Fire safety is election issue

Don Howard
Staff Writer

The 2012 decision of Plymouth Township officials to cut five department staffing in half and close the Lake Pointe Fire Station has become an object of heated debate in the current political campaign.

Last week, incumbent Township Supervisor Shannon Price and challenger, State Rep. Kurt Heise, participated in a debate of issues at Prairie Baptist Church. One issue the pair argued was the adequacy and effective public safety provided by current staffing at the fire department. At issue is the cost to maintain a fully-staffed department with full-time paramedics and the re-opening of the Lake Pointe station which has been closed for nearly 4 years.

Price told the audience at the debate that he would not lay off any firefighters and wanted to open the Lake Pointe station but believed "...the board of the township spoke very loudly in 2012 and rejected the initiative to open Station 2 by raising taxes, which is easy for some people."

Records show that in 2012, the trustees refused repeatedly to place the referenced public safety millage on a ballot despite signed petitions from residents. Following lawsuits by a grassroots public action group, the board members were ordered by a circuit court judge to allow the public to vote on the issue. In response, board members increased the requested 10 millage to 10 mills, an amount even the activists were forced to vigorously oppose at the polls.

Price, who has lived in the township less than a year, said he felt there was an alternative to increasing staffing. He said Plymouth should "look to Northville Township."

Partnering with Northville Township "would be the right move," Price said. "We're already working together on mutual aid."

Northville Township Director of Public Safety John Worth recently confirmed that talks with Price to temporarily utilize the shuttered Lake Pointe station would come to fruition, "sometime in June."

Worth said that with major road construction work scheduled this year for I-475 and Six Mile Road—the location of the only fire station in Northville Township—Price agreed to his suggestion to rent space and park an ambulance and fire engine at the long-shuttered

Breathe Canton hosts Yoga in Park

Dan Nevins, a motivational speaker and nationally recognized Wounded Warrior featured on NBC News, will be the featured speaker at Yoga In The Park beginning at 9 a.m. July 30 at Heritage Park in Canton Township.

Nevins is a retired United States Army Staff Sgt. who began his military career out of high school as a paratrooper stationed in Germany. In November of 2004, an IED (Improvised Explosive Device) detonated beneath his vehicle during a combat mission in Iraq causing Nevins to suffer a traumatic brain injury as well as the loss of his left leg below the knee. After more than 30 surgeries, Nevins' right leg was also amputated below the knee.

Nevins credits the practice of yoga for turning his life around after losing his legs in Iraq. This professional speaker, who for more than a decade, has shared an inspirational message of leadership, perseverance, resilience, and overcoming adversity with audiences around the globe, is also a certified Baptiste Yoga instructor.

Nevins believes that yoga can help everyone, especially veterans returning home from service, and encourages all veterans to try yoga for its physical and emotional benefits.

"My whole platform is for you to invite a veteran to yoga, because it just might save their life," said Nevins. "I became a yoga teacher

Fire chief, recreation director facing domestic violence charges

John Adams, the newly-hired parks and recreation director for the City of Westland and the former fire chief in the City of Inkster, spent last Thursday night in the Canton Township jail after being arrested at his home on domestic violence charges.

According to a report from the Canton police, Adams was arrested shortly after officers responded to an 11:17 p.m. call about a domestic disturbance at his home. Responding officers conducted an investigation at the scene and interviewed witnesses, which led to the arrest of Adams, 51, on the domestic assault charges.

Police said that the charges were authorized by the office of the Wayne County prosecutor following a review of the officer's investigation. Adams was charged with two counts of domestic violence; one count stemming from the incident May 26 and an earlier incident which police said was not previously reported.

Adams was arraigned and released on bail on Friday. His next court appearance is set for June 10.

Adams has been the full-time parks and recreation director in Westland for about a month. His appointment to the job which pays $78,902 annually was not without some controversy as residents questioned his ability to serve as both the Inkster fire chief, a full-time job, and as a full-time director in Westland. Adams' contract in Inkster expired earlier this week. He retired with a pension from the

At press time, police had not released any further information or named Adams' accuser.

