Audit may have prompted chief's resignation

Following months of controversy, Inkster Police Chief Hilton Napoleon submitted his resignation to City Manager Richard Marsh last Thursday.

In the written resignation, Napoleon cited "extreme working conditions" and went on to say, "The lack of resources and adverse working conditions has (sic) taken its toll on me."

Napoleon's resignation, effective last Friday, July 11, followed an extensive audit of the police department by Risk Management Associates which strongly suggested his replacement. In a detailed, 44-page analysis submitted to the city last month, Napoleon's leadership was questioned along with the appearance of "cronyism" between he and Mayor Hilliard Hampton. Hampton personally recruited and hired Napoleon, a former Detroit officer.

In that detailed audit of the department, Napoleon's leadership is characterized as ineffective and nonexistent and the department described as "leaderless."

Napoleon's 3 ½ years as chief have been marked with controversy. Twice members of both unions which represent the officers in the city have taken votes of "no confidence" in his leader-

Road work under way in Romulus

The reconstruction of Goddard Road from Wayne Road to the CSX Railroad tracks east of Shook is off to a fast start.

Romulus officials said motorists are complying with a one-way travel detour on eastbound Goddard - and that it's business as usual in the downtown section of the city.

This is "phase two" of the construction on Goddard, which will continue through Nov. 15. Phase one in 2012 saw the reconstruction from Huron River Drive at Five Points to Romaine. In 2015, the Goddard reconstruction is scheduled for completion from Romaine to the railroad tracks, including the downtown area.

"Our goal is to repair the road while causing the least disruption to residents and businesses in the area," said Mayor LeRoy D. Burcroff. "This year's project is off to a great start."

The Goddard reconstruction is a $5 million project, with federal aid picking up 80 percent of the cost. Pamar Enterprises is the contractor on the project. OHM Advisors is the project engineer.

Construction on phase two began July 8 with the removal of 10 to 14 inches of pavement on the eastern half of Goddard. New road cross section will include an all-new aggregate base and eight inches of asphalt pavement.

While the eastbound lane is closed, the westbound lane remains open to traffic. When the eastbound lane work is complete, construction on the westbound lane will begin. At that point, westbound traffic will switch to the eastbound lane, keeping a lane

Construction along Goddard Road in Romulus is already under way and will continue through the summer. City officials said the $5 million project is proceeding smoothly.

open to westbound traffic throughout the entire project. Traffic-control signs are posted throughout the construction zone.

"The contractor mobilized on site and began the removal of pavement in an expeditious fashion," said Department of Public Works Director Roberto Scappaticci. "Motorists have acclimated to the construction barrels and the detour and traffic is moving smoothly."

Key to the project's success is communication with the public. Even before work began, Burcroff, Public Services Director Robert McCraight and Scappaticci went door to door to explain the project to residents and business people along Goddard Road and to discuss their concerns.

A public information meeting took place July 10 for business owners and residents in the district, where project details, traffic detours and plan specifications were communicated. A website - www.romulusprojects.com - has been set up to provide weekly updates on the project status. Information also is shared on the city website www.romulusgov.com and Facebook page www.facebook.com/cityofromulus.

"A high priority of my administration is to communicate effectively with those affected throughout the project," Burcroff said. "We started early and intend to provide information on the website, through notification let-

Township has 21 days to comply with order

Judge Brian Sullivan of the Wayne County Circuit Court cautioned attorneys from Plymouth Township last week that the municipality must comply with the stipulations of a consent judgment allowing the construction of LA Fitness on Ann Arbor Road.

The judge granted the request of attorney Timothy S. Wilhelm for a 21-day period to obtain the necessary permits and agreements to allow the construction.

Sullivan made it clear during the hearing that the consent agreement between Plymouth/Haggerty Associates, LLC, the owner of Plymouth Towne Center on Ann Arbor Road west of Haggerty Road and the township is "operable" and the objections and arguments against the construction of an LA Fitness were without merit.

The only objection to the plan Wilhelm could offer was that the LA Fitness is now on the corner of the complex rather than in the center.

