park in Westland. "The passion for Relay for Life in the Westland and Wayne community is definitely alive and well," said Megan Schaper, American Cancer Society community manager. "This is a great example of how we can meet those who may not find Relay as a fit for them where they are at, with a fund event fighting for the same mission."

For more information about the Westland-Wayne Relay For Life, go to RelayForLife.org/WestlandWayneMI or contact Schaper at Megan.Schaper@cancer.org or (248) 693-3417.

State Police seek 'Good Samaritan' witness

Michigan State Police are seeking a Good Samaritan who helped a stranded motorist who was later shot to death in Inkster.

According to police reports, the victim, whom police have not identified, was riding in a vehicle with friends when their car broke down at about 12:10 a.m. March 13 on Oakland Street in the area of John Daly.

The victim, identified only as a 27-year-old black man with multiple Wayne County addresses, got out and pushed the vehicle with the help of a passerby who was driving a small, silver four-door car, according to witnesses. Witnesses said the cause of the breakdown was a faulty transmission and the passerby and the victim pushed the vehicle onto John Daly Avenue.

About 10 minutes later, according to witness statements to police, an unknown suspect shot the victim at the scene.

Michigan State investigators are asking the individual who assisted the victim to contact the Inkster Police Department or Michigan State Police at 855

Yankee Museum offering special flights, fares

For the first time ever, and on one day only, Yankee Air Museum is offering rides on a Douglas C-47 Skytrain at a special rate.

"We call it, Fly the Pattern" and it's an exciting component of our Detroit Aviation and Airline Collectibles Show on Saturday, May 20," said Kevin Walsh, executive director of Yankee Air Museum.

Walsh says the museum is inviting the public to ride in the twin-engine Yankee Doodle Dandy.

"Ninety-five dollars, that's all," said Walsh. "We're a flying museum and that means continually looking for ways to deliver the exhilaration of aviation. Fly the Pattern is engine start, taxi to takeoff, circle the field, land and taxi to hangar all in about 20 minutes. The maneuvers are close and the flying is pure."

Walsh said the flight operations team calculated a winning formula for people to fly while supporting the ongoing care of the historic airplane. Weather and operating conditions permitting, Fly the Pattern is being offered at Willow Run Airport, Hangar 1, 801 Kirk Profit Dr., Ypsilanti. Fly the Pattern flights are also contingent upon having all 12 seats on the C-47 sold.

The Douglas C-47 is the military variant of the Douglas Commercial 3, or DC-3 airliner that many credit with launching the airline industry in the late 1930s. This aircraft was favored because of its versatility and dependability, Walsh said. Many planes of this type are still in service today.

Originally built in April 1945, the C-47 Yankee Doodle Dandy is the first plane acquired by the Yankee Air Museum. The plane was purchased from Environmental Research Institute of Michigan Sept. 26, 1982. Following a detailed restoration, the plane returned to the air in May 1984 and is celebrating its 35th anniversary this year.

Fares on this plane are usually priced at $195, but this special offer can be made

The restored Douglas C-47 Skytrain is the first aircraft acquired by the Yankee Air Museum and rides will be offered at a reduced rate May 20.

due to the anticipated demand on May 20, Walsh added.