Wayne County Parks millage to be on ballot

A continuation of the current Wayne County parks millage will appear on the Aug. 2 ballot primary ballot throughout the area.

Wayne County Commissioner Glenn S. Anderson (D-Westland) appeared before several local elected officials at the monthly meeting of the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) recently to announce the ballot question.

The parks millage is levied for the purpose of supporting operations and improvements in the Wayne County Parks system. The millage, which was last approved in 2010, expired in 2015. Since 2009, it has been policy that 15 percent of the millage funds are returned to local communities based on how much each county commission district raises in property taxes. After concerns were raised that this policy might be discontinued, the CWW approved a resolution in December 2015 urging County Executive Warren Ruus and the county commissioners to continue the practice. The commissioners voted 11-4 May 5 to approve a resolution that places the parks millage continuation on the primary ballot, but with language that ensures the 15 percent return to communities, or a minimum of $50,000 per commission district.

Anderson, who made the motion to approve the resolution, said, "Due to a possible interruption of the millage, the CEOs office asked the commission to place this on the ballot in August instead of November."

The CWW Board, which represents a consortium of 18 communities throughout western Wayne County, unanimously approved a resolution supporting the continuation of the parks millage.

Voters throughout Wayne County will receive the opportunity on the Aug. 2 primary election ballot to continue the millage. The rate is 0.2450 mills, or about 25 cents per $1,000 of taxable property value, and will be in effect from 2016 to 2020. For the owner of a house with a value of $100,000, it would cost about $12.30 annually.

Proposed bill would erase school debt

State Rep. Julie Plawecki (D-Dearborn Heights) and state Sen. David Kneoz (D-Dearborn Heights) last week introduced House Bill 5708 and Senate Bill 1006, which would amend the State School Aid Act of 1979 to eliminate the remaining debt held by the dissolved Inkster Public Schools. The appropriation of almost $87 million would come from the state General Fund budget and not burden other students around the state.

This legislation addresses the concern that the city of Inkster and its residents are currently paying down debt for a school district that no longer exists, Plawecki said in a prepared statement. In 2013, the state made the decision to dissolve the school district, including transferring ownership of its buildings, which placed a significant financial burden on the community.

The four school districts surrounding Inkster have been carrying their students with open arms, but the dissolved Inkster Public Schools still has a substantial debt, which places an onerous burden on the city and its residents," said Plawecki. "This is similar to the situation that Detroit Public Schools is facing, as they are dealing with a debt due to several decisions, many of which were made by the state. And just as the state is holding Detroit Public Schools with its debt obligations, we believe the same should happen with the community of Inkster."

"Three years ago, the state of Michigan made the decision to dissolve Inkster Public Schools," said Plawecki. "While local residents, most notably the students, have remained resilient throughout this difficult process, it is past time for the state to step up and remove the burden of debt from the residents of Inkster. There has been enough suffering as a result of decisions made by the state. It is time to allow Inkster to move forward without being forced to pay for a school district that no longer exists," he concluded.

ROMULUS

Unique loan of seeds offered at library

Romulus Public Library now has a unique lending program available for area residents.

Library Director Patricia Braden said that the "Seed Library" is available and residents can borrow seeds to start gardens all across Romulus and Huron Township. The Seed Library is available during library hours, 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Borrowing seeds is easy, Braden said. Residents can pick the seeds they want to take home and plant them. Romulus Public Library will provide the instructions on how to grow and care for the plants. Residents will also have the opportunity to participate in the seed harvesting project that will promote growing food and saving seeds from the plants after they have matured which will help sustain the Seed Library for future seasons, she added.

The Romulus Public Library has received a donation of "unique seeds" from Gardens Across for advanced gardeners who would like to try growing something different in their gardens, she said.

"The purpose of the Seed Library is to support and encourage residents of Romulus and Huron Township in experiencing the benefits of gardening their own flowers, fruits, and vegetables as well as harvesting seeds. The program was created with the goal that everyone from beginner to expert is encouraged to try growing something new this season," Braden said.

The Seed Library is a community effort with many individuals already donating seeds for everyone to use.

Neighbors helping neighbors to grow fresh fruits and vegetables to put on their tables, as well as making a positive contribution to the environment is the ultimate goal of this program.

