Canton lowers township water rates

Julie Brown
Special Writer

Canton Township residents will, beginning May 1, see an average 6.35 percent drop in water and sewer bills.

"This is cool," said township Trustee Steve Sniedeman. "I like being able to do this."

Sniedeman's thoughts were echoed by other officials at the Tuesday, April 10, township Board of Trustees meeting. Each year, township staff prepares an analysis of proposed rates and charges for water and sewer service based on the true cost-of-service.

In discussing amending the township Utilities Ordinance to reflect the savings, Supervisor Pat Williams noted, "Wait until May first to fill your pool this year."

Clerk Michael Siegrist said.

Wait until May first to fill your pool this year.

"Good job," in praising staff that did the research. "It's long-term, long-range planning." Added township Treasurer Dian Slaven, "It's wonderful news for the residents of Canton."

The Board of Trustees also heard the first reading of a formal ethics ordinance, to replace a policy enacted in 2008. "This has the force of law. It creates a civil misdemeanor," explained Siegrist.

The ordinance, a first in the township, includes a ban on gifts from vendors, potential vendors, licensed individuals and businesses. Public resources are not to be used for personal/political benefit, and there is to be no personal gain from public position.

Siegrist also noted the ordinance covers stronger language on conflict of interest, including

Groundbreaking set for Romulus courthouse

Groundbreaking for the largest public project in the City of Romulus is planned for 3 p.m. next Monday.

The public is invited to the ceremony which will mark the beginning of construction for the new 34th District Courthouse which will be located just west of the current courthouse at the Romulus Municipal Complex.

The two-story, 50,000-square-foot courthouse will continue to serve five communities - the cities of Romulus and Belleville and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren - plus Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The new facility will be more secure and will replace a single-story, 26,000-square-foot facility that is often overcrowded and considered inadequate to handle a caseload that surpassed 87,000 in 2017, officials said.

The new courthouse and a rebuilt Veterans Memorial to the community and a much-needed replacement for the current facility, which was built in 1974.

Green said the new facility will be the largest public project in Romulus history. She said it will be more energy efficient, more high tech and more secure for the 45 employees and customers.

Romulus Mayor LeRoy D. Burcroft said the courthouse will be a beautiful addition to the community and a much-needed replacement for the current facility, which was built in 1974.

Romulus Mayor LeRoy D. Burcroft said the courthouse will be a beautiful addition to the community and a much-needed replacement for the current facility, which was built in 1974.

Green said the new facility will be the largest public project in Romulus history. She said it will be more energy efficient, more high tech and more secure for the 45 employees and customers.

"We are busting at the seams," said Green, the senior judge with 24 years of experience. "We don't have enough space. We have people in makeshift offices. We've turned back rooms and closets into offices over the years."

The new courthouse will have a central lockup facility that can be accessed by all four of the planned courtrooms. Currently, some prisoners have to be escorted through the main public area, creating a security issue.

"You will know this is a courthouse," Green said. "We have tried to incorporate a judicial look and feel. We'll be moving out of a 1970s-era facility and into something that has a lot more glass. We're trying to do everything as green and energy-efficient as possible."

Hindman, who has worked at the court for 39 years, said the current facility averages 148,700 people in the building annually. He said parking will expand and lighting will be enhanced at the new court, the building will be more user-friendly and customers will have the option of paying tickets at a kiosk.

The groundbreaking comes 50 years after the start of the 34th District Court, which serves 13 police agencies: the five municipalities, the airport, the Michigan State Police, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the Department of Natural Resources and the

Plymouth Feed the Hungry project planned

More than 1,500 volunteers are needed next month to save the lives of children facing starvation.

As part of the Kiwanis Club

Kids Coalition Against Hunger project, 1,500 volunteers are needed to package half a million meals for hungry and needy children here and throughout the world. The 2018 Greater Plymouth Service Project will host a grand food packaging event to benefit the Kids Coalition Against Hunger at the Plymouth Arts and Recreation Complex (PARC) in downtown Plymouth. The event will take place from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday, May 12. The entire community has come together to raise more than $70,000 in charitable donations from local service clubs including the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions; NorthRidge and Our Lady of Good Counsel churches; the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, the Community Foundation of Plymouth, Plymouth Arts & Recreation Complex; local businesses and many private citizens. The George and Mary Smith family donated $10,000 which paid for 35,714 meals. A donation of $250 pays for 839 meals and can be the difference between life and death by starvation for children in many third-world countries.