Sullivan said the agreement, originally signed 11 years ago and revised repeatedly to meet ongoing demands of the township, required the plan for the fitness facility be "consistent" not "identical."

The developer is also asking the court for $107,000 in professional fees and $14,000 paid to the township for "professional review and copying charges."

Artist rendering of the new LA Fitness proposed in Plymouth.

Wayne to ask voters to OK 2 millage requests

Voters in the City of Wayne will face two millage questions on the November ballot.

Members of the city council approved the ballot language earlier this month asking voters for a 1-mill tax for five years dedicated to funding public safety services in the city.

The millage will be requested as a renewal of an existing tax on the ballot Nov. 4.

The language will now go to the Michigan Attorney General for approval as required by the city charter. The dedicated millage was approved by voters in 2010, however, the funding was not added to the police and fire budget in the city but used to keep the budgets for the two departments at existing levels.

City Manager Joseph Merucci said that the ballot language for the millage could only be considered a renewal by amending the city charter to allow for a 10-year levy.

Councilwoman Susan Rowe was adamant that the millage be dedicated to police and fire budgets.

"I want to make sure this millage is used for police and fire plus what is already allocated in the general fund," she said at the meeting.

In addition to the 1-mill renewal for an additional five years, voters will again be asked to approve 5-mills for five years to pay police and fire retirement costs, which are now a liability of the general fund in the city.

The city budget, adopted with a projected $1.48 million deficit, is still facing reductions in spending by council members.

Voters rejected the police and fire retirement millage request in November of 2013.

Council appoints David James to vacancy

The newest member of the Wayne City Council has some definite ideas about improving the community and easing the burden on taxpayers.

David James, 56, a licensed Realtor, was selected by members of the city council to fill the vacancy created when James Henley resigned last month. James will now serve until the next regular election in November of 2015.

James said that as a Realtor, the drop in property values in Wayne has troubled him, both professionally and as a resident of the community.

“We need to bring up these property values in the city. I think we can do that and improve the quality of life for everyone,” he said.

James has served on the city planning commission for two years, replacing Henley when he was elected to the council. He said that experience, too, has convinced him there are ways to improve Wayne.

“I don't think you do it by closing stuff and passing millages,” he said. “We've got to bring up the home values and we do that by bringing more new people into the community as homeowners.”

James said that at one time Realtors used to consider Wayne the “best kept secret in Western Wayne County.”

“People could get a nice home in this town where we had excellent, award-wining schools and strong city services. We need to bring back the awareness of what a gem this community is,” James said.

James served on the Wayne Westland Community Schools Board of Education from 1995-1999 and was also elected to the Westland City Council. He was one of several officeholders recalled by disgruntled voters.

Council members also interviewed Thomas Porter who serves on the Wayne Planning Commission, Keith Tilley, president of the Wayne Soccer Association and Shari Welch, who finished just behind Henley in the election last year.

James’ nomination, by Councilman John Rhaesa, garnered only one opposing vote from Councilwoman Susan Rowe. Rowe said that since Welch had already campaigned for the office and that people had voted for her, she was her choice for the appointment.

James said he is looking forward to working with the council members and serving the best interests of the residents of the city.

Millage

During the meeting Merucci noted that while the 1-mill levy adopted in 2010 generated about $670,000 in property tax revenue for the city at that time, the consistent drop in home values in the city has reduced that amount to about $370,000.

The current millage rate in the City of Wayne is about $48.8957 per every $1,000 of taxable property value, according to the city website.

St. Mary School now accepting students

Students are now being accepted for the 2014-2015 school year at St. Mary Catholic School in Wayne.

The school is located at 34516 Michigan Ave., in Wayne and offers a pre-K-eighth-grade program for both Catholic and non-Catholic students. The school scores consistently in the top 25 percent nationwide on the Iowa Standardized Test, according to a school spokesperson. Educators teaching grades six through eight use the Middle School Mode for preparing students for high school, she added.

