Detroit puts DeHoCo land on market

Don Howard
Staff Writer

Last week, 190 acres of vacant land in Plymouth Township went up for sale, the final chapter in a long and heated dispute regarding ownership of the property.

The land, located south of Five Mile between Ridge and Napier roads, is the site of the former Detroit House of Corrections prison farm and has been the subject of protracted court battles between the township and the City of Detroit regarding ownership. Township officials purchased the land, once on the tax rolls for more than $15 million, during an erroneous tax foreclosure sale in 2011 for $606,150.

The 190-acres, returned to Detroit by the courts, was part of a 323-acre parcel that was foreclosed on by Wayne County when the recorded owners, Demco 54, a subsidiary of DeMattia Corp., failed to pay taxes. The two parcels were improperly recorded as both belonging to Demco 54 in the Plymouth Township assessor's office, when in fact, the City of Detroit owned the 190-acre parcel and had never sold or transferred title to the land. The township reported a tax arrearage on the entire section of property to the office of the Wayne County Treasurer which then sold the land to the township at the tax foreclosure sale. Detroit was never notified of any tax arrearage by the township or the county as the notices went to Demco 54 which never paid any tax on any portion of the property.

Notices that did go to Detroit, attorneys demonstrated in court hearings, were sent to an incorrect and insufficient address.

In April 2013 attorneys from Detroit filed a lawsuit in Wayne County Circuit Court seeking return of the 190 acres. In 2014, despite an unresolved lawsuit and Affidavit of Interest filed by the City of Detroit, certain township officials, inspired by then Supervisor Richard Rousseau, launched an advertising campaign for the property to prospective developers seeking offers of an acquisition proposal for infrastructure development of the land they referred to as the Five Mile Technology and Recreation Corridor. Rousseau, attempting to sell the contested land, met with Chinese real estate development firm Third Wave Group and discussed the proposed development during a

Fall forecast

Plans under way for 61st annual Plymouth event

While it may seem awhile off, plans are already in place and preparations under way for the 61st Plymouth Fall Festival set for Sept. 9, 10 and 11.

Traditionalists will be glad to hear that the fire department will have a display including the 100-foot ladder truck this year, said Fall Festival President Eric Joy.

"The most important thing, for everybody to remember, is that this entire event is for the community," Joy said. "That's what this is really all about."

Joy said that all the traditional attractions, including the famous Rotary Chicken Barbecue, the Spaghetti Dinner, the Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast and the Optimist Pet Show would return, along with the Taste Fest, the event that has become the traditional opening of the Plymouth Fall Festival for many.

Tickets are already on sale for the Taste Fest, organized by the Plymouth Civilians, which will take place from 6-8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 9 at the former parking lot of Station 885 located in Old Village. The festival will continue Saturday and Sunday with events in Kellogg Park and throughout the downtown area all weekend.

More than 15 restaurants will be participating this year including Bahama Breeze, Beyond Borders, CAYA Smokehouse Grill, Cupeke Station, Grand Traverse Pie Co., Happy's Pizza and Ribs, LaBistecca, Station 885 and Tony

Public safety millage OK'd for Belleville ballot

There is a contentious group of residents who do not support 6.5 mills.

Voters in Van Buren Township will be asked to approve a seven-year 6.5 public safety millage on the Nov. 8 ballot. The millage is an increase of 2.5 mills over the current 4-mill public safety millage which will expire in December.

If approved by voters, the millage would become effective in December of 2017 and continue through 2033.

Members of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees approved the question at a special meeting earlier this month.

The only dissenting vote on the board was from trustee Brenda McClanahan who suggested that the millage would not be successful due to the current voter attitude in the township. She said that the public safety millage last year was rejected by voters and that currently, "There is a contentious group of residents who do not support 6.5 mills." She added that the board should show the residents why the funding is needed.

Township Clerk Leon Wright explained that the special meeting had been called due to the rapidly approaching deadlines for ballot issues. He said that the question would have to be submitted to the Wayne County clerk's office very quickly to meet the deadline to be on the November ballot.

Wright also said it was necessary for the township to relieve some of the pressure on the township general fund and the proposed millage would allow funding currently being used for public safety to go for items such as new DPW trucks.

Democratic candidate for township supervisor Kevin

McNamara said that he would support the 6.5 mill question. He added that he feels the township hasn't used the money from the landfill effectively but has rather used those funds to balance the budget. He suggested that Canton Township used the landfill agreement fees to build a new police building, a music amphitheater and added to the amenities in the community.

