Plymouth Township board names supervisor

Don Howard
Staff Writer

Tonight, four members of the township board put politics ahead of people.

During a raucous meeting peppered with fiery comments from the audience Thursday, members of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees confirmed Wayne County Commissioner Shannon Price as their selection for interim township supervisor.

Price's appointment had been rumored for months as the choice of Township Treasurer Ron Edwards and the members of the local Republican Party Committee, many of whom were in the audience.

Price will replace beleaguered former Supervisor Richard Reaume who submitted his resignation last month. Reaume, under threat of recall, sent his resignation from Florida where he purchased two homes recently as speculation grew he would leave his $111,000 job.

During the meeting, chaired for the second time in a week by Township Clerk Nancy Conzelman, audience members made fervent requests and pleas to the board for public input into the selection. Several expressed outrage about what they called "a sick mockery of the democratic process."

Conzelman asked township attorney Kevin Bennett and Fire Chief Dan Phillips to tabulate the point scores of each of the final eight candidates. The rating methodology was agreed to during an emotional meeting Tuesday. Each of the six remaining board members was instructed to choose their top three candidates, awarding three points to the candidate they felt most qualified, two to their second choice and a single point to their third choice.

Edwards, who reportedly brokered Price as Reaume's replacement months ago with local Republican committee leader Mike Mitchell, gave Price three points, as did Conzelman and Trustee Kay Arnold. Mike Kelly, a trustee who many viewed as a possible swing voter, gave Price two points.

Bennett announced the point totals, asking each trustee to confirm their vote. Price was first with 11 points followed by Ray Byers and Mark Cord for second. Byers, a former Wayne County official, Cord a banking and finance manager, each received six points.

"I'm humbled...there's a lot of work to do and I'm going to have to prove myself," Price said after the meeting.

Byers said that the results were not surprising.

"The results were predictable," Byers said with a smile right after the meeting. Byers who celebrated his 72nd birthday earlier that day said other than the meeting on March 31 he hadn't been to board meeting since the 70s.

State Rep. Kurt Heise, the first candidate to declare his interest in the job, and the obvious favorite of the audience, was obviously disappointed in the selection and the process.

"Tonight, four members of the township board put politics ahead of people. They appointed someone who moved here two months ago, with no relevant education, and very little experience," Heise said. "There were clearly other candidates with superior public and private sector backgrounds."

"Apparently, it's not a matter of what you know, but who you know. No wonder people are so cynical about politics nowadays," he added.

Trustee Bob Doroshewitz, who also expressed his interest in the job, was also visibly upset at the choice of the board. He said that Reaume's resignation to make room for Price was openly discussed throughout the township and on the internet for months. Arnold attempted to rebut Doroshewitz claims which prompted criticism from

Shannon Price

Conzelman.

Doroshewitz said he had a right to express his opinion despite Conzelman's attempts to quiet him. After loudly casting his no vote on Price's appointment, Doroshewitz took off his microphone, put on his hat and abruptly left the meeting.

"I arrived hopeful that there would be open discussion and we would come together to reach a consensus. It was clear to me that it was fixed when Price was appointed without a single word from any who supported him," Doroshewitz said after the meeting.

The voting tally followed the usual pattern with Arnold, Conzelman and Edwards, who are all facing a recall effort, voting as a block. Kelly also voted yes on Price's appointment while Doroshewitz and Trustee Chuck Curmi, also a candidate for the supervisor's position, voted no.

Annual 'Bomber Buffing' set for this Saturday

Volunteers of all ages participate in the annual Bomber Buffing at the Yankee Air Museum.

Spring cleaning takes on a whole new meaning at the Yankee Air Museum when area residents are invited to the Annual Bomber Buffing event.

This is the 20th year for the event when local volunteers descend on the hangars and polish the vintage aircraft to a high gloss. This year the event is bigger than ever, organizers said, because the C-47 Skytrain Yankee Doodle Dandy will be one of the aircraft being shined. The four engine B-17 heavy bomber Yankee Lady and twin engine B-25 medium bomber

Yankee Warrior are also on the west side of Willow Run Airport, in Hangar 1, Bay 8 and need their aluminum skin polished. Winter inspections and maintenance are complete, the planes have been washed and this is the last step in preparing for the 2015 flying and air show season.