St. Mary is a diverse school which offers a multitude of enrichment programs that students can explore beyond the basic curriculum. Examples include onsite campus learning specialist/ during and after school tutoring, National Junior Honor Society, choir / bells/ band, Scouting program, CYO sports, Academic Olympics and before and after school care (734) 721-1240 or email schooloffice@stmarywayne.org.

City ‘Challenge for Compassion’ is Saturday

As part of Mayor William R. Wild's Compassionate City Initiative, Westland will host a “Challenge for Compassion” this Saturday, July 19 at Central City Park. The challenge is a day-long event for people of all ages to raise funds for charities and organizations, with the goal of becoming Michigan's most compassionate city where residents routinely show compassion to others and especially those less-fortunate.

“This is going to be a great day and will benefit some great causes,” said Wild. “By partnering with local non-profits and neighborhood outreach groups, we are going to create increased awareness and start a brushfire of compassion in our community.”

The schedule of events includes:

- Starting at 8:30 a.m. and continuing all day, will be a softball tournament at the Wayne Ford Civic League to benefit Do Unto Others, a group that supports individuals with intellectual disabilities and special needs. To register go to www.WWDOU.org/events.
- From 8-9 a.m. the March for Liberty will take place. Proceeds from the march will go to Camp Liberty, which helps disabled veterans. The suggested donation is $10 per family, or $5 per adult and

- $2 for children. To register, email rtechoicehnc@gmail.com.
- From 8:30-11:30 a.m. St. Mary Mercy Hospital personnel will be manning a Health Information Station. They will also be collecting non-perishable food items to donate to the St. Mary John Bolde Memorial Food Depot.
- From 10-10:30 a.m. there will be an Elementary Zumbathon. Children of all ages can participate in this event to benefit St. Jude's Children's Hospital. Parents can register their children by calling (734) 467-3259 or emailing aalejandromaria@yahoo.com.
- Continuing from 10 a.m. through 12:30 p.m. will be a chipping contest for golfers. Registration is not required, and proceeds go to St. Matthew's Food Pantry.

- A balloon toss is planned from 10:40-11 a.m. organized by the Westland Youth Assistance Program. This event is for all ages, costs $1, and benefits the Compassionate City Initiative. Registration is not required.
- A boot-camp work out led by Buddy Shuh of the Biggest Loser will take place from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Participants 17 and under must be accompanied by an adult with a liability waiver signed by the parent. Pre-register by emailing jfschr@comcast.net.

Proceeds will benefit the TEARS Foundation, which helps bereaved families who have lost a child who was one year old or younger.

The Compassionate City Initiative was launched earlier this year by Wild, after a unique opportunity to meet with the Dalai Lama, with the goal of building connections between neighbors and to promote good will in the community. Westland is the first city in Michigan to join the Compassion Cities Initiative.

To learn more about the initiative and the Challenge for Compassion, residents can visit www.CITYOFWESTLAND.com.

6 police officers promoted, 2 patrolmen hired

The City of Westland swore in two new police officers and promoted six veteran officers at the regular city council meeting last week. Officers Joshua Wolfe and Kevin Chubb were sworn in, and Officer Todd Adams was promoted to Deputy Chief. Officers Daniel Serrano, Richard Kummert, Kevin Swope, Timothy Horvath, and Burke Lange all received promotions.

Wolfe served the Belleville Police Department for the past two years and earned a bachelor's degree from Madonna University. Chubb has spent the past six years with the Detroit Police Department, and has received several awards for his service.

New Deputy Chief Adams has served the Westland community since March of 1997, when he came to Westland from Detroit. He has worked as a Field Training Officer, was a member of the Special Investigations Unit, and worked with the Detective Bureau.

In his new role, Adams will manage the Investigative Bureaus for the Department.

Officers Serrano and Kummert were each promoted to lieutenant. Both officers have been with the Westland Police Department since 1997 and have served in numerous capacities. Their new assignments will put them in command of night shift platoons.

Officers Swope, Horvath, and Lange will be the newest sergeants in the department. Each officer has served 10 years or more for the department in a number of different roles. Swope has been serving as a hostage negotiator and will now be assigned to the Traffic Bureau.

