Response time questioned in death

Don Howard
Staff Writer

Other area departments operate on the same or similar models as we do.

A 24-minute ambulance response time may have contributed to the death of a 63-year-old Plymouth man, found not breathing and unresponsive in his home near the downtown area.

A frantic 9-1-1 call for help from a distressed family member was received at the Plymouth Township police dispatch center at 3:17 p.m. although needed paramedics with required Advanced Life Support training and medications did not arrive at the scene until 3:41, according to official records of the incident.

The 9-1-1 recordings of the situation were recently obtained under a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) by The Eagle and detail the actions of emergency medical responders. Under the current arrangement between the City of Plymouth and the City of Northville, the two communities utilize a paid on-call fire department and rely on Huron Valley Ambulance (HVA) for patient transport and licensed paramedics, a service the Northville-Plymouth fire department is not set up or licensed to provide.

Less than one minute after the 9-1-1 call reporting the Plymouth man in distress, dispatchers paged the Northville Fire Department on-call firefighters to respond to the Maple Street address where the unconscious man was on the floor and bleeding, according to the recorded radio information. At the same minute, dispatchers radioed two City of Plymouth police officers to respond to the house, located just blocks away from Plymouth City Hall where an ambulance is housed in the normally unmanned fire station. At 3:20 p.m. the officers were at the residence and two minutes later commenced CPR efforts.

At 3:23 p.m. first responders placed a call to dispatch inquiring where HVA was coming from and were told the ambulance had arrived. HVA had erroneously reported their arrival two minutes before at 3:21.

At 3:41 p.m., seven minutes after the initial 911 call, the first

Rescue effort Inkster firefighters clean up neighborhoods

Inkster firefighters faced a different kind of heat last Wednesday when Mother Nature sent temperatures soaring into the 90s.

The high temperatures didn't faze the firefighters and some volunteers who approached a demolished building on Cherry Street and accumulated dumping in the area as they worked to collect and haul away debris and improve the neighborhood.

According to the Fire Chief Chuck Hubbard, this was the first of several neighborhood clean up projects planned and was an effort to let residents know that the firefighters care about the entire community.

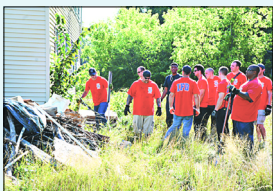

"We had 100 percent participation from the fire department," Hubbard said. He added that two city council members and a group of young volunteers from a local church also pitched in on the project, along with several members of the firefighters' families.

"Members of the city DPS and a handful of local citizens pitched in to volunteer," Hubbard said. "This was a win-win effort and hopefully it will be contagious."

The volunteers had to leave a pile of debris at the site as they filled the two dumpsters with all kinds of refuse they discovered littering the area.

"This shows the character of this department," Hubbard said. "We don't just respond to 9-1-1 calls, we're here to help you in other situations."

And those 9-1-1 calls certainly weren't

Area mourns death of music educator Dick Kruse

The Romulus community is mourning the loss of legendary music teacher and school district booster Richard "Dick" Kruse last week.

Mr. Kruse, who worked with the school district for more than 41 years, passed away on Aug. 5, surrounded by friends and family. He was 74.

"He touched a lot of lives and a lot of hearts," said Romulus Mayor Leroy Burcroft, who met his wife in Kruse's band room. "He was a great guy and he was passionate about putting Romulus on the map."

Mr. Kruse was born Nov. 10, 1941 in Schenectady, N.Y. He attended the University of Michigan School of Music and toured Europe with U of M Symphony band in 1962, as first-chair clarinet, performing many solos. He was inducted into the U of M School of Music, Theater and Dance Hall of Fame.

Mr. Kruse worked with the Romulus Community School District for 41 years, first as director of bands at Romulus Junior High and later as head of the Romulus schools music department. He retired in 2000 and worked for another eight years as the district public relations director. Most recently, he worked as a field sales representative and student recruiter for Marshall Music.

"He spent a lot of his personal time and money to ensure that students learned how to play an instrument," said Romulus Councilwoman Kathy Abdo, a teacher at Romulus High School. "He was an institution in this district for many years."

"My mom used to call him the music evangelist," said resident Tina Talley. "He put his heart, soul, mind, body-everything into the kids and our community."

Mr. Kruse was named The City of Romulus' Person of the Year in 1991.