The increase of 2.5 mills will lighten the load on the general fund, McNamara said.

Should the millage question be rejected by voters in November, there are four more elections when the question could be revisited next year, officials said.

INKSTER - WESTLAND

Summer fun

The Inkster Police Department, St. Clements Episcopal Church and the Boy Scouts of America organized a Summer Camp for youth which took place Aug. 16-18 at the church. Participants enjoyed archery, crime scene techniques, fingerprinting, a BBgun challenge and other activities during the days of activities. About 50 youngsters participated the first day of the event, due organizers said, to rainy weather. There was no registration fee and all were welcome at the camps where the Inkster Police Department took responsibility for cooking lunch for the campers.

Crusin' Hines is Saturday

The 6th Annual Cruiser Hines event will take place beginning at 9 a.m. Aug. 28 when Hines Park will be flooded with classic cars. Gates open for entrance at Ford Road for the official Autopiazone event.

The 6th year of the event has surpassed all other auto events in Michigan by car count, according to Don Nicholson, president of Don Nicholson Enterprises, which organizes the event.

"No other cruise allows only classics on the road. It's a great day to come to Hines Park and enjoy the rolling car show. Families come down on bicycles and tour the park and see classics parked along the 7.5 mile route," he said.

He said that cars like the Batmobile, Munsters Coach, Herbie, Mach 5 from Speed Racer, The Mutt Mobile from the movie Dumb and Dumber, and many other car celebrities would be in the cruise and that Art Cervi, better known as Boon the Clown, would also be on hand at the event.

Nicholson said that drivers need only bring their classic car to Ford Road and Hines Drive and staff members would direct them to the cruise. Only street legal vehicles are allowed to cruise, he said and no mini bikes, or golf carts would be allowed. Bicycles should stay on the bike path or follow the flow of traffic, he added and there should be no passing on the right.

"Barnums are not permitted. This is a safe fun, family friendly event," Nicholson said.

CANTON - PLYMOUTH

Township firefighters OK new contract

A new union contract will give Plymouth Township firefighters a 3 percent raise in each of the next three years.

The contract will affect 18 full-time members of the International Association of Fire Fighters Local 1406. The contract was approved by the members of the township board of trustees and ratified by the union members last month. The new contract is effective through March 2019.

In addition to the wage increase, firefighters took some concessions including an increase of $25 in the amount union members who are not eligible for retiree health insurance must set aside in health savings accounts. The contribution will increase from $50 per paycheck to $75 under the new contract.

The new agreement also reduced the 100-percent vesting in the township retirement health savings account to five years from the previous 20-year stipulation.

"The majority of our membership voted to accept the contract and we are pleased," said union President Pat Conely.

He added that the department is looking forward to a positive working relationship with the new board of trustees this fall.

New Plymouth Township firefighters will start at a base pay of $41,787 annually and can earn as much as $69,646 after five years seniority.

Assault charges filed in attack at mosque

A 65-year-old Hamtramck man is scheduled to be back in 35th District Court tomorrow facing assault charges stemming from an incident at a mosque in Canton Township.

Hobibur Rahman turned himself in to Canton police while an investigation into a complaint of an assault against a juvenile male was under way.

According to police reports, the alleged assault took place at the Masjid Bilal mosque located in the 1500 block of North Ridge Road on Aug. 10.

Police did not reveal what type of weapon was allegedly involved in the incident.

Rahman was arraigned before magistrate Frank Wren at the 35th District Court last week on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon, a 4-year felony and aggravated assault, a 1-year misdemeanor. He was released on a $10,000 personal bond.

A probable cause hearing on the matter is set for tomorrow at the 35th District Court.

three-day Detroit conference after launching his advertising campaign for the entire 223-acre prison farm property.

Local officials, including those from Northville Township, envisioned the vacant land in the area as "Michigan International Technology Center-Business Park. However, Reunue supported Township Treasurer Ron Edwards' conception for an indoor sports arena and new township recreation complex on the site. Edwards went so far as to meet with one of the respondents, Total Sports of Whom. The Total Sports' proposal was to build a sports complex with indoor and outdoor facilities such as softball and basketball on the land. In support of that proposal, Edwards convinced the board of trustees to vote down any and all support for the preservation and renovation of the former Central Middle School in downtown Northville. Edwards also convinced the board trustees to formally resolve not to enter into any cooperative venture whatsoever with the City of Plymouth for two years in what many characterized as an effort to derail the Plymouth Arts and Recreation Complex (PARC) plan.