Horvath has served in the military for the past 27 years, is currently a First Sergeant at Selfridge Air National Guard Base, and he has now been assigned as a day shift supervisor.

Lange, who was selected as the Westland Police Officer of the Year in 2011, will be moving from the Tactical Response Unit to be an investigator in the Detective Bureau.

“It's always great to welcome new and talented officers into our community. We look forward to your dedication to protect and serve our residents,” said Mayor William Wild. “And congratulations to the promoted officers who have earned their new ranks from their years of hard-work and dedication to the police department and Westland community.”

Home loan seminar planned

Westland residents at risk of losing their homes can attend a free Loan Modification and Short Sale Workshop from 6-7 p.m. on the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Dorsey Community Center, 32715 Dorsey, east of Venoy.

Annette Compo of WJR Real Estate 411 and Linda Miller, an MSHDA-certified foreclosure counselor with National Faith Homebuyers, will meet with residents to do an overview of the foreclosure process.

Westland is working with developers to assist residents who lost their home to foreclosure remain in the same neighborhood.

Post Office now in new home in downtown Plymouth

The downtown Plymouth Post Office has now moved to a new home.

The former Pursell Station located at 885 Penniman Ave. has moved a few doors away to the corner of Harvey and Penniman to a remodeled building that had been vacant for almost a decade. The building, last used as a convenience store, has been modernized and brought up to code.

After 80 years in a classic-style post office built in 1935, the United States Postal Service sold the building last year, saying it was too large and citing cost-cutting measures. The new owners, Plymouth residents Mark and Patricia Malcolm, plan to convert it to a food market.

The Pursell Station was named for Carl Pursell a long-time Plymouth resident and congressman.

The building contains a famous mural painted in 1938 fostered by a depression-era works program that employed people to work on public projects. Documented by the International Center for Arts of the Americas at the Museum of fine Arts, Houston, the mural on the west wall of the Plymouth Post Office, "Plymouth Trail" is the work of famed artist Carlos Lopez. From 1937-1942, Lopez completed many important murals for numerous post offices in Michigan and was extensively involved in the mural movement prompted by the United States government-sponsored Works Progress Administration (WPA) and its Public Works of Art Project during the 1930s.

New building owner Mark Malcolm said that the remodeling and renovations of the old building will have to be approved by the State Historic Office. That office has agreed to place the property on the National Register of Historic Places.

"In terms of tenants and uses we would hope to attract to add value to the community..."

Postmaster Robert R. Alt said he was very pleased with the new site as it kept the post office downtown and part of the community.

"We want to take care of our people...I think it was a good choice."

Local attorney John Stewart and concerned citizens were on hand recently as contractors from the Environmental Protection Agency took soil samples from the proposed site of a new amphitheater in Plymouth Township Park.

Amphitheater work begins

Don Howard
Staff Writer

In an effort to protect habitat and water quality of the headwaters and tributary branches of the Rouge River, ecologists, under the direction of Wayne County and the Michigan Department of Environment, have been collecting extensive technical information on its sub-watersheds since 1993, funded by Congressional appropriations and managed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Included in the project is the Middle 1 Subwatershed and its ecosystem located in McClumpha Park in Plymouth Township.

Last week contractors started work, drilling for soil samples and removing brush and small trees to construct a controversial and hotly contested 400-seat amphitheater planned within the wooded area of the 81-acre park. The park is designated as a subwatershed and protected monoculture, where trees and grasses can survive in just 3 inches of soil. Nearby, mature maple and beech trees tower 100 feet close to some of the priciest homes in the township.

There are already several recreational facilities located within the Middle 1 Subwatershed, including Maybury State Park, Wayne County Middle Rouge Parkway, Northville Downs Race Track and Plymouth Township Park where an advisory group is charged with the management of the land.

OUT is IN Leisure Services Department offers programs to lure families outside

Canton Leisure Services and the National Recreation and Park Association are challenging residents to get outdoors this summer. To spur residents into enjoying some of the opportunities offered in Canton, the Leisure Services department is offering several unique recreation opportunities the week of July 18-25.