There is no cost to participate in this event that will continue from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Saturday, April 11. Fueling the event, a Hungry Howie's Pizza

Plymouth library adds new online history portal

Everything old is new again at the Plymouth District Library where a new online local history portal has been launched.

The portal, <http://plymouthlibrary.org>, includes an index covering the local weekly newspaper, The Plymouth Mail, that will provide access to the history and heritage of Plymouth and the surrounding communities from 1887 - 1914.

The first issue of the Plymouth Mail was published on Sept. 16, 1887 and it contained extensive news regarding people, places and happenings in and around not only Plymouth, but much of western Wayne County.

Since 1990, library volunteers have viewed microfilmed copies of The Plymouth Mail, indexing names, events, businesses, organizations and advertisements. This index covers the years 1887 - 1914, and is now fully searchable on the local history portal - <http://history.plymouthlibrary.org>.

Community organizations and individuals will find the portal efficient and valuable.

“In a small town, newspapers are often the only source we have for information,” explained Heidi Nielsen, archivist of the Plymouth Historical Museum. “Being able to search the Plymouth Mail by date and keywords on-line is going to make researching so much easier than using microfilm. The hard part is going to be remaining on topic, because the old papers are so much fun to read!”

The information students need to understand local history and to learn to value the foundation upon which Plymouth was built, will be easily accessible through the local history portal. Darrin Silvester, Salem High School Social Studies teacher, has used the index.

“For a decade my students and I have worked to preserve aspects of our community’s rich history. For two community-based projects, I searched the online index and found hundreds of useful leads to further our work and research,” he commented.

This research tool is supported by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs (MCACA) and the Detroit Recreation Department. The City of Detroit’s Recreation Department facilitates the MCACA minigrant programs.

Rake-N-Go volunteers sought to aid seniors

The Plymouth Community United Way is seeking volunteers for the semi-annual Rake-n-go set for April 25.

Twice each year, volunteers visit homes in the Plymouth and Canton communities to help seniors and others unable to care for their yards. This year, about 70 such neighbors will be helped by volunteers who rake leaves and debris, pull weeds, bag up the refuse and are on their way.

The program has been a part of the United Way efforts in the local community since 2006. One year, according to Linda Chomin, community relations associate at United Way, there were nearly 400 volunteers helping the effort.

Chomin said that many volunteers bring their families along for the day. Volunteers should bring rakes, garden tools, hedge trimmers and gloves, all clearly marked with the owner’s name. United Way will supply yard waste bags for disposal of debris and yard refuse.

To register as a volunteer or to request help, call (734) 453-6879, Ext. 7 or email randi.williams@pcuw.org.

Plymouth Community United Way has served Plymouth, Canton and the western Wayne County area since 1944. For more information or to learn about giving or volunteering, go to www.plymouthunitedway.org.

THE REAL STORY

WAYNE - WESTLAND

Fire department seeks federal grants

The combined Wayne-Westland Fire Departments are seeking a total of $3.5 million in federal grants to add firefighters to the current roster.

While the departments are combined, each community pays for the firefighters in their own community. They share Fire Chief Mike Reddy and other administrative costs, but staffing expenses are the responsibility of the two communities.

In Wayne, members of the city council approved an application through a federal program, Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) for funding to add six firefighters. Currently, Wayne has only 12 full-time firefighters a roster below the number specified in the current union contract.

Wayne has requested $1.2 million to fund six firefighters for two years.

In Westland, the council unanimously approved the application through SAFER for a grant of $2.3 million to fund 13 firefighters. If approved, the additional staff would bring the Westland roster to 67, which would restore levels reduced by funding cuts and attrition, according to officials.

Reddy said that Wayne could be in a better position to receive the grant funding as it is a financially distressed community. Currently, Wayne faces a $600,000 budget deficit with a looming shortfall of $1.5-$2 million predicted for the next budget cycle.

Westland, however, has a $5.5 million fund balance, which could impact the decision on the grants. Reddy said that the grant would bring Westland up to the staffing requirements of the National Fire Protection Agency.

The grants are expected to be announced in July.

The federal funding would pay salaries of firefighters for two years. One grant condition is a guarantee of no department layoffs during the duration of the grant, according to federal documents.