In 2015, Wayne County Chief Judge Robert Colombo ruled the entire foreclosure sale transaction was improper and ordered the land returned to Detroit.

Plymouth Township attorneys unsuccessfully appealed that ruling in the State Court of Appeals, where a three-judge panel again ruled in favor of the city. Township officials then hired former Michigan State Attorney Mike Cox and his law firm to aid in the arguments and eventually agreed to fund an appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court which ultimately refused even to hear the matter. The township paid more than $80,000 to Cox' firm to file the Supreme Court brief requesting a hearing.

Detroit attorneys successfully argued that, "The township engineered the foreclosure by failing to send property tax bills to the City despite the fact that the City at all times was owner..." Throughout the legal proceedings, attorneys and representatives from the office of the Wayne County Treasurer consistently argued that the foreclosure was based solely on the information provided to their office by the township and that they had no legal exposure in the matter.

Summit Commercial LLC has listed the subject land for $7.5 million which equals about $39,700 per acre, in sharp contrast to the township purchase price of $606,100, including back taxes, or $2,181 per acre. At the time of the foreclosure sale, Plymouth Township officials obtained an installment purchase contract with the Bank of Ann Arbor A balance on the bank loan requires $17,000 per month payments, according to township records.

Summit agent Ben Smith said the "Very desirable property is priced to sell."

One-Act play entries sought

Scripts for the 2017 One Acts Festival will be accepted through Aug. 31 by TLC Productions.

The festival is planned for Jan. 13-15 at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill Canton and is the fourth biennial Canton One Acts Festival.

"This festival brings new plays to the Canton community and Village Theater at Cherry Hill stage. As receiving playwrights, we looked for other venues to submit our one-act musicals, but there weren't any nearby groups organizing any competitions or festivals. Since we have been afforded the opportunity to present our new works at The Village Theater, we wanted to provide a process, venue and events to showcase other emerging playwrights of plays and musicals as well as to aspiring directors," explained a spokesperson from TLC Productions.

Submitted one-act plays should be original and no longer than 12 minutes. Multiple submissions from a playwright are welcome, however, no children's shows will be considered. For a list of complete guidelines and for information on the judging process, go to cantononeacts.com.

Submissions will be accepted until Aug. 31 or until the limit of 50 entries is reached. Selected shows for the One-Acts Festival will be announced online at cantononeacts.com by Oct. 31.

Succo's, among several others.

According to Kathy Turnquist, who has organized the Taste Fest for the Citizens club for several years now, there may be more participating restaurants soon.

"We are serving such a variety of things again this year," she said. "There will be Jerk Chicken Pasta, cupcakes, pie, chicken wings, beef tenderloin and prime rib along with pizza and pulled pork sliders and salsa and guacamole."

"There are several restaurants still deciding and doing their paperwork for the event, but as always, there will be a wide selection," Turnquist, who is also the secretary of the Fall Festival committee, added.

Rob Costanza, owner of Station 885, has been helping the Citizens for several years now with the event. The restaurant has a large, lower level parking area which is professionally landscaped by Serene Surroundings, turning the area into a park-like setting for the Taste Fest. The company donates the extensive landscaping to the event and it is removed the next day.

"The way they bring trees, plants, shrubs, flowers in here is just amazing," Costanza said.

"They do something different each year."

There will also be a live band to entertain the crowds and bar service available from the restaurant.

Costanza said that "The Reverend" Marc Falkenberg, a classic rock and blues band, will continue to play after the Taste Fest ends at 8 p.m. and visitors can stay on to enjoy the atmosphere, the bar service and the music until 10 or so.

Costanza has been helping the group, donating his time, supplies and help, along with the space for the event for several years, and has seen it grow considerably.

"People now look forward to it and we start getting asked about tickets during the summer," he said. "We always sell out of tickets. It's just gotten to be a real tradition."

"The volunteers though and the restaurants really deserve credit for stepping up and doing this. It's a great event, a real good time and helps a great cause."

Tickets, priced at $15, or $5 for children ages 5-10, can be purchased at Station 885, located at 850 West Starline or at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce offices at 850 West Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth, or by calling Turnquist at (734) 429-1886. Children younger than 5 are admitted at no cost with a parent.