This year, the Park and Recreation Month theme, “OUT is IN and families will have a chance to get outside during a Family Camp Out Movie Night in Heritage Park on Friday, July 18. Families can set up tents and camp overnight at Heritage Park and view an outdoor screening of Despicable Me 2 (rated PG), as well as take part in family-friendly activities. For more information on that event, visit www.cantonfun.org or call (734) 394-5460.

“Our goal for July is to have no child left inside,” said Andrew Grose, event coordinator. “Canton Leisure Services makes it easy for individuals and families to enjoy the outdoors and have fun in the sun all summer long.”

Other programs offered will also be getting outside during the week to participate in events like canoe rides, nature walks and bird watching.

Canton Leisure Services offers outdoor events and recreation facilities for individuals and families all summer. Some ideas for getting outside include:

- Taking a stroll or bike ride on the Lower Rouge River Recreation Trail
- Having a picnic in Freedom Park
- Playing a game of tennis in Griffin Park
- Visiting the Splash Pad at Flodin Park

- Playing a round of golf at Fellow Creek
  - Bringing the kids to the Range at Pheasant Run - kids get a free range token and bucket of balls with purchase of a medium or large bucket of balls all through July
  - Enjoying a free outdoor concert on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays in Canton all month long
  - Shopping for local produce and goods at the Farmers Market at Preservation Park from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Sundays.
- For more information on Canton events and programs and recreation ideas, visit www.cantonfun.org or call (734) 394-5460.

Strict enforcement of sign ordinances planned in township

Political candidates in the area got a personal letter recently from Canton Township Director of Safety Todd Mutchler.

It wasn't an endorsement.

Mutchler sent the candidates a warning regarding political signs that are now dotting the landscape of the community.

“As a candidate for public office, it is your responsibility to ensure compliance to the sign placement requirements by your committee members and/or volunteers,” Mutchler's letter stated.

Mutchler also warned candidates about erecting signs within 100 feet of any election precinct.

The letter is part of a township-wide effort to clean up the proliferation of signs that seem to appear during the summer months. Canton police, building and ordinance officers will soon begin to seize illegal signs and impose fines of up to $200 for a first offense, $400 for a second offense and $600 for each subsequent violation of the township ordinances regarding the placement of signs.

Signs cannot be placed in public rights-of-way, on utility poles, vacant land or fields according to local ordinances.

Legal signs include those which are placed with a permit obtained from the township or political signs placed on occupied private property with permission of the property owner.

Others will be subject to the penalties outlined in the township ordinances.

Wanted man

The Canton Police Department is asking for help with identifying the suspects captured in these surveillance photos. Police are investigating a pharmacy break-in that occurred on June 16. The two white males photographed cut wires in the rear of the building before breaking in. Information on the identity of this suspect can be called in anonymously to the Canton Police Department at (734)394-5400.

Audit

multiple other incidents, were cited by officers as outside normal police operating procedures and called “a danger” in the complaints union representatives made to city officials, including City Manager Richard Marsh, last fall. The Risk Management analysis described the votes of no confidence as “well-deserved.”

The city is currently under a financial consent decree with the state, issued in an effort to avoid an emergency financial manager in the municipality.

Following that decree, the city laid off half the police department at one time and the current police staff is at about 24, down from 60 three years ago.

Napoleon said in an interview last fall after the second vote of no confidence was filed against him, that the officers in the department “lied about me” and that they “weren’t qualified to be officers.” He also said the officers who served under him had “no integrity” and were “out to get me.”

The Risk Management analysis, presented to Marsh, suggested that “City leaders must recognize the negative consequences of ignoring Manager/Council protocols” and cited the political influence, patronage, favoritism and confusion currently in the city. The analysis further recommended that the city hold the city manager accountable and replace Napoleon with a chief from outside the agency with experience in leading in a multi-agency environment.

The study also noted that many of the actions of Napoleon have legal implications for the city.

Napoleon proposed having the Wayne County Sheriff’s office, led by his brother, Sheriff Benny Napoleon, provide police services in the city of about 25,000 residents. He had proposed the measure months ago and the move was supported by Hampton, who recently told reporters that a “feasibility study” of such a move was under way.

