Westland OKs $65.8 million budget

"My administration has worked very closely with city council in developing this year's budget."

Members of the Westland City Council officially adopted a balanced 2017-18 fiscal year budget of $65,840,641. The budget includes no increases in millage rates and projects an unassigned budget surplus of more than $5.7 million, which is approximately 9 percent of general fund expenditures, according to the office of Mayor William R. Wild.

"While this is positive news, the multi-year forecast presented to city council also shows that challenging financial times are on the horizon," Wild cautioned. "Flat revenue streams paired with continually rising costs, especially for pensions and healthcare, will require careful attention and cost containment in the coming years."

Key expenditures in the 2017-18 general fund budget include the scheduled replacement of ballistic vests for police officers, extension of the employment of four police officers under a federal COPS grant and three fire fighters under a Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) SAFER grant, continued parks and recreation funding for refurbishment of the city park and baseball facilities and an update of the 5-year parks and recreation plan.

To address its unfunded pension liability, council members approved an additional $300,000 contribution into the MERS pension plan for general employees.

Also included in the 2017-18 budget is funding for capital investments, totaling more than $5 million, including replacement of a fire department ladder truck and two rescue vehicles, five new police cars, and ball field fencing at Jagee and Voss parks, Senior Center roof reconstruction, local road paving projects, water main improvements and sewer main lining.

"My administration has worked very closely with city council in developing this year's budget. We are continuing to make fiscally responsible decisions that improve quality of life for residents and provide high quality municipal services, while remaining mindful of legacy costs and other financial challenges facing the city in the not too distant future," Wild said.

Artist Sintex works on the huge building mural he is completing on the exterior wall of a new market on Starkweather Street in Plymouth. Photo by Don Howard

Artistic statement Exterior building painting attracts attention

Business owner Aaron Cole is getting closer to opening a trendy new mini-market and restaurant in the Old Village section of Plymouth.

When he does, he has a special attraction for the entire community.

In a marketing effort for his new venture, The Honey Hole Market, now under construction on Starkweather Street at the former location of the Old Village Market, he sought out renowned Detroit graffiti artist Sintex to paint a larger than life mural on the south side of the remodeled building. Sintex, the only name he uses, was there last week with a high lift, art supplies and spray cans of paint—many, many spray cans—some with special tips. The artist said the mural will incorporate characterizations representative of Plymouth and the name of the new store—Honey Hole.

The 35-year-old artist is a graduate of the noted College of Creative Studies in Pratt Institute in New York. He is already credited with creating some of the famous street art throughout the Detroit area.

Working with owners' permission in blighted areas and downtown locations like the Eastern Market, Campus Martius, and the Grand River Corridor, he has become known for bringing popular people to life. He has created images of Rosa Parks and Joe Lewis among other celebrities. He said his specialties are Native American faces, a tribute to his African American and Native American lineage, and 3D illustrations. Sintex said he has been passionate about art since his youth when he lived close to a railroad yard, where he perfected his painting skills on the train cars.

One famous Detroit mural painted by Sintex depicts victims of brutality including Vincent Chin, a Chinese-American man beaten to death by two white men in Highland Park in the 80s. His mural also includes other local victims like Malice Green and Aiyana Jones where he's added Chief Crazy Horse to the scene.

He said comic book cartoon characters always fascinated him and paint was always his passion.

"First, I lay down the sketch and then I build up the foundation with different contrasts," Sintex explained. Last week, only a corner portion of the mural was complete while the remainder of the building wall contained the black outlined sketches of depictions to come.

Sintex is quick to point out that there is a huge difference between art and vandalism. He said he likes to work with police departments and help community youths.

He added that when his work is finished, he hopes it will be the talk of the Plymouth art community.

Romulus project to generate 1,600 jobs

A piece of land in Romulus that has long held potential for a regional development may see some activity this year.

Members of the Romulus City Council unanimously approved a conditional rezoning for 85 acres of land south of Ecorse, east of Vining Road, to allow for the construction of a large-scale regional processing and distribution center.

Proposed by Kojanian Venoy Wick Acquisitions, LLC, the project will feature a 865,000 square-foot building, along with significant road and traffic flow improvements along Ecorse and Vining roads.

"A lot of time has gone into it. They have a good plan," said Mayor Leroy Burcroft. "I think this will be a marquis development that not just Romulus will be proud of, but our region."

The property has been the subject of discussion and several previous projects throughout the years, but this one could break ground as soon as the end of June.