"The staff at the library is happy to help with any questions you may have about this program," Braden added. The library is located at 11121 Wayne Road. For information, call (734) 942-7569.

On a roll

Councilman William Wadsworth, left, Fire Pup from the Romulus Fire Department, Sylvia Pernecki from Romulus Lanes and Jean Wadsworth celebrate the success of the recent fundraiser which raised $3,314. "It's the biggest event we've ever had," Wadsworth said. Since fundraising for the animal shelter began, more than $230,000 has been raised through donations and support at community fundraisers like the bowling fundraiser and bingo events at the Romulus Pumpkin Festival.

Mystery Clues sought in history of mini-truck

A piece of history has come back home to Romulus, and now officials are looking for more information about it.

It's an antique child's pedal car, painted like a fire engine with the city logo on it. It was found at an estate sale in a house in Pinckney, said Dan Lemmon, a Romulus resident.

"We have no idea how old it is or how it got there," she said.

The pedal car fire engine number, 351, actually belonged to a fire truck at one time, she said.

The pedal car is currently on display at Romulus City Hall. It will be moved to the freight house at the Romulus Historical Park, Lemmon said she's hoping someone will come forward with some additional information about it.

"I think it's neat that we found it and it's back in the community," she said.

Anyone with information can call Lemmon at (734) 920-1134.

Officials in Romulus are seeking information about the child's pedal car found at an estate sale in Pinckney.

Station 2 for six months during the construction time.

Worth said that while this would adversely affect Northville Township concerns about long response times, especially during rush hour traffic periods, there is no plan in place for Northville to service Lake Pointe residents, except in the dire case of a request for mutual aid.

Heise, who is term-limited in the state Legislature, said he not only wants to permanently re-open Lake Pointe, but also believes the current staffing level of 18 firefighters for a community of 23,000 residents is "very inadequate for a township of our size."

"If I'm elected, I'll re-open Station 2 with full-time firefighters because the people of Lake Pointe in the northern corner of the township deserve the same kind of protection that those on the west side have," Heise said during the debate on the issue.

Heise, a 10-year township resident who in 2012 was not in favor of a dedicated fire millage, told the audience he now feels the cuts made in the past few years have been excessive and he now supports the action may have been "punitive."

Heise cited an example of a recent tragedy in Lake Pointe where he said the response time was inadequate. Township Fire Department records obtained with a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request show the township rescue squad arrived at the home of an unresponsive male within 10 minutes of the first of four calls to 9-1-1 at the same time as a Huron Valley Ambulance unit arrived.

Few municipal officials actually know exactly how long their emergency crews take to reach cardiac arrest victims because of various methods of reporting and most are selective about how they report that performance. On the subject Lake Pointe rescue, the 10-minute response time, verified by Fire Chief Dan Phillips, was ascertained by starting the clock at the minute and second of the first call until the minute and second the first rescue rig pulled up in front of the home.

According to medical experts, a victim experiencing cardiac arrest, also known as ventricular fibrillation, has just 6 minutes to live. A shock with a defibrillator within that time usually will restore the heart's rhythm and a victim can still survive if qualified paramedics restore his breathing and administer key drugs, such as adrenaline, according to highly experienced paramedics.

Most experts agree that four responders, at least two trained in Advanced Life Support and two trained in Basic Life Support, are the minimum required to provide the necessary life saving measures to cardiac arrest victims. Experts say two firefighters to provide CPR, one to prepare the Automated External Defibrillator (AED) and analyze the results of an electrocardiogram (ECG) report, and one to prepare for and initiate advanced cardiac life support measures, such as advanced airway management, IV therapy and pharmacological interventions, are the minimum number required to provide the necessary care in a cardiac arrest situation. An important factor in the survival of the patient, experts say, is not only how quickly paramedics arrive at the scene, but also how quickly they begin administering treatment. Recognized national studies predicting cardiac arrest survival rates link response time to the probability of survival. According to the national model, in the best-case scenario a cardiac arrest victim has a 67 percent chance of survival within the critical first 6 minutes.