The Risk Management analysis concluded, however, that the sheriff’s department does not have the resources necessary to “take over” and resolve the multitude of law enforcement problems or crime suppression tactics necessary to regain order in the community.” The study recommended a multi-agency task force to solve the city-wide problems and suggested that the Wayne County Sheriff “could become a valued member of the Task Force effort that we recommend.”

The plan suggested by Risk Management said that the members of the city council should openly endorse and encourage day-to-day operational control of city business as the responsibility of the city manger. The agency recommended a multi-agency task force to combat crime and violence in the city led by the state police and the use of all existing manpower in the police department to proactive patrol and assistance in the task force effort.

The report suggests that the city seek federal and state funding to assist in the task force operation.

“The City of Inkster does not have the ability to adequately protect its citizens from crime and violence,” noted the report which also said, “The delivery of police services is in turmoil,” and, “There is a growing culture of lawlessness in the community.”

The report also said, “The safety of officers is compromised.”

In his letter of resignation, Napoleon also said, “Additionally, the recent senseless murder of a 2-year-old baby makes my decision that much easier.”

He was referring to the recent shooting outside the Parkside Estates Housing Complex when 2-year-old Kamiya French was killed by an assailant who walked up to the porch where she was sitting with her father, Kenneth French, and a family friend. The man spoke to her father briefly then shot the child in the head at point-blank range. The assailant then turned the gun on 12-year-old Chelsea Lancaster, wounding her seriously. The gunman also shot Kenneth French, wounding him seriously requiring hospitalization.

At the time, Napoleon’s comments that the attack was “in retaliation” for a shooting that took place in April at a local after-hours club, were criticized.

Two men, Raymone Jackson, 24, and Rapheal Daniel-Jordan Hearn, 29, both of Inkster, were arrested and remain in the Wayne County Jail on multiple charges including first-degree murder in the incident.

Art Affair planned for next week in downtown

The Belleville Area Council for the Arts Will host the Fourth Annual Artaffair on Main, from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m., Saturday, July 26 and from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday, July 27.

The display and sale of fine art, craft and entertainment will take place on the the tree-lined streets of downtown Belleville. Local artist Tim Marsh will again be joining the show along with many other artists like Ypsilanti native Vicki Meyer with her imaginative yard art and Ohio native Lenny Putz and his beautiful photography. ArtAffair on Main 2014 will offer a food court featuring a variety of sandwiches, rib plates and Palazzolo’s Gelato truck.

New for 2014, ArtAffair on Main will partner with the Detroit Institute of Arts in offering a drop-in workshop which will feature DIA guided projects for guests to create and take home with them. Wine and Canvas Ann Arbor staff members will be on hand to help visitors in create beautiful paintings of their own. Both of these creative opportunities will be provided free of charge during the event.

ArtAffair on Main 2014 will also include entertainment on the Main Stage. Entertainers this year include Detroit legend Thornetta Davis at 6 p.m.

Saturday. Ann Arbor-based folk singer Abigail Stauffer opens the Saturday schedule at noon and will be followed at 2:30 p.m. by piano player Matthew Ball. Sunday shows begin at 1 p.m. with Ypsilanti’s Voices in Harmony. At 3 p.m., Belleville’s own Machine Gun Kelly Band will perform.

Artaffair on Main is a juried show and participation in each accepted genre (drawing, jewelry, photography, etc.) is limited.

More information about Artaffair on Main, as well as all the other Belleville Area Council for the Arts presentations can be found at bellevilleartsouncil.org.

Senior Brigade visits library

Representatives from the Senior Brigade will discuss online safety at a meeting set to begin at 6 p.m. July 21 at the Leanna Hicks Inkster Public Library.

Advisors will discuss email safety tips, how to recognize and avoid online scams, basic computer security measures, helpful online resources and general online safety tips.

The meeting is open to the public and there is no admittance fee.

Representatives from The Senior Brigade will return to the library to discuss Residential Care Choices during a meeting set to begin at 6 p.m. Aug. 18.