"The city had envisioned a major mixed-use development in this area, including retail, recreation, entertainment, single and multiple family housing, lots of open space, corporate offices and other types of services and maybe some research and development type uses," said Planning Consultant Brad Strader. In the past, projects such as Metro World, a racetrack, outlet mall and several types of residential developments had been proposed and/or approved.

"There were a lot of things proposed, some were approved, others were just ideas, but there was no ground turned—nothing happened," said Strader.

The new proposal, Project Mercury, will bring between 1,600 and 2,000 jobs to the community, said Jonathan Stites, project representative. He said the project already has a tenant willing to sign a 15-year lease that would also include several

Township plan may reopen fire station

Don Howard
Staff Writer

Members of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees once again disagreed about the proposed hiring of three new firefighters, part of a plan initiated by Township Supervisor Kurt Heise aimed at reopening Fire Station No. 2. The plan includes hiring three new firefighters and augmenting staffing at the station with two firefighters from Northville Township, in addition to the Plymouth Township Fire Station No. 2. The plan is a key element in the political campaigns of Heise and other board members last year.

At two previous township study sessions, board members questioned the long-term efficiency of the plan and demanded "sufficient information and operational plan details" of Heise's proposed merger.

Fire Chief Dan Phillips has maintained that it would take six additional firefighters to properly facilitate opening the Arts and Acts festival set in downtown

The Northville Art House will shine a spotlight on the imagination, art, talent and cultural diversity of artists throughout the region when the annual Arts and Acts Festival returns for the eighth consecutive year June 16-18 in historic downtown Northville.

The Festival includes the 29th annual juried fine art show, Art in the Sun, featuring nearly 70 talented artists;

the Sandbox Play Festival produced by Tipping Point Theatre; the Short on Words Literary Contest hosted by Preservation Dental; musical entertainment featuring some of metro Detroit's top musicians; children's activities; the 4th annual Northville Art House Chalk Festival; the new Young Artist Juried Art Fair and a large variety of food and drink.

Arts and Acts brings together the community to celebrate the local arts. With the exception of the tickets for the Sandbox Play Festival, and a recommended donation for the chalk festival, Arts and Acts is a free event. It is also a major fundraiser for the Northville Art House. The funds are used to bring quality art exhibits and art education to Northville and the surrounding communities, a spokesman said.

Arts and Acts is sponsored this year by C&L Ward, ETE Energy, First Presbyterian Church, The Knickerbocker Group of Raymond James, Leaf Filter, Mike Miller Building Company, Preservation Dental, Renewal by Anderson, Raymond James & Associates, TDR Orthodontics, Tems Sunrooms, Town & Country Eyecare,

5 Schools of Choice student spots available

Northville Public Schools is now accepting Schools of Choice applications for the 2017-18 school year.

Applications for the five openings in the International Baccalaureate Diploma Program at Northville High School will be accepted until 4 p.m. June 19.

In accordance with the legislated requirements, and in order to support the district goal of excellence and equity for all students, a review of each applicant's eligibility for the Diploma Program is required using the same criteria applied to prospective resident Diploma Program students.

The Northville Public Schools Section 105 and 105e (non-resident) Schools of Choice Application is available through the district office of human resources. Completed applications, including all forms and recommendations must be mailed or hand delivered to the Northville Public Schools Human Resources Department, (501 West Main St., Northville, Michigan, 48167), by the deadline. The district is unable to accept electronic applications.

Applicants found to be ineligible for the Diploma Program will be notified on or before June 30. Should the number of applications approved by the Diploma Program Review Team exceed the five openings, the school district will use a random drawing to select the applicants who will be offered enrollment.

If necessary, the lottery will take place at 8:30 a.m. June 20 at the Northville Public Schools Board of Education offices, also located at 501 West Main St., Northville. Families applying for limited Schools of Choice are welcome to attend the lottery drawing. Selected students will be informed regarding placement no later than June 30.

Details regarding the lottery procedures, the Schools of Choice application, and answers to frequently asked questions about the Section 105 and 105e Schools of Choice option are available on the district website at www.northvilleschools.org. Click on "Families & Community."

Once a student is accepted to open enrollment under Section 105 or 105e, he or she may continue to be enrolled in Northville Public Schools until graduation (or until he or she withdraws from the program).