This is the third year of the service project, said Chairman

Police program aims to aid autistic

The Northville Township Police Department is collecting crucial information from parents about autistic children in the community and using cloud-based technology to quickly get it to officers in time-sensitive, run-away situations.

Families in Northville who have an at-risk child can submit an "Autism Profile and Emergency Contact Form" to the police department. The form contains life-saving information, including the child's photo, preferred method of communication, behaviors they may exhibit, and likely hiding spots around their home. Children with autism are often drawn to water, and in those cases, the form includes a map highlighting all water in the area, including neighboring pools, swampy areas, and retention ponds.

Northville Township Police Sgt. David Roberts, who has been with the department for 18 years, and is the father of an autistic child, has brought life-saving training to the officers. He knows firsthand how important it is to act fast when a child with autism wanders off, and how knowing their triggers and the best way to communicate with them can save time and lead to a safe return.

"In the past, we collected the forms and stored them in a paper file," said Lt. Paul Trousier. "In theory this was a great first step, but it fails because officers don't have the information readily-accessible when they need it. We know there had to be a way to access these profiles from the scene as it is progressing."

The agency now stores the forms electronically in PowerDMS, a policy management software in use for nearly 10 years to streamline the management and distribution of policies and procedures. Once the form is received, it is uploaded into PowerDMS.

By having this information in front of them, officers on the scene can act quickly and with confidence that they know as much as possible about this child's tendencies. Northville Township Police Department has plans to use PowerDMS in similar ways for the protection of elderly who may have Alzheimer's or dementia and are at-risk of wandering away.

Parents of autistic children in the Northville Township area can download the pdf form by visiting www.northvillemi.com and selecting the forms tab on the homepage.

Library to mark 20th anniversary of building

The Plymouth District Library will mark the 20th anniversary of the current facility from 1:30 p.m. April 20.

The current building was first opened in 1998 although the library has served the needs of the community at 225 S. Main since the 1960s, when the community library needs were served from a house at the same address. The library history, available at plymouthlibrary.org, notes that as World War II drew to a close, Bessie Dunning and her daughter, Margaret, purchased the house so that library service would continue. During the next decades, a library building was constructed on the site. As the community grew in the mid-1990s, a new building was needed and the volunteers of the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township approved a $7.25 million bond to build the current structure. The library staff and materials were moved to an empty Farmer Jack grocery store on Main Street for two years, while construction took place. On April 26, 1998, the facility was complete and opened to the public.

During the past 20 years, the library has become the hub of the community, welcoming about 1,000 people each day, according to library records.

"This building is well-used and well-loved. Over the last few years, we have repaired many of the library's mechanical systems, basically creating a new building for the community," explained Carol Soucek, library director.

"These repairs will conclude in the next few months, and allow us to welcome generations of Plymouth citizens in the decades to come."

Festivities marking the anniversary will include refreshments, crafts for children, a trivia contest and a slideshow. The celebration is free and open to the public.

Friends of the Rouge moving to Plymouth

Friends of the Rouge will be relocating their offices to downtown Plymouth late this summer. The organization, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, began in 1986 to raise awareness about the need to clean up the rouge, one of the most polluted rivers in the nation. New headquarters will be in downtown Plymouth in the Plymouth Arts and Recreation Complex (PARC).

The organization provides opportunities for residents to participate in cleanups, stream and wetland monitoring, restoration projects, and recreational activities like canoeing and kayaking. The Rouge River Watershed drains 467 square miles of land in southeast Michigan and includes Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth.

"Friends of the Rouge is excited to be moving its offices to PARC in downtown Plymouth. The history of Plymouth and its connection to the Rouge River is a natural fit for Friends of the Rouge. We're looking forward to continuing and expanding our programs from our new home and being able to interact with the other organizations located at PARC," commented Friends of the Rouge Board President Michael Dargatzis.