BELLEVILLE - NORTHVILLE

Schools reassure parents after driver's arrest

Following the arrest of a Durham School Services bus driver in connection with a shooting incident, Northville Public Schools Superintendent of School Mary Kay Gallagher issued a public statement regarding the matter.

Gallagher told parents and staff members that the employee, arrested on felony charges in Whom, has been placed on leave by the company that provides bus transportation in Northville.

"Although this alleged incident took place during the summer months away from the Northville community, and did not involve students, we recognize that a matter of this sort raises concern on the part of our students and our families," Gallagher wrote.

Durham Schools Services also issued a statement assuring school officials and parents that all background checks, including fingerprinting, were performed "and were clear" prior to the hiring of the individual now facing felony charges.

"We meet state and federal mandates for school bus driver/monitor screening and training and there are many steps taken before employment: these include drug and alcohol testing; an MVR check and a criminal background check," indicated Durham spokeswoman

"As always, we are committed to working together with our police, school and community partners to ensure the safety and well-being of our students and our staff members."

Molly Hart.

"The safety of our students is our top priority and we would like to reassure parents and members in the community that we have a stringent hiring process for bus drivers and monitors," Hart said.

This is the second incident of criminal charges against a Durham employee. A bus monitor in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District, was arrested by Northville Township police on sexual assault charges against a minor in May. The case is still in the court system.

"He is no longer employed by Durham School Services," according to the Durham statement. "The background checks showed there was no arrest history," therefore, our background fingerprint checks did not show any activity."

Edna Jo Borst
(Starvation) Borst, educator, community advocate, and proud grandmother, passed away in her Northville, Maryland home on June 16, 2016. Mrs. Borst was a resident of Center Township for many years and graduated from Wayne Memorial High and Eastern Michigan University. Mrs. Borst applied her energy and drive to cause less hobbies, adventures, and challenges in life, almost all of them with an eye toward improving the lives of others. She was an elementary school teacher who delighted in teaching children how to read. Later, she was an early adopter of computing technology. Well before most of us knew who Bill Gates was, she was busy instructing adults how to use MS-DOS. An accomplished poster, Mrs. Borst told folks how to mold a block of clay into wonderful mugs, vases, and bowls. Her pieces bear the initials EJ and are usually finished in her favorite blue or gray glaze.

No matter what she was doing, it's fair to say that Mrs. Borst would be...well...suburban. She was a hard-driving, hard-working perfectionist who expected excellence from herself and from those around her. Anyone caught in the act of a misdeed often was going to get an earful. She was never afraid to stand her ground for a cause, especially for a cause of people she cared for. Apparently, the world first learned of these traits when she, as a young child, she confronted a school-year bully who didn't quite appreciate who he was dealing with, so she asked him right in the nose. While her mother, Russell Sturtevant, went around, her father, Woodrow Sturtevant, couldn't help but chuckle. He certainly knew who he was dealing with. For nearly 50 years, Mrs. Borst was married to her husband and best friend, Michael, an Army officer's wife, she endured too many days alone, but when he was home they shared every possible moment planning for and tending to their garden. She maintained to do this. Their home is a celebration of both nature, colorful flowers, and decorative trees. Mrs. Borst particularly loved roses, iris, and peonies, and she guarded them zealously from many and least said. Fort Knox should be given the protection she bestowed on her rare bald cypress trees. The local deer population still has every reason to be scared of her.

Gardening wasn't just a family affair, though. She had a ball being a member of the community garden club, the Hillside Diggers. Meeting at members' homes, Mrs. Borst and her friends talked about plants, enjoyed food and wine, and voted on gardening honors for neighbors. A sign reading "Mrs. Borst's Garden" was posted in one's yard means a thumb's up from the group! Mrs. Borst took great pride in her community and its people. She helped organize and participate in all manner of community activities, Christmas luncheon, Halloween parades, ball roasts, buffets, memorial park cleanup and improvements, Memorial Day barbecues, and more were always on her calendar. To protect the integrity of her beloved Hillside neighborhood, Mrs. Borst watched county and state government activities like a hawk. When gardening activities ended as daylight grew short, she turned to her second favorite pastime, genealogy. She had an earnest need to know everything she could about those who came before her. She and her sister Barbara searched online databases and handwritten records, poured over genealogy newsletters, reached out to distant family members, and even traveled the county in search of clues to their family history. Today, her office is filled with their documented discoveries. As their initial daycare provider, she witnessed their first steps and heard their first words. Once older, she watched no time passing them explore the garden for playing marbles, butterflies, and seemingly endless varieties of caterpillars. When hunger called, she was ready with sweet treats like cinnamon sugar toast, cookies, ice cream, and little hidden bowls of candy corn. If the kitchen was closed, they'd run off to McDonald's where she taught them the "Sturtevant" sign, a seemingly innocent request to try your luck that resulted in half of it disappearing.