Generous donors

There was an impressive turnout for the first meeting of the 100 Women Who Care - Northville chapter recently when Northville Civic Concern was chosen to receive more than $13,000 in donations from the group. Each of the 100 women wrote a check to the Main Street League, a 501(c)3 corporation, for dissemination to Northville Civic Concern. 100 Women Who Care is part of The 100 Who Care Alliance, a global organization that facilitates philanthropic groups that includes 100 Men Who Care, 100 People Who Care and 100 Kids Who Care in addition to 100 Women Who Care. The next meeting is at 6:30 p.m. on Aug. 1, at The Garage in downtown Northville.

Beer-fest is planned

Tickets are now available for Tapped in the Ville, the first craft beer festival in Northville.

The event is planned from noon until 6 p.m. Saturday, June 24, at Millennium Park in Northville. Tickets can be purchased at www.northville.org or at the chamber of commerce office. A limited number will be available on the day of the event. The festival will also include food trucks, live entertainment, and a corn hole tournament.

"This should be a great event for the Northville area," said Joy Humphries, Northville Chamber of Commerce executive director. "It's going to be a fun atmosphere where our patrons can come and relax, sample the different beers, enjoy some unique food options and play a little corn hole or listen to live entertainment."

The $30 admission ticket includes 10 3-ounce tasting tickets, a 12-ounce festival mug and optional registration for the corn hole tournament.

Heise named to commission

Gov. Rick Snyder has named Plymouth Township Supervisor Kurt Heise to the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Board of Commissioners. Heise is also a former state representative.

The board governs the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority through the approval of expenditures, acquiring lands, planning of new parks and facilities, and other regional recreational matters.

"I thank Kurt for his commitment to serving on this board and I am confident his background will help him positively impact the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park," Snyder said.

Heise is also a licensed attorney with more than 25 years of experience in municipal, labor, and environmental law. Heise holds a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Michigan and a law degree and master of law degree, both from Wayne State University Law School. He will replace John Hertel.

Heise will serve a four-year term expiring May 2, 2021.

Bright futures

The future for two local teens got a little brighter last week, thanks to the Canton Lions Club when the group awarded $2,000 scholarships to Canton senior Hunter Hall and Salem senior Riley Stewart. "It was a difficult decision, but I think we chose a couple of outstanding young people," said club member Ron Sullivan. Bob Harris presented the check to Hall, above, who has raised two leader dogs for the blind. He said he plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall in hopes of becoming a doctor one day. John Anthony presents Stewarts check, below. She said she plans to attend Schoolcraft College before transferring to a larger university to study architecture and design. The Canton Lions Club, chartered in 1968, hosts a variety of fundraisers throughout the year to fund causes like the scholarships. Leader Dogs for the Blind, and more. The next one is a charity poker tournament from June 7-10 at Doc's Sports Tavern in Livonia, followed by the annual pancake breakfast at the Canton Liberty Fest.

station but indicated he would agree to Heise's plan. Heise told the board members and audience that the detailed plans for a cooperative effort using Northville firefighters was forthcoming. He said negotiations with Northville Township have been under way for nearly four months.

At a previous study session Heise advised board members that the plan was being prepared by Northville Township attorneys.

"We're getting an emergency agreement that will lay out the responsibility and obligation of both sides," Heise said. Trustees Jack Dempsey, Bob Doroshewitz and Gary Helman had each requested bullet points and a memorandum of understanding so they could better comprehend the proposed agreement. Just prior to the opening of the meeting last week, Heise distributed a two-page synopsis titled "Principles of Inter-governmental Agreement for Fire Station #2" to the trustees and set the tone for the public safety-fire department discussion.

"We're not debating Northville's agreement," the supervisor said.

Curni who objected, said, "There's no time line, there's no plan. You're asking us to trust you." Write it down."

"The motion speaks for itself... what do you want?" Heise responded.

"I told you... something to see why we're spending $650,000," Curni answered.

It was estimated that the annual cost factor per firefighter was $110,000, including wages, taxes and benefits. Curni said he didn't want to see Heise come back in a year saying it (the plan) wasn't working and asking for more funding to hire three more firefighters.

Doroshewitz said after the meeting he and other board members were solidly behind the plan to reopen Station 2 but wanted to have all the facts before they proceeded.

In spite of the protests, board members approved an amended resolution after final discussion of the word, "facilitated." The resolution describes the hiring of the three firefighters as "recruiting pursuant to the rules of the Civil Service Commission." The webpage said the township was currently preparing to schedule interviews for candidates, which appeared contrary to Phillips' claim that he has been conducting Civil Service exams and interviewing potential firefighter candidates since January in order to be ready for the potential re-opening of the Lake Pointe Fire Station.