Topics discussed will include how to choose a nursing home, how to choose home healthcare, how to recognize and report abuse or neglect and ways to keep loved ones save.

This meeting is also free and open to the public.

The library is located at 2005 Inkster Road in Inkster.

Officers graduate from command class

Van Buren Township Police Sgt. Louis Keele and Sgt. Marc Abdilla were among the graduating members of the 351st class of Northwestern University School of Police Staff and Command.

The two recent graduates were congratulated by Van Buren Township Director of Public Safety Gregory Laurain at a meeting of the township board of trustees earlier this month.

"This 10-month program is the most challenging and rewarding law enforcement management program in the nation and I am proud of you on your successful completion," Laurain told the pair.

Keele has been with the department since 1995. During his 19-year career he has served in the road patrol, detective bureau, and cross-trained as a public safety officer in 2008. He was promoted to the rank of sergeant in 2013 and is now assigned as shift supervisor.

Abdilla has been with the department since 1996. During his 18-year career he has served in road patrol, detective bureau, and cross-trained as a public safety officer in 2006. Abdilla was promoted to the rank of sergeant in 2013 and is now assigned as shift supervisor.

Uniquely United Student-organized ‘special needs’ prom proves success

Danielle Funderburg
Vice President
Romulus Board Of Education

Macee Logerstedt a 2013 Romulus High School graduate, inspired by her brother Warren, provides unique opportunities for students with disabilities, uniting them by what makes us the same-having a good time.

In 2013, Logerstedt was looking forward to the elegance, dancing and memories of her senior prom. She realized that her brother, Warren, a year younger, would not share the same fanfare that is afforded well-bodied students because he has Cerebral Palsy.

Warren Logerstedt attends a Wayne Memorial High School Center Program, designed to meet the educational needs of our students with significant educational requirements.

His sister recognized that the program Logerstedt attends didn't have a traditional senior prom for their students and further concluded that because of the specific guidelines regarding special education structuring, most students with disabilities don't get to have a traditional prom. She decided to do something about it.

As part of her senior high school project, she formed Uniquely United. With the help of special education teacher, Steve Pilon and the Wayne program staff, they very carefully planned the first Uniquely United Prom for Warren and his classmates. Special accommodations were taken into account for this prom-how loud to play the music, whether or not to have strobe lighting and dietary restrictions for snacks. Uniting everyone was easy and Logerstedt, with the help of family and friends, raised funds for a DJ, T-Shirts, and goodie bags.

The proms has become an annual event, back by popular demand from both the parents and staff at the Wayne school. Logerstedt, just finishing up her first year at Lawrence Technological University in Southfield, said she's eagerly awaiting the planning stages for the third annual Uniquely United Prom.

For more information about the Uniquely United prom or to make a donation, emails Logerstedt at mlogerste@ltu.edu.

ters and during future programming on the city cable TV channels. Our goal is to exceed the public's expectations.”

Scappaticci said the contractor monitors traffic flows to determine if additional signage is required. He said keeping traffic flowing into the downtown area is a priority.

During utility investigations preceding the project, a large sewer main was found to be collapsed under the road in the central business district. Correcting the main is now also part of the project.

The Goddard reconstruction ties into work taking place on Wayne Road, where mast-arm signals and left-turn lanes will be added from Wayne traffic traveling in both directions toward Goddard. Scappaticci said the city was able to capitalize on a partnership with Wayne County to perform the work at the same time and save on costs.

A related pending project will see a sidewalk created under the I-94 freeway and the Norfolk Southern Railroad bridge that will allow foot traffic on the west side of Wayne Road from Herman Street, just south of Romulus High School, to Goddard.

Separately, construction on Grant Road from the Five Points intersection east to the CSX Railroad tracks is slated to be finished by the end of July. The work involved pulverizing the existing roadway and reusing the material a base with new pavement placed on the top.

The estimated construction cost is $480,000 with 80 percent funded by federal aid.

Scappaticci said work on Grant is expected to continue within the next three years from the railroad tracks east to Wayne Road.