The city honored Mr. Kruse with a celebration of his life during the sounds in Downtown concert last Friday. Band alumni members attending and there was also a car show, in memory of Mr. Kruse's locally-famous red Corvette.

He is survived by his sister Elaine (Stan) Banks, his nephew Daniel Banks, and his niece Maria Banks (Jeff Williford). Funeral arrangements were entrusted to the Crane Funeral Home in Romulus. Interment was at Memory Gardens Memorial Park in Albany, N.Y.

Those who wish may contribute, donate, and support the Romulus school bands in lieu of flowers. Online guests may leave condolences, share a photo, or light a memorial candle by visiting www.cranefuneralhome.com.

Stepping out Canton dancers bring home honors

Students at Central City Dance in Canton brought home multiple awards from a national competition which took place in Charleston, SC earlier this month.

The young dancers, ages 6-19, competed against 50 dance studios from across the country for honors in various dance disciplines, including jazz, hip hop, lyrical, clogging and modern. Dancers also competed in solo, duet, small group, large group and line and production categories during the five-day event.

Students from Central City Dance Center won awards including: four Diamond Awards, 21 Platinum Awards, 21 High Gold Awards and 67 Overall Division Awards in a particular category.

Students began conditioning in September, but didn't begin working on the competition choreography until January. It took about 12 weeks to create the choreography and get it ready for competition, said Erin Kearney, one of the studio instructors.

"I was so proud of how well our kids did. They worked so hard all year. They really stepped-up and danced their hearts out. It was so exciting to make it into the Standing Ovation Championship. The whole audience was standing and cheering for our students. That was a proud teacher moment for me," Kearney said.

Special recognition awards were given to students of Central City Dance Center for standing out among the tough competitors.

The "Fred and Ginger Award" was presented to 11-year-old Giovanni Succaro and partner, 10-year-old Makaila Barker; both residents of Canton Township, for performing a duet to "Hallelujah, I Love Her So" by Ray Charles.

Central City Dance instructor Shannon McHale-Johnson, said she was thrilled to accept the award for "Best Choreography" for The Cello Song featuring a 16-foot golden sea-saw.

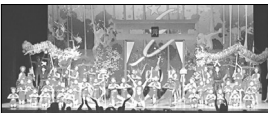

Brownstown resident, 14-year-old Parker Brudzinski, was the recipient of a scholarship to "Broadway Dance Center", providing him the opportunity to study in New York City this upcoming season.

The Last Dragon, featuring 64 students, was nominated for the Standing Ovation Championship Award. Instructor Bethany Amara said the number was thrilling. "My favorite part of the week was looking out into the audience and seeing all of the supportive parents, family members and friends standing up and cheering so loud for our dancers...the energy in the theater gave me chills."

"Competition in the South was very tough. We are proud of the accomplishments of all of our students and are proud to represent Canton Township," said Tim Smola, studio owner and director.

The studio is currently accepting students into the dance jam and three-day dance camps.

For a complete list of summer class offerings and registration dates, visit www.CentralCityDance.com or call the studio for additional information at (734) 459-0400.

The picnic is hosted each year by the Canton Lions Club, which serves both Canton Township and Belleville. Last year, more than 800 people attended the event when the club members roasted more than 1,200 ears of corn.

The home-grown corn comes from Bob Schultz' farm on Geddes and Denton roads in Canton, a spokesperson said.

Members of the civic group serve the roasted ears corn, hot dogs, baked beans watermelon, ice cream cotton, candy, snow cones and beverages for whatever donations are collected during the day. All the funds donated are used to support the efforts of the Lions Club in the community which concentrates on providing services for the blind and hearing impaired. ## Student station honored

For the third consecutive year, the students and staff of 881 The Park, the student-run radio station at the Plymouth Canton Educational Park, are being recognized alongside the elite broadcasters in the country. The station was named a finalist for the National Association of Broadcasters Marconi Radio Award for Non-Commercial Station of the Year.

The Marconi Radio Awards were created in 1989 and are named after inventor and Nobel prize winner Guglielmo Marconi. The awards recognize stations and individuals for excellence and performance in 21 categories. They are among the most prestigious awards in the broadcast industry, according to Station Manager Bill Keith.

The Plymouth Canton station is the only high school operation to receive a nomination in the history of the Marconi awards. Three college-level student stations and one professional station round out the 2016 class of non-commercial finalists. The awards will be presented in September at the awards ceremony in Nashville, TN.