The language of the revised motion reads: "I move to authorize the Township Supervisor to recruit three (3) full-time firefighters in order to reopen Fire Station #2, pursuant to the rules and hiring procedures of the Civil Service Commission, with the understanding that the reopening is contingent upon an agreement with Northville Township that will be presented to this Board upon the conclusion of negotiations."

Heise's two-page bullet list included an item under "Operations," which read, "At certain limited times when personnel arrangements necessitate, Station #2 will be temporarily out of service and will be put back into service at the earliest possible opportunity." People familiar with the plans estimate it will be necessary to close Station No. 2 a minimum of 30 to 40 days in the course of one year. The list was not discussed at the meeting.

The final vote was 6 to 1, with Doroshewitz casting the opposing vote. At the conclusion of the meeting, Heise thanked board members for "making tough decisions tonight on some tough stuff." Northville Township Public Safety Director Todd Mutchler said he was aware that there was a staffing agreement with Plymouth Township regarding Station 2, in the works between the two communities and added that they have had longstanding agreements with neighboring communities when it comes to municipal aid.

"I've not seen the final agreement,"

Mutchler said referring to the Heise plan. Northville Township has one fire station located on Six Mile Road. Mutchler said a large percentage of Advance Life Support (ALS) calls emanate from the east side of their township. They employ 27 full-time firefighter paramedics. Plymouth Township employs 18 full-time paramedics. There are several Northville assisted-living and skilled care facilities located on Six Mile and on Haggerty Roads.

"It's up to Plymouth Township to address the service levels they want," Mutchler said.

Mutchler indicated the two community fire chiefs are "talking about the agreement." He said he would hope something might be completed by late summer or early fall.

"Any time two communities want to work together with successful solutions it's always a positive thing. Station 2 opening would certainly help with (our) response times."

INKSTER - WAYNE

Free Legends basketball camp planned

Area youths have the opportunity to learn from sports legends' most north during a free basketball camp in Inkster.

Once again this year, the Inkster Legends will offer the free basketball camp for both boys and girls from 9-16 years old. This is the 20th year the organization has presented the camp which offers free instruction in the basic skills and fundamentals of the game including shooting, passing, rebounding and defense.

This year, professional basketball star Alex Legion, who attended the Legends camp as a student in the 10-16 year-old group, is expected to be on hand to offer instruction. Legion is now playing professional basketball in Italy, noted Inkster Legends President Fred Smiley.

The camp will take place Friday, Aug. 4 and Saturday, Aug. 5 at the Booker Dazier Recreational Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road in Inkster, about 1.3 mile north of Michigan Avenue.

The players will be divided into two groups with instruction for ages 9-12 taking place at 7:30 a.m. and at 12:30 p.m. for those players 13-16 years of age.

Registration deadline for the free camp is July 15 and applications are now available at the Inkster Recreation Complex, Westland John Glenn High School, Robicheau High School and at the Romulus Athletic Center. The applications should be returned to the school where they were obtained or to the Inkster recreation complex. Smiley said early applications are welcome so that organizers can have an estimated count of the historic Legends shirts which will be provided to each student. He added that all applicants will be contacted by phone the week prior to the camp.

Parents are responsible for transportation for students to and from the camp. Students should be picked up from the recreation center from the morning sessions at 12:30 p.m. and from the afternoon sessions at 5 p.m.

For more information, contact Smiley at (734) 800-2478 or visit www.InksterLegends.com.

Where leaders are created

Wayne Memorial High School sophomore Maddie Simmons created a Pennies for Pets project as part of her Champions goal. Champions of Wayne is a mentoring program that pairs a student with a staff member at Wayne Memorial High School. Each semester the student and mentor develop a goal for the student to work toward. Most often the goal is to increase the student's GPA, but students with high GPAs are encouraged to come up with a different goal. Simmons decided she wanted to complete a Community Service project to benefit the Michigan Humane Society in Westland. She contacted schools in Wayne-Westland to see if they would be interested in having a penny collection box in their offices or classrooms. There were 118 classes in Wayne-Westland that participated in raising $1835 for the Michigan Humane Society in Westland through Simmons' program. Students and staff from Adams, Marshall, Edison, Graham, Hamilton, Hicks, Schwelzer, Wildwood, Franklin and Stevenson donated to the effort. Simmons collected the pennies, counted them and presented a check to the Michigan Humane Society. Nikki Hintz, animal resource center manager, said the donation will help cover the cost of care for the animals at the center.

Main Street seeks volunteers

Wayne Main Street is seeking community members interested in serving on various committees within the organization.