In August, a small isolated road patching program and a full-depth pavement replacement program is scheduled for Brandt Road, south of Eureka Road to Dru Street.

To perform the work, the city will tap into the $100,000 received from the Michigan Department of Transportation after the harsh winter season. Scappaticci said the city is aware of the necessity for additional work throughout the city - and the need for additional funding. However, the Brandt Road work is a step in the right direction.

Local author to sign book

Former Canton resident M.D. Taverner is launching her debut novel, Willow Bend: A Mara Hiddenbridge Mystery with a personal appearance and book signing at The Next Chapter bookstore in Northville July 26.

Taverner, who now resides in Novi, said the novel, set in the fictional town of Villonia Michigan, centers on a newspaper film critic who is content to tuck herself away in a movie theater, write screenplays that never see the light of day, and quietly grieve the sudden death of her father. Her walled-off world is penetrated when she witnesses a body being recovered from her favorite writing corner in Willow Bend Park.

Taverner said inspiration for the book came from a real-life experience that sparked the idea:

“I was driving home down Edward Hines Drive in Plymouth and there was a sudden, heavy downpour of rain. It was so strong that I had to pull over and wait it out. When it finally stopped, I noticed a rest area (they call them “Comfort Stations” in Hines Park) was roped off with that yellow police tape.

“Two uniformed men came out of the building carrying a stretcher with a body bag laying on it. It was surreal. No other cars were around because of the weather so I was the sole witness. I went home and checked the news, the internet, expecting to find out what happened but there was zero information.

“It really played on my mind and my imagination. At the time, I drove Hines Drive to and from work, so somewhere along those commutes, the novel evolved in my mind. The novel's tagline: “What if you were the only one who saw,” came from my actual thought at the time, because I couldn't find out a thing about who it was or what happened, and you start to think maybe you imagined it.

“It was pretty frustrating, but in the end, the novel evolved from that experience,” the author said.

Taverner will be at The Next Chapter Bookstore at 4 p.m. July 26. The store is located at 141 East Main St. in downtown Northville.

Her book is also available on Amazon and on eBook.

Obituary

Louise M. Briody
Louise M. Briody, 64, died July 14, 2014.

"Every day holds the possibility of a miracle" was the quote that sustained Louise Briody during her 12 challenging years with cancer. Her determination to live every day with humor and grace inspired family, friends, co-workers and medical professionals. Mrs. Briody was raised in Garden City, graduated from Garden City West, and met her husband while working at the world's first Kmart. "I just met the most beautiful girl in the world", Tim Briody exclaimed after they met. He never dated another girl after that. It was 1965 and they were both 16 years old.

Mrs. Briody spent her entire professional career with Romulus Community Schools. Twelve-year-old granddaughter, Sophia, observed, "My grandma is my hero. She worked for 40 years and she loved going to work every day." The time she spent with grandchildren was precious and brought meaning and joy in her retirement. She loved traveling, decorating, celebrating her Polish heritage and passing her faith and traditions on to her grandchildren.

Though compromised with physical challenges, Mrs. Briody remained the center of strength for both the Stanisz family and the Briody clan. She was the planner and organizer of family holiday gatherings and reunions. She faithfully captured and recorded special times with photographs and messages.

Mrs. Briody is survived by her loving husband, Tim; sons, Tim Jr. (Aleka) and Steven; grandchildren, Sophia, William, Ireland, Alex and Devon; brothers, Frances, Jerome (Janet) and Jim (Brenda) Stanisz, and many cousins, nieces and nephews.

A Memorial Gathering is planned from 4-7 p.m. Friday, July 18 at the Howe Peterson Funeral Home, 22546 Michigan Ave. in Dearborn. Memorial Mass at 11 a.m. Saturday, July 19 with Memorial Gathering beginning at 10:30 a.m. at Sacred Heart Church on Michigan Avenue in Dearborn.

Mrs. Briody passion for reading led her family to establish The Louise M. Briody Foundation which provides books to public schools. Memorial tributes may be made to The Louise M. Briody Foundation, 710 A South Brady, Dearborn, MI 48124. www.howepeterson.com