Price dismissed Heise's claim of the "adequate" response time and insisted the 7-minute time was accurate, despite the official records, adding that the patient was transported and expired at the hospital. Price said he attended the funeral.

Price offered another example of the adequacy of fire department staffing, displaying a thank you letter from a resident who Price said, "...was perished for 30 minutes and he's alive today." Examination of the rescue run by The Eagle and discussion with Phillips revealed the referenced patient was most likely still breathing when the fire department arrived. Phillips said it was a cardiac event. "We were oxygenating his blood and keeping him alive," Phillips said, noting it was an extremely unusual situation.

Township trustee candidate Jack Dempsey, who has expressed his concern regarding the fire department staffing levels, said the budget cuts to the fire department show little savings since 2011 when spending was $3,773 million. Dempsey reports 2014 and 2015 fire budgets were $3,771 and $3,829 million respectively. Dempsey said the 2016 budget was not posted on the township website.

Since the departmental downsizing, officials have tried to address staffing shortages and public criticism. The intermittent closing of both the Beck Road and Haggerty Road stations has not been mitigated. Those station closings are necessary when minimum staffing requirements of four firefighters available per shift can not be met by current staffing levels. The department employs only 18 firefighters and a shift consists of a captain, a lieutenant and four firefighters. This does not include the administrative staff that includes Phillips, a fire inspector and a secretary.

Local dancers perform at Comerica Park

Plymouth was well represented before the Detroit Tigers' game last Friday at Comerica Park.

Members of the Plymouth Centennial Dancers helped celebrate the 48th annual Polish-American Night with a performance before the game.

"It is very colorful and it gives the youngest members some experience on the big stage," said Barb Martin, director of the Plymouth Centennial Dancers. "Our goal is to promote Polish heritage and culture through music and dance," she added.

Longtime coordinator for the event, Wally Orog said, "We get all the sponsors of the dance troupes, the Polish National Alliance, the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America and the Polish Women's Alliance of America and put on a wonderful show. Everyone is Polish that evening."

"We have added a few more groups this year," said pre-game emcee Christopher Orog. The Wayne State University Polish Club and the Friends of Polish Art were represented this year and the National Polish-American Sports Hall of Fame has a display on the concourse near the right-field foul line. A special collector's tee-shirt was also available on Friday.

The PNA-Plymouth Centennial Dancers also operate the Polish Kitchen at the Plymouth Fall Festival every year and dance in Fourth of July and Labor Day parades in Plymouth, Northville and Hamtramck.

Water rates change in city

Members of the Plymouth City Commission have approved a 29-cent per thousand gallon increase in city water and sewer rates.

The unanimous approval will increase water and sewer rates to $11.63 per thousand gallons of water used. This is the first increase in city rates since July 2014.

Officials said that the rate increase will translate into a typical water bill in the city of about $221 quarterly. The rate increase was based on an increase from the new Great Lakes Water Authority to the city of 7.5 percent.

The commissioners did not hike the monthly cart fee for trash and recyclables which will remain at $10.

Those fees are included on water billings.

WAYNE - WESTLAND

Newburgh Road project set to begin

Drivers on Newburgh Road this week may be surprised by the curtailed traffic flow north of Ford Road.

A pavement repair project is scheduled to begin this week which will restrict traffic to a single lane in each direction as construction continues. There will be intermittent stoppages of traffic by flaggers at the locations as repairs to the pavement are made. The $988,000 project will be funded primarily by Michigan Department of Transportation, according to Westland officials. The repairs will include pavement 400 feet north of Ford Road and Warren Road.

Officials said that repair work will be scheduled to maintain a minimum of one driveway open to properties and left turns along Newburgh Road will be restricted during the first phase of the construction scheduled to begin June 6 and be complete July 5, when phase two is scheduled to begin.