The Plymouth Arts and Recreation Complex is also a 501(c)(3) public charity, leading the effort to repurpose the historic Plymouth High/Central Middle School and the 16.6 acres around which it stands, into an arts, education and recreation destination serving Plymouth and the surrounding area.

"We are pleased to add Friends of the Rouge to our impressive list of tenants. Plymouth has always had an affection for the Rouge River. Having Friends of the Rouge located in the heart of our community is a major achievement," noted Don Soenen, president of PARC.

The mission of Friends of the Rouge is to promote restoration and stewardship of the Rouge River ecosystem through education, citizen involvement and other collaborative efforts, for the purpose of improving the quality of life of the people, plants and animals of the watershed, according to a prepared statement.

Nick Schultz of Plymouth Township. He acknowledged former chairman David Siegrist, who passed away:

"Anybody can get involved to do the packaging," Schultz said. "We've been involved for many years with the Kids Coalition Against Hunger effort. We thought we could do it on a grander scale."

Schultz noted that this packaged food has a three-year shelf life and was developed by food scientists to provide a rich source of protein carbohydrates and vitamins needed by underserved families' body and mind. The food is also acceptable to the broad diversity of ethnic tastes and religious differences around the world. The food offers all nine of the essential amino acids required for complete nutrition, something that can't be said about other typical food relief sources such as rice or beans alone. It is also very simple to prepare, requiring only six cups of boiling water to make a complete meal.

"The goal is to recruit 1,500 volunteers," said Doug Wallace of Plymouth Township who is the membership director for the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce. "All ages are welcome. To volunteer or to donate call (734) 453-1540 or visit www.plymouth.org"

City uses new technology to control flooding

An innovative approach to the flooding caused by rainstorms at the Jefferson Barnes Community Vitality Center in Westland has paid off for the community.

The city installed a state-of-the-art infiltration enhancement technology from Parjana Distribution to capture storm water and to accelerate groundwater recharge. The result has been a reduction of standing water on city roads and other property, ultimately improving public safety, officials reported.

Parjana, a Detroit, Michigan-based groundwater management company has created a paradigm shift in water management.

"Our technology mediates the variances between drought and flood events," said Greg McPartlin, co-founder of Parjana. "Not eliminating them but simply mitigating the variances between the peaks and the flows."

"We are very pleased that Parjana's green technology solution is in line with our green initiatives in the city," said William R. Wild. "Their solution to reduce standing water and storm water runoff is very innovative and we are among municipalities worldwide installing the same technology."

"Mayor Wild understands what Albert Einstein appropriately noted that we cannot solve our problems with the same

"We are very pleased that Parjana's green technology solution is in line with our green initiatives in the city."

thinking we used when we created them," said Ramzi El-Gharbi, P.E., director of Westland Department of Public Service. "That's why he decided to pilot this innovative approach last fall. Parjana's technology was like no other we had seen."

The Parjana proprietary and environmentally friendly system, that mitigates the need for extensive drainage tunneling and infrastructure, allows for rain water to flow through a series of EGRF (energy groundwater recharge product devices buried below the surface designed to redistribute the water throughout the ground soils in an expedient manner.

"Mayor Wild believes in the potential of Parjana and is following the lead of the City of Chicago and a global software company headquartered in Redmond, Washington," said McPartlin. "Visionaries like Mayor Wild are looking to the future and imagining how storm water could be managed in the future, not just how it is being managed today."

"The technology presents an opportunity to re-imagine how storm water can be managed on an asset and re-imagining how communities, like Westland, can evolve and create a new future," he concluded.

Trivia games to aid girls' programs

The B.L.O.C.K. Youth & Teen Center and Chicks 4 Charity are teaming up to host a special trivia fundraiser beginning at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 3 to benefit the Lead #LikeAGirl scholarship program.