"We're excited to be a finalist for the third year in a row. This is an incredibly prestigious honor for our hard work and dedicated staff," said Program Director Amanda Barberena.

"We couldn't achieve this without the support of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, the board of education, administrators and staff. We're lucky to have been part of such a great community," Keith said.

The student station has been operating for more than 44 years and is owned by the school district and operated by students at Canton, Plymouth and Salem high schools.

Northville Fire Department Basic Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) got to the station and drove the ambulance two blocks north to the man in critical distress, 10 minutes had elapsed from the time of the initial 911 call. It was 14 minutes before the back-up ALS ambulance arrived with needed paramedics.

According to experts, an intravenous line with medication is required, a function requiring certified paramedics, in most cases incidents. Police officers are not required to have that certification or training. The universal factor in patient survival, according to national standards, is the necessity for paramedics in the immediate first 6 minutes of the medical incident. A shock with a defibrillator within the first 6 minutes could likely restore heart rhythm and a victim can still survive if qualified paramedics restore breathing and are able to administer key heart-starting drugs. Experts say six minutes is the maximum time limit in 99 percent of cases of patient survival. Only paramedics can, by law, administer drugs to victims.

Most medical experts also agree that at least four responders, at least two trained in Advanced Life Support and two trained in Basic Life Support, are the minimum required to provide the necessary life saving measures to cardiac arrest victims.

Northville-Plymouth Fire Chief Steve Ott said he had no knowledge of a death in the city related to fire department response times. Ott said he knew of only one case with an unusually long response and said it was, "due to a train blocking the track." There was no mention of the event at the June 6 meeting of the Northville-Plymouth Fire Advisory Board where Plymouth City Manager Paul Sinecock discussed HVA response times and distributed a chart showing the HVA "factual" response is 10 minutes 94.4 percent of the time.

"Other area departments operate on the same or similar models as we do," said Ott, referencing Novi, Salem, Lyon Township, Van Buren, Romulus and Belleville.

The five month Northville Fire Department-Plymouth Station Run-Time Report, dated June 1, 2016, shows 21 incidents where the fire department response time was 10 minutes or greater, including HVA specific response data.

HVA refused comment regarding the Maple Street incident. Public affairs spokesperson Jesse Williams referred to a prepared statement supplied by Communications Manager Jane Giffin.

"We're not a government agency and we are not required to provide any information. In fact we don't give out anything."

Library celebrates summer reading program success

A total of 431 individuals attended programs at the Romulus Library this summer, along with total of 197 children and adults who participated in the Summer Reading Program. Library records indicate that 106 children, 16 teens and 25 adults joined the program this year.

Summer Reading is important to the learning development of children because it keeps them engaged in reading while school is not in session, noted Library Director Patty Braden. "Summer Reading programs are a significant factor in improving reading skills and preventing the loss of learning during the summer months, also known as summer slide."

According to schoollibraryjournal.com, "...children who read at least six books during the summer maintained or improved their reading skills, while children who didn't read any saw their skills slip by as much as an entire grade level". Studies show that children who participate in Summer Reading Programs also have higher test scores than those who do not participate," she added.

"We are extremely grateful to all those who donated to our Summer Reading Programs. A special thank you to Blue Sky Ice Cream and Hamburgers for donating passes for free ice cream and to the Chapatwala Family (owners of several local McDonald's) for providing book marks that allow kids a free happy meal and for bringing Ronald McDonald to our kickoff! Thank you to Skore Lanes for bringing passes for a free skate and more thanks to the Henry Ford, Wings Financial, Midway Sports and Entertainment, and Sportway for donating awesome prizes for participating in summer reading," said Youth Coordinator Jessica Wilhoite, in a prepared statement.

"Also, a special thanks to the Friends of the Library for their donations which helped us buy prizes and bring in performers. Thank you to the Romulus Police and Fire departments, the many volunteers who helped make our Summer Reading Kickoff Carnival a success, and the Romulus Athletic Center for hosting our finale party!"

"We were fortunate to receive three grants from the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs and the Michigan Humanities Council that helped fund, in part, the following programs: Ring of Steel's "Jedi Academy", Third Space Movement's "Juggling Workshop", and Doug Scheer's "Laugh Factory". Other performers this summer included, Alex Thomas and Friends, Rufus the Dufus, Exotic Zoo, and the Storytellers," Wilhoite said.