Wayne Mayor James Hawley said the grant would be welcome in Wayne where it would allow the city to have two firefighters on duty for each shift. He added that the current overtime forced on the 12 firefighters is a stress factor in the department. He added that the additional firefighters could mean additional revenue from patient transport, which could be as much as $650,000. He added that the fire department is currently a $2.4 million annual expense in Wayne.

Mayor presents $62 million balanced budget

Westland Mayor William R. Wild presented his second consecutive three-year balanced budget to members of the city council last week.

Wild proposed the $62 million budget, which includes a $5.6 million fund balance by June of next year, during an evening study session March 30.

“As the budget process continues, we continue to look for creative ways to add to the city’s budget surplus,” said Wild. “Operational savings coupled with increased revenues has allowed us to add close to a half million dollars to our surplus.”

The proposed budget anticipates a 1.65 percent increase in property tax revenue, the highest in seven years, along with continued receipt of State Economic Vitality Incentive Program funding and a small increase in State Constitutional revenue sharing. Wild said the current shared fire services with Wayne and dispatch services with Wayne, Inkster and Garden City will continue to help the city qualify for additional revenue sharing funds.

Staffing changes included in the budget included additions in the public safety department included the hiring of four additional police officers, partially funded by a federal C.O.P.S. grant and three firefighters.

“Balancing consecutive multi-year budgets has been possible because we drastically changed the way Westland has done business,” Wild said. “This budget allows us to conservatively add additional public safety employees and I want to thank the city council, employees, and the unions for their hard work and commitment to the city.”

“Their efforts over the last seven years have been remarkable in many ways, leading us out of the depths of what could have been a debilitating recession,” added Wild.

The budget also includes funding for a new fire rescue vehicle and future renovations to the Mike Modano Ice Arena and the Westland Police Department.

Drill down

Cadets from the Wayne Memorial High School Junior Officer Training Corps (JROTC) traveled to Fort Knox, KY to participate in the Regional Drill competition last month. The region consists of 209 schools in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Indiana, and Tennessee. Once again the cadets demonstrated their Wayne Pride, according to Steven E. La Haine, First Sergeant (Ret.), US Army Senior Army Instructor. La Haine said the Wayne students placed as runners up in both the Academic and Exhibition Drill Competitions. In the March 14 and 15 competition, cadets Doug Chuong, Briona Nelson, and Maia Bowen all placed in the top 20 in the individual drill competition against more than 800 other cadets. Cadet Michael Alderman was also the individual runner-up in the Academic Competition. The group will now compete at the National Championship at Louisville, KY this month.

Garbage bins are recalled

Westland residents who have cracked, split or broken garbage containers supplied by the city will have them replaced at no charge.

Mayor William R. Wild said that the company which supplied more than 25,000 garbage “toters” will be replacing all the carts found to be defective. Wild said that the company discovered that poor quality resin was used in the manufacture of some of the bins which resulted in the defective toters. The company, Toter, LLC, said the resin did not meet their company quality control standards.

The new bins can be identified with an R serial number, Wild said. All the bins or toters came with a 10-year warranty, he added.

The new bins will arrive this month and residents who may have a defective bin or toter are asked to call the Westland Department of Public Service at (734) 728-1770 to request a replacement. City employees will deliver the replacements.

Inkster - Northville

Legislators support grant to Inkster Fire Department

The quick actions of Inkster firefighters saved the life of a 35-year-old man trapped in a house fire last week despite the heavy black smoke and raging flames in a warren of hallways and additions to the building. The firefighters also managed to resuscitate the dog of another resident of the home and reunite the pet with his 77-year-old owner.

Those heroic actions took place only one day before State Sen. David Knezek (D-Dearborn Heights) and Rep. Julie Plawecki (D-Dearborn Heights) released a joint letter calling upon the federal government to reward over $1.8 million of federal grant money to the Western-Wayne Fire Authority that would specifically fund fire service for city of Inkster. The Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) Grants were created to provide funding directly to fire departments and volunteer firefighter organizations to help them increase or maintain the number of trained, “front line” firefighters available in their communities.

“The City of Inkster has been under tremendous financial stress the last couple of years. We have an obligation to fight for our community so that everyone can enjoy the essential public services they deserve,” said Knezek. “After the WWFA submitted its initial grant request, Representative Plawecki and I drafted this letter to support the efforts that are being made at the local level to ensure that Inkster residents receive the quality public services that they deserve.”