Teams of up to six people of all ages and genders will square off for bragging rights and cash prizes during "A Night In Paris Trivia Fundraiser." Doors will open at 5:30 p.m. for this family-friendly fundraiser. Additional activities include 50/50 raffles.

"We invite anyone in our community to put on their thinking caps for a good cause," said Canton Recreation Specialist

Laura Mortier. "This type of fundraiser will allow teams to have fun, while giving for the $300 for first place, $200 for second place, and $100 for third place. All of these prizes were made possible by the generous support of Toll Brothers."

The Lead #LikeAGirl program, a leadership initiative for at-risk girls, is offered annually to area young women, ages 11-17. Inspiration for the program stemmed from a 2015 Super Bowl ad that challenged the nation to rethink an age-old adage about what it means to do something #LikeAGirl. What was once considered an insult,

#LikeAGirl has become an epic social battle to redefine those words for generations of women who struggle with challenges related to sexism, bias, and self-confidence each day. The B.L.O.C.K. Youth and Teen Center is committed to being a part of this movement, Mortier said. This annual program is designed to change the way that these participants, and the community-at-large, thinks about what it means to Lead #LikeAGirl... and ultimately live #LikeAGirl.

2018 Lead #LikeAGirl program initiatives will include on-site visits to the Bosch Engineering, St. Joseph Medical Center, and Eastern Michigan University. Additional activities will include a service learning project at First Step - Western and Downriver Wayne County

Project on Domestic and Sexual Violence. All of the proceeds from this special fundraiser will go to the Lead #LikeAGirl Scholarship fund, which awards a graduating participant each year with a college scholarship.

Tickets are $20 per person and include two games of trivia. Buffet available for purchase on-site for $15 per person. For additional information, call (734) 359-4280. Registration is available through April 26 and available by downloading the registration form at www.cantontownship.org.

Fellows Creek Golf Club is located at 2966 S. Loft Road in Canton.

Youth Academy planned

Teens in Canton Township will have a unique opportunity to learn about public safety operations during a one-week summer program.

The Canton Public Safety Department is hosting The Youth Academy for students 13 to 17 years old and will provide an interactive learning experience. The program is designed to teach students about the daily operations of the police and fire departments, including the philosophy of teamwork and promote a greater understanding between the youth in the community and police officers and firefighters.

The program is also designed to help students develop life skills that promote safe, smart thinking and decision making, a spokesperson noted.

Individuals attending this free academy will be educated on the operational procedures of both departments through presentations, demonstrations and hands-on activities. Students will gain personal knowledge about the role of law enforcement in the criminal justice system, as well as the firefighter's role of providing emergency services to the community. Attendees will better understand the training and education required for police officers and firefighters to effectively handle the challenges of their professions. Attendees will also have the opportunity to become CPR certified.

The Youth Academy will take place from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday, June 18 through Friday, June 22. Participants will be provided with lunch and will participate in light physical activity every day.

Applicants must be Canton residents, ages 13-17 (as of June 18), with no criminal history. Applications will be accepted through April 30 and are available for online submission or as a PDF download at www.cantontownship.org.

Class size is limited; participants meeting the minimum requirements will be randomly selected. For additional information, contact Community Relations Officer, Patty Esselink at (734) 394-5194.

Ethics

disclosure of financial or familial interest in government contractors by elected officials, directors and managers. There will be a three-member Board of Ethics with authority to conduct investigations, schedule hearings and make recommendations. The ordinance provides for fines and jail time.

In other action, the board members approved township purchase of approximately 5 acres adjacent to Flodin Park that will provide direct access east to Lilley Road through a future trail extension.

"It's a neat little parcel," Williams said after the meeting. "We're trying to connect the entire community. It's another piece of the puzzle."

The Fellows Creek Drain runs through the site, which means no building is possible. The property was purchased in 2017 at tax sale, and later determined to provide an opportunity to extend the Canton trail system at a low cost.

Money for the purchase comes through the Community Improvement Fund with a budget adjustment to come following final details being worked out.

Board members also approved $7,496 to replace the eastbound Michigan Avenue "Welcome" sign to the township. It was struck by a car and damaged, with officials noting the driver's insurance covered the deductible.