During phase one the center lane as well as the passing lane in both southbound and northbound will be closed to traffic. Left turn movements will be prohibited through the work zone for safety. Work zone will stop short of the traffic signals at Ford Road and at Warren Road allowing vehicles access to turning and through signals/lanes. Once repairs are complete, and the concrete has cured, traffic southbound and northbound will be shifted to the center lanes. Phase two of the construction is expected to be complete Aug. 1. During this second phase, the outside lanes or curb lanes will be closed to traffic. Traffic will be shifted to travel along the three center lanes repaired in the prior phase. Right turns to driveways will be restricted to one driveway per property to expedite the duration of the project. Once the repairs are complete, and the concrete has cured, traffic markings will be replaced and existing traffic patterns prior to construction will be restored, officials said.

Traffic backups are anticipated, and motorists are urged to seek alternative routes...

There is no posted detour route for this project. Traffic backups are anticipated, and motorists are urged to seek alternative routes when possible and be patient and careful if travel through the construction project is necessary, officials said.

Closure of Tinkham Center prompts concern

Members of the Wayne Westland Community Schools Board of Education agreed to table a vote on closing the Tinkham Alternative High School until June 6.

During their meeting last week, the proposal to close Tinkham and transfer the students to Wayne Memorial High School met with strong comments from educators and students. The reputation of the center as a school for "bad kids" was defended by Jeff Holien, a teacher who told the board members that the school had become his "life's passion." He said the students at Tinkham need guidance and support and usually do not do well in a traditional classroom setting.

The Tinkham Center building is in need of about $2 million in upgrades and repairs explained Assistant Superintendent Educational Services John Albrecht. He said the building needs a new roof and boiler and air conditioning repairs or replacements. He told the board members that there are other venues for the students now enrolled at Tinkham.

One Tinkham student told the board members that she wanted to show her children that she could finish school while another explained that the school had given her the confidence she had always been lacking.

Michigan Education Association Union/Service Director Tonya Karpinski urged them to allow more time before closing Tinkham Center.

Superintendent of Schools Michele Harnala said the administration was attempting to maintain the programs and services at the center. She said the district is gambling with the condition of the building.

Board members asked for information regarding the alternatives available to the Tinkham students, many of whom walk to the center for classes, along with enrollment data, the status of students in class now, staffing and costs.

The issue will again be discussed at the study session set for June 6.

Golfers aid high school

The 15th Annual Lutheran High School of Westland Open golf tournament is now accepting reservations.

The tournament will take place beginning with registration at 8:45 a.m. June 16 at St. John's Golf and Conference Center, 49405 Five Mile Road in Plymouth.

The day long event includes a shotgun start, 18 holes of golf with a cart, lunch and beverage tickets, a dinner with a cash bar, contests, door prizes and favors, all for $135 per person or $110 for seniors older than 60.

Sponsorships are still being sought at levels from $100 to $1,000. For registration or more information, contact Kevin Wade, (734)422-3390.

Alumni group awards scholarships

Two Westland seniors have been awarded scholarships from the Wayne High School Alumni Association.

Haley Scott and Miranda Crumney were each chosen to receive $1,500 scholarships annually for four years from the group which made the announcement at a recent all-class reunion.

Scott is the daughter of Rodney and Christina Scott. She is planning on attending Central Michigan University and will major in meteorology. She maintained a 4.0 grade point average and her counselor and science teacher each praised her academic achievements and her character. She is a member of the National Honor Society and plays violin the symphony orchestra and participated in both basketball and track.

Crumney is the daughter of Sheldon and Sandra Crumney and is also a member of the National Honor Society. She has maintained a 3.97 grade point average and will attend Wayne State University pursuing a career in the medical field. She is also a competitive dancer and is an assistant instructor in a youth dance class, along with her volunteer work in the community.

The alumni association has been awarding scholarship since 1995.

Trustees interview superintendent candidates

Members of the Van Buren Board of Education selected six finalist candidates from 32 applicants to interview for superintendent of the school district.

Dr. Rodney Green from the Michigan Association of School Boards is assisting the board members in the search for a new schools chief.

The first round of interviews took place in the cafeteria at Belleville High School and were open to the public.