The letter was addressed to the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Michigan Senators Debbie Stabenow and Gary Peters, Congressman John Conyers, Inkster Mayor Hilliard Hampton, and the Office of Intergovernmental Affairs in the White House.

“Inkster residents would be better served by the increased staffing and faster response times this grant would provide,” said Plawecki. “The awarding of this grant would have a significant positive impact on improving safety in our community, and we encourage FEMA to look upon this application with favor.”According to Inkster Fire Chief John D. Adams the actions of the firefighters merited the attention of the legislators.

“The patient had on two occasions gone into a Pulseless electrical activity rhythm (PEA) due to his extreme exposure to carbon monoxide from the heavy smoke,” Adams said. Inkster paramedics were able to stabilize the patient and restore his breathing while enroute to the hospital.”

Northville firefighters will receive new safety gear

Just in time for the Easter holiday, firefighters in Northville Township learned they will be receiving new outfits, including pants, jackets and suspenders.

The new apparel might now have been appropriate for the Easter Parade as the pants, jackets and suspenders are part of structural firefighting gear recommended by the National Fire Protection Association to ensure the safety and capabilities of the public safety workers.

The Northville Township Board of Trustees approved the $58,525 bid of Apollo Fire Equipment Co. of Michigan for the 31 sets of gear last month.

Northville Township Deputy Director of Fire Service Richard Marinucci said safety standards for fire gear has changed or been updated since the last sets were purchased by the township. He told the board of trustees that the new outfits would improve firefighter safety and also improve the ability of the firefighters to provide service as the new gear is lighter weight and offers better temperature protection.

He added that the gear had been tested by members of the township department and found to be an improvement over the outdated equipment. The newer hazard wear meets the standards of the National Fire Protection Association, he added.

'Hoppy' faces

These smiling faces were among the 40 Inkster children who participated in the 2015 Inkster Public Housing Easter Egg Hunt last Saturday. Evonne Moore, president for the citizens in Inkster Public Housing and her staff organized the event in which the police and fire departments participated. In addition to the egg hunt and candy for the children, the fire department provided school supplies and fire safety educational coloring books at the event, an annual tradition in the city.

Filmfest entries are sought

Entries are now being accepted for the 5th Annual Reel Michigan Film Festival planned for downtown Northville in June.

The event is part of the Arts and Acts Festival and will feature a diverse collection of Michigan-made short films beginning at 5 p.m. followed by a question and answer session with filmmakers.

Reel Michigan will accept Michigan-made or Michigan-themed short films, less than 20 minutes in length until the deadline April 17. All film genres are eligible, from student films to the experimental, organizers said. The entry form is available at <http://northvillearthouse.org/special-events/reel-michigan/>.

BELLEVILLE - ROMULUS

Thunder will roll into Belleville Memorial Day

Once again this year, an annual tradition will take place in Belleville on Memorial Day.

Thunder Rolls, the 11th annual motorcycle ride and Memorial Day service to honor veterans will take place May 25.

Organizers from David C. Brown Funeral Home, which sponsors the event, said that registration and line up for the ride will begin at 11 a.m. in the parking lot of the Belleville campus of Wayne County Community College. The college is located off Haggerty Road near I-94.

The motorcycle ride will begin at 1 p.m. from the college lot and end at the Veteran's Memorial in Horizon Park in Belleville. The park is located off Belleville Lake on High Street.

The memorial service will begin at about 2-2:30 p.m. after all the cyclists have arrived, organizers said.

The cost to ride in the event is $10 and each registered rider will receive a special commemorative pin.

“We remember, reflect and honor our veterans; past, present and future, who have given their all for our country,” noted Kathie Steigerwald, one of the organizers of the event, in a prepared release.

For more information, contact Steigerwald at (313)570-6115 or (734) 697-4500.

luncheon will be served for everyone. People are encouraged to bring plenty of clean, soft rags. Mothers Polishes, Waxes and Cleaners, Inc. has donated plenty of aluminum polish for people to use.

“Twenty years we’ve been doing this,” exclaimed Ray Hunter, chairman of the Yankee Air Museum Board of Directors. “And it never gets old. I’m always amazed by the large crowd that comes out every April to help us and believe me, it’s a big help.”