Wayne Main Street is a group dedicated to building a revitalized and vibrant downtown Wayne. The mission of the group is to work with community members, businesses and property owners to preserve, enhance and promote the historic Wayne downtown as a destination for residents to gather, shop, work and enjoy.

Maxwell Cameron of Wayne Main Street said the group takes a comprehensive approach to community revitalization with programs designed to improve vacant and dilapidated properties, assist businesses to prosper and beautify the community.

Currently there are openings on the design, business empowerment, organization and promotion standing committees, Cameron said.

The design committee undertakes projects that promote physical improvements and the preservation of the historic fabric of downtown while the business empowerment committee members work with business owners and downtown stakeholders to strengthen and diversify the downtown economic base.

The organization committee members work to leverage resources and help create a shared vision and goals for downtown Wayne while the members of the promotions committee work to market downtown as the center of commerce, culture and community life in Wayne, he added.

The committee members commit to attending monthly meetings and are expected to participate in programs and events. Cameron said the monthly commitment for a committee member can vary but the average time is between four and eight hours a month.

For more information or to volunteer, contact Cameron at (734) 622-6822.

'Exceptional' visit Firefighters deliver toys to sick children

It was a rewarding day for everyone involved last week when members of the Romulus Fire Department paid a visit to the Beaumont Health Center for Exceptional Families in Dearborn.

The firefighters brought hundreds of plush puppies and kittens with them for the children at the Beaumont facility and the new fire department mascot got some practice. The Romulus firefighters received the stuffed toys as a grant from PetSmart "based on the many lifesaving efforts and achievements of the firefighters in the community."

Emergency responders from the fire department saved a man's life recently and the toys were donated to the department as a measure of gratitude from PetSmart, explained Romulus Fire Department Assistant Deputy Chief Kevin Krause after emergency responders saved a man's life.

The stuffed animals can often provide some comfort to a sick child, explained Michelle O'Connor-Teklinski, associate director of the Beaumont center.

A visit to the doctor or an appointment with a therapist can be frightening, she said, especially for special-needs children receiving treatment for multiple medical concerns during one visit. Sometimes, a stuffed animal can create a sense of relief for children, and their family members, too, explained O'Connor-Teklinski.

"The center and their collaborative neighbors, the University of Michigan Early Childhood Education Center, were selected to receive the PetSmart toy animals by the Romulus Fire Department.

"We're acting as the middleman today to bring joy and smiles to these great kids at the Beaumont Center for Exceptional Families," said Krause. "This one-of-a-kind place helps special-needs kids from the entire area. You see, the Romulus Fire Department saved a man's life and his daughter works at the Ann Arbor PetSmart store, which gives away these furry dog and cat toys."

"The man's daughter talked to Jill Martin (of the Romulus Fire Department) to find out how she could thank us for saving her dad's life. And, our new firefighter John Blanchard needed experience being our Firepup mascot," he added with a smile.

"These special gifts help our children and families," said O'Connor-Teklinski. "Having a stuffed pet can provide our patients comfort while they're in our care and can help them feel better - more at ease."

Krause, the Romulus Fire Department mascot Firepup, along with an associate from PetSmart in Ann Arbor visited the center to deliver hundreds of donated plush puppies and kittens to several children.

"Giving back is a tradition at PetSmart, and it is essential to the passion and purpose of our company," said Amanda PEMBER, associate lead at the Ann Arbor PetSmart store.

In its sixth year, the program has donated thousands of plush pet toys to children in need and hospitalized children across the country.

"At PetSmart, we love pets, and we believe pets make us better people," said PEMBER. "The toy drives are made possible by our pet parents, whose donations support local children's hospitals and police and fire departments to deliver a gift to a child in need."

options for renewal.

"It'll be an exciting project for the city, the project and the state," Stites said. "We never want to come in and do the minimal. We want to do what makes it work long-term."

Hence the need for road improvements, Councilwoman Kathy Abdes said the majority of the concerns from residents were about the potential for large trucks and other traffic on the road.

"I got a lot of phone calls, and there were a lot of people here that were opposed to it. A lot of them were talking about the traffic," she said.

Tim Keyes, Romulus economic development director, said the improvements would include a dedicated left turn lane along Ecorse Road, traffic signal enhancements and an extension and expansion of Vining Road.

"The plan is from Merriman Road heading west, (Ecorse) Road will be reconstructed. It's currently a two-lane road and it'll be reconstructed into a three-lane road to somewhere west of Vining, along with a fourth lane added along the front of the building, Vining from Smith to Ecorse as a four-lane road with a boulevard."