Church offers unique GriefShare program next month

GriefShare, a 13-week, nondenominational program that focuses on grief topics associated with the death of a loved one, will be offered in Romulus next month.

Meetings will take place from 6-8 p.m. Thursdays at the Romulus Wesleyan Church at Goddard and Huron River Drive from Sept. 8 through Dec. 15. Participants may attend any or all meetings, although the most benefit is received through attending every meeting, a spokesperson said.

Flying high 90-year-old pilot takes special flight

Yankee Air Museum had some very special passengers last Wednesday afternoon during flights of a bright red, open-cockpit WACO YMF-5C biplane aircraft. The rides originated from the museum hangar at Willow Run Airport. The biplane is becoming a regular fixture under the clouds and above local landmarks.

"That was great... very fun. I enjoyed it a lot!" exclaimed Charlie Cone of Northville, one of the passengers. "I've been flying for 73 years, but until today, never on a WACO. I've wanted to do this ever since 1941 when I watched them fly over the fields back home."

Cone, 90, is a U.S. Navy and Air Force veteran. He is an active pilot and flight instructor who said that he has "already flown in the museum's other planes, so the WACO ride was a real thrill."

"The landing was so smooth," he said, "not much like an airliner landing."

Pilot Matt Miller said he enjoyed having Cone on board and talking with him through the plane's headset.

"He has some truly amazing stories," said Miller. "I was glad to fly him and be part of this experience."

Miller said he hears lots of "wows" whenever he flies the Waco and the five flights on Wednesday afternoon continued that theme. He said passengers ranged in age from an enfeebled teenager to a 92-year-old.

"That was great," said Joe Lawson IV, who flew last week with his dad, Joe Lawson III, both of Ypsilanti Township. "It was better than flying in the B-17. The take-off was the best part and cutting a large circle above Domino's Farms was very cool."

Lawson's father couldn't agree more and he echoed the "very fun" sentiments heard throughout the afternoon. "Next, we have to fly in the C-47," he concluded.

Goof Bush, Yankee Air Museum WACO and C-47 flight scheduler said he hears those reactions every time the plane flies. "It's a lot of fun... it never gets old," he said.

Bush explained the WACO will continue to fly on Wednesdays through the middle of October. In addition, WACO flights will be available through the Thunder Over Michigan air show at Willow Run Airport this weekend, Aug. 20 and 21 on a "first come first fly" basis.

Barnstorming in biplanes was widespread throughout the U.S. in the 1920s and 1930s and WACO (Waco Aircraft Company) is one of the first to develop such an aircraft and is known as the best provider of these planes even today. The famous Charles Lindbergh was a barnstormer and participated in many such events and air shows.

A ride on the WACO for one person is $195 for Yankee Air Museum members and $225 for non-members. A ride for two is $295 if one rider is a museum member, and $325 for two non-members. There is a weight limit of 250 pounds. Museum membership costs $60 and includes a ticket to Thunder Over Michigan, a $40 value and the $30 member discount for the flight.

Mission Green Final phase of light project begins

Members of the Westland Mission Green team and representatives from DTE Energy celebrated the beginning of the final phase of the conversion of mercury vapor streetlights in the city last week.

DTE Energy is proud to partner with the City of Westland, in making such a significant infrastructure upgrade," commented Michael Chriss, director of Regional Relations at DTE. "We look forward to providing safe and efficient lighting systems for our customers, and the community."

The initial phase of the streetlight conversion project began in March of 2015 and converted 166 street light fixtures to LED on Wayne Road between Glenwood and Parkgrove which resulted in an annual savings of $23,136 for the city. The Westland investment in this phase of the project was $29,688.

The second phase of the project began August of 2015 and converted 520 street light fixtures to LED on major roads throughout the city. The total cost of the city was $69,596 with an annual savings of $38,516.

The third and final phase of the Mercury Vapor conversion project will convert 2,466 street light fixtures to LED on neighborhood streets throughout the city. The total cost for this phase to the city is $435,173 with an annual savings of $293,364. After this phase is completed the City of Westland will no longer have any mercury vapor streetlights. The entire project will be complete by Sept. 1, according to DTE.

"As a city dedicated to responsible environmental practices and sustainability, Westland is proud to be able to improve upon the safety of motorists and pedestrians who use these thoroughfares with LED streetlights that use less energy yet provide for enhanced visibility," commented Mayor William R. Wild. Westland will see a return on this total investment in a period of under 2 years."