Hunter says this polishing party is even more important because 2015 is the 70th anniversary of the end of World War II. It’s also the 70th birthday of the Yankee Lady, which was delivered to the United States Army Air Forces on July 16, 1945.

“World War II Veterans are passing rapidly, the youngest might be 86 or 87 years old. We work very hard to keep our airplanes in top flight condition to honor them,” continued Hunter. “Veterans, their children and grandchildren all marvel at these aircraft when we fly them into air shows and believe me they notice and appreciate the high gloss finish.”

Hunter said he sees lots of families return year after year, but there are new faces, too. He attributes the excellent participation a sense of patriotism that people get when they get up close to the Boeing B-17G Flying Fortress and North American B-25 Mitchell. These aircraft are never on display at the museum Collections and Exhibits Building on the east side of Willow Run Airport. Hunter also explained that each year the number of airworthy B-17s and B-25s declines. He estimates only seven to nine B-17s and maybe eight to ten B-25s will take to the skies in the United States this year.

“There’s an added attraction this year, the Douglas C-47 Skytrain is also in the hangar and needing a shine,” said Kevin Walsh, Yankee Air Museum executive director. “The museum will be announcing special sightseeing flights on board the C-47 real soon and we think the program will be a hit.”

In planning the Bomber Buffing event, Walsh and the professional staff make sure the event is appealing to the whole family.

According to Walsh, logo merchandise and unique gifts will be available. Special membership incentives are planned for the day.

Yankee Air Museum security volunteers will be on hand to help direct free parking and access to the Bomber Buffing.

Hangar 1 is on the northwest side of the airfield. Follow the road signs for west and south access to Willow Run Airport to get to Hangar 1. Entry will be through the door under the awning of M2 Aircraft Management, Willow Run Airport, Kirk Profit Drive, Building 2601, Hangar 1, Ypsilanti, 48198. The event is free and open to the public.

Wrestlers plan benefit

Wolverine Pro Wrestling is hosting a fundraising wrestling exhibition to help a lifelong Romulus resident in her battle with stage four cancer.

Lee Tracy, the owner of Wolverine Pro Wrestling, said that he has known Cindi (Silvey) Hensley for more than 35 years and graduated from Romulus High School with her. Hensley, whose husband Glenn is also a lifelong Romulus resident, was diagnosed with breast cancer last year and the disease has now metastasized into her bones and spread to her liver, Tracy said, and she is currently hospitalized with a blood clot and multiple lesions in her liver.

He has organized the wrestling event to help defray some of the costs of his lifelong friend's medical bills and is calling the event Smackdown for Cindi.

There are 15 wrestlers who have agreed to participate in the six or seven matches planned for 6:30 p.m. May 24 at Roller Skate Park, 19750 Sumpter Road in Belleville. Tracy said professional wrestlers from as far away as Toronto will travel to fight for this cause, including WPW Champion Tyson Dux, Russ Jones, N8 Mattson and Abe Action Jackson.

Tickets for the event are priced at $12 for adults and $5 for children ages 6-13. Children younger than 5 will be admitted free.

“Cindi is a beautiful person,” Tracy said, “she is a true fighter and that’s why, if for only a day, we want to fight for her.”

Spelling success

Wick Elementary School students in grades three, four and five recently participated in the annual school spelling bee. At the school-wide event, each grade awarded the top three spellers with medals, while the top 10 per grade received ribbons to recognize their achievement. The top three spellers in each grade also move on to the district spelling bee. Wick principal ShaVonna Johnson, at left, congratulates some of the spellers, third place fifth-grader Sabriyah McCord, second-place fifth grader Reginald Harper, fifth grade first place winner Zalika Rivers and Tanya Cofield, the Romulus recreation coordinator and honorary spelling bee judge.

Artaffair entries sought

The Belleville Area Council for the Arts is now accepting applications for the 5th Annual Artaffair on Main, which will take place on Main Street in downtown Belleville on July 25-26.

Artists who have current works of quality and want to sell their items will be accepted for the exhibition and sale.

Several categories including fine arts and handcrafted art of original design and fine quality will be included in the show. All booths measure 10-feet by 10-feet there will be $1,000 in Best in Show awards.

Applications and additional information can be found at showmanager@artaffaironmain.com.