Stites said work could begin by the end of June. The goal is to have the facility operating by June of next year and for the facility to remain in operation for the foreseeable future.

"The expectation is that this will become a home and a future in the community and provide lots of employment and have a big impact in that regard," Stites said. "I think it'll spell what it has spelled in other communities - a really great rush of employment. These guys have a commitment to the community. The big picture is to be a lot of employment and a lot of new excitement to the area."

Council members said they were eager to see the project come to fruition.

"What I'm hearing is very exciting," said Councilwoman Sylvia Makowski. "It's going to be a real positive for our community."

Council president John Barden agreed, pointing out that the benefits extend beyond the possibility of 1,000 new jobs in the city.

"The workers will need housing, they shop in the city," he said. "This is what we need. This can be a great start."

BELLEVILLE - WESTLAND

Rotary Club awards student scholarships

Ten Belleville High School graduates are a little closer to their chosen professions thanks to the members of the Rotary Club of Belleville.

Last week, the Rotary Club presented 10 scholarships of $2,000 each to graduates of Belleville High School, four were second-year recipients of the awards while six were first-time club scholarship winners.

This was the 72nd Annual Scholarship Program hosted by the Belleville Rotary Club who presented the first time financial awards to 2017 graduates, Kayla Browning, Angie Peralta, Victoria Perez, Jennifer Schmidt, Gavin Schultz, and Sara Stoetlon. Renewal scholarships went to: Jared L. Bellingham, Brandon Boed, Leah Hardy, and Kameron Owen. Club President Mary Jo Suchy offered welcoming remarks and an overview of the scope and purpose of the organization. Debra Juchartz provided the history of the club scholarship program, outlined the proceedings of the evening, and offered greetings to the numerous local dignitaries in attendance. Juchartz, who chaired the club Scholarship Committee, introduced the featured speaker, John Douglas Peters, J.D., lawyer, university professor, author or co-author of 12 books, and artist.

Peters' presentation, directed primarily at the student awardees, stressed the importance of using their post high school studies and experiences to continue to search and explore opportunities to find the work areas they love. He tied the success of their efforts to the application of four key attributes: Organization, Discipline, Balance, and Perseverance. He provided examples of how those traits helped him through some of his academic development years, but are still vital today. Following Peters' talk, each of the scholarship recipients in attendance spoke briefly about their plans and hopes for the future. Bond, a renewal student, studying overseas, sent a thank you letter which his father read to the audience.

Since inception, Belleville Rotary has awarded $490,000 to Belleville High School students as part of their scholarship program. This year, as in recent years, the primary funding source for the program has been the Charles B. Conz Rotary Foundation which assists the club in the funding or partial funding of many projects.

Special guest

State Rep. Robert L. Kosowski (D-Westland) invited Father Ken Mazur, a constituent and pastor from his district, to perform the invocation prior to the Michigan House of Representatives legislative session last Thursday. "It was an honor to have Father Mazur come to Lansing and perform the invocation," Kosowski said. "I want to thank him for delivering his thoughtful words before the Legislature. To have him as my guest during House session was truly a privilege." Mazur is a pastor at Saint Mary, Cause of Our Joy, a Catholic church in Westland. The parish was formed as a merger of three former parishes.

Mobile reporting system available

Westland residents now have a quick, convenient way to communicate directly with city officials through a custom-branded mobile application.

Using the new Westland Click and Fix, a citizen reporting tool powered by SeeClickFix, citizens can report quality-of-life issues like potholes, graffiti, illegal dumping, blight and much more, with photos, descriptions, automatic geo-location and other information important to the issue.

Westland is joining a growing and innovative network of SeeClickFix partner cities in Michigan, including communities like Clawson, Ann Arbor, Portage, Grand Haven, Detroit and Roseville.

Wild said this new application is a demonstration of the city's commitment to citizen engagement, efficiency, transparency and accountability.

With Westland Click and Fix, Westland citizens can easily report issues as they occur; receive real-time updates on progress, and connect with the city social media platform. The application is available free of charge on both the Apple App and Google Play stores.

With these new tools, Wild said he wants to engage more citizens, increase internal efficiency, and add additional value to the commitment his administration has made to open government.

"The residents of Westland are our first line of defense to spot issues around the city and with this new tool they can communicate their concerns quickly and conveniently," Wild said.

"We are committed to finding new innovations and technologies that allow us to communicate with the residents efficiently and improve transparency."