Mrs. Borst's days as a grandmother were cut short by a disease that refused to leave her alone. Subjected to the ravages of cancer, she gamely fought through surgery after surgery. Her private battle with cancer, she was dignified, was supremely difficult, but she would follow her passions until the day came when even they were out of reach.

Her final days revealed everything one needed to know about her. She was graceful. She was dignified. She was quiet fortitude. But mostly, she was Mom. Mrs. Borst is survived by her siblings, Barbara Pulverman of Salem Township, John Sturtevant of New Braunfels, TX and Bill Sturtevant of Ypsilanti, by many nieces and nephews as well as her son, daughter-in-law Susan, and cherished grandchildren Benjamin and Nathaniel, all of Millerville, MD.

We loved you dearly, Mom. Give Dad a hug and a kiss for us. One day we will see each other again.

ROMULUS - WAYNE

Wayne awarded federal fire grant

The federal government will provide funding for firefighters in the City of Wayne following the rejection of a public safety millage by voters.

While the Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) grant application and required documentation had been submitted to the federal offices months ago, the announcement of the $904,948 grant to fund six firefighters in the city came last week, just as members of the city council were debating adding overtime costs for the department back into the budget.

The grant is expected to allay the concerns regarding overtime costs, a $371,000 annual expense discussed at the meeting of the council last week. While some members proposed adding the amount to the already $1.5 million budget deficit, Mayor Susan Rowe and Councilman John Rhessa suggested adding in back in monthly increments of about $50,000.

Both suggestions seem moot in light of the new grant which will allow the city to comply with the requirements of the interlocal agreement with the City of Westland regarding staffing and comply with the stipulations of Mutual Aid agreements with surrounding communities. Six additional firefighters should bring the department staffing to 18, officials said.

Wayne had been using overtime funding to comply with the minimum staffing requirement of four firemen on duty per shift.

Fire house fun

The Romulus Fire Department will host the annual open house at Fire Station Headquarters from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. this Saturday, Aug. 27. The station is located at 28777 Eureka Road. Children and families of all ages can participate in vehicle displays, demonstrations, fire safety exhibits, visit with Firepup like these youngsters did last year and enjoy free hotdogs and chips all while meeting with local Romulus firefighters. Another special feature for the day will be balloons and magic tricks being offered from noon until 2 p.m. For more information, call the station at (734) 941-8585.

Back to school rally set

A Back to School Rally is planned from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Friday, Aug. 26 at Wayne County Community College at 9555 Haggerty Road in Belleville.

The rally will feature youth and parent workshops, vendors, community resources, dental education, giveaways and entertainment. Free backpacks, school supplies and food will be available while supplies last.

Children can learn about wind tunnels and construct flying machines while learning about engineering practices and the science of flight.

For more information, contact the school of continuing education at (313) 496-2704 or visit www.wcced.edu.

Pumpkin Fest bingo will aid animal shelter

Once again this year, Romulus residents can enjoy playing bingo and helping a good cause during the Annual Romulus DDA Pumpkin Festival.

The annual festival is planned for Sept. 16, 17 and 18 this year and bingo games will be available at the Romulus Senior Center, 36525 Bibbins Road from 6-11 p.m. Friday; from 2-11 p.m. on Saturday and from 1-6 p.m. on Sunday. The bingo games are sponsored by St. Aloysius Church and the proceeds will be dedicated toward maintenance costs for the new Romulus Animal Shelter.

To date, the community, under the direction of City Councilman William Wadsworth, has collected more than $220,000 along with many in-kind contributions and labor from various local businesses to build and operate the shelter.

In addition to the ongoing bingo games, dedicated to the memory of Frank Ayers, there will be 50/50 raffles during the weekend.

For more information, contact the Romulus Senior Center at (734) 955-4140, Wadsworth at (734) 941-0616 or Joe Ozog at (734) 941-3495.

The games are under Michigan state bingo license V06930.