Interviewed were:

Peter Kudlak, assistant superintendent at Milan Area Schools since 2012. Kudlak served as director of elementary education and as an elementary principal with the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for five years. He served as an elementary principal in Flat Rock for five years, and was a teacher in Ypsilanti Public Schools for five years;

Mark Kleinhans, the superintendent at Bedford Public Schools since 2013. Kleinhans was the superintendent at Montrose Community Schools for 11 years and was a middle school principal in Montrose for nine years. He also worked as an assistant principal, athletic director, and teacher for Alma Public Schools for seven years;

Melody Strang, the director of Instructional Technology & Curriculum at Fenton Public Schools since 2011. She has been an educator for 21 years and was previously an elementary principal, early childhood director and teacher in Fenton;

Joshua Talison, Ed.D., who is the current superintendent at Beecher Community Schools. He was previously a middle school principal in Southfield for five years, middle school principal in Oak Park for one year, and assistant principal in Rochester for four years. He has also been an adjunct professor for University of Michigan Flint, and Terry George, a high school turnaround principal at Hamtramck since 2014. He was formerly the director of pupil services in Hamtramck for five years and was middle school principal and assistant principal in Southfield. He also was a principal in private schools and was a teacher in Detroit and New York.

A sixth candidate, William Brown, accepted a position elsewhere and was not interviewed as planned by the board members.

Board members have previously said that they hope to have a new superintendent in place by July 1.

Assistance program helps avoid shut off of water

There is some help available for area residents unable to pay their water bills.

The new Great Lakes Water Authority, formerly the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department, offers a new program called WRAP or Water Residential Assistance Program which is available to all water customers of the agency.

Members of the Northville City Council and the Canton Township Board of Trustees are among those who have approved a memorandum of agreement to join the assistance program. Funding for the program comes from a .5 percent reserve set aside by the water authority from users' payment to help low income families meet their water bills.

The program will provide assistance up to $300 per year, or $25 per month for two years; help to pay overdue water bills up to a limit of $700 a year and offers one-time assistance of up to $1,000 for home plumbing repairs, which often lead to excessive water use. The program was enacted March 1 and includes several area counties.

In Canton, the program was presented to the board of trustees by Treasurer Melissa McLaughlin who explained that hundreds of late notices are sent from her office every month regarding delinquent water bill payments.

Eligibility requires that the applicants be at or below 150 percent of the Federal Poverty Level or $36,450 for a family of four. The water bill must be in the applicant's name and the applicant must have some source of income to qualify for help from WRAP.

In Northville, more information is available at (248) 349-1300 through the water department. Eligible applicants will then be referred to Wayne Metro Community Action Alliance which will administer the program. Wayne Metro will send assistance checks directly to the City of Northville to reduce the participant's water bills.

McLaughlin told the board members during their regular meeting that there were township residents who had to choose between buying necessary medications and paying the water bills.

"I don't want to shut anybody's water off," she said.

Information is available at www.canton-mi.org or by calling Wayne Metro at (313) 386-9727 (WRAP).

Former interim superintendent now at Wayne County

Shonta Langford-Green, the former Van Buren Community Schools Interim Superintendent, has resigned to take a job as the director of human resources for Wayne County.

Langford-Green, named as a defendant in the lawsuit filed by four teachers at Savage Elementary School, was previously the director of human resources in the Van Buren

Schools, before agreeing to accept the duties of interim superintendent when Michael Van Tassel was fired earlier this year.

Van Tassel's separation was tied to the firing of five teachers accused of cheating on the new Michigan state assessment tests. The teachers have remained on administrative leave for several months and last week sued the school board members, with the exception of member Sherry Frazier, and the district demanding damages and a return to their jobs. They claim in the suit that their rights were violated when they were physically removed from their respective classrooms in full view of students.

The teachers have vigorously denied any cheating or misconduct on the test on which Savage students scored among the top schools in the state and higher than schools dedicated to teaching gifted students.

According to James Canning, a Wayne County spokesman, Langford-Green is a "huge talent" and was offered county job in April.

He said she informed the county of the pending lawsuit prior to taking the job. Canning said the suit did not raise any concerns at the county and that it is not uncommon for officials to be named as defendants in lawsuits aimed at organizations.

Langford-Green has 17 years of experience in human resources. Prior to Van Buren, she worked as the assistant director of human resources for Ann Arbor Public Schools from 2002-2011.

Her starting salary at the county job is listed at $124,400.
