Pair to face murder charges in shooting

A Westland man and a Wayne woman will face trial in the execution-style murder of a Plymouth Township man found dead in his home last month.

Judge James Plakas of the 35th District Court in Plymouth ordered Timothy S. Nutt, 22, of Westland and his girlfriend, Miriah Pisarski, 20, of Wayne bound over for trial in the death of Kenneth LaBita, 76, of Plymouth Township.

The pair had allegedly gone to the victim's home to buy a firearm when the situation "went bad" according to the Timothy S. Nutt, the father of one of the accused. Nutt told the court, "He (Andrew Nutt) went over to Kenny's (Pisarski's) and he was supposed to buy a gun or something from him and it went bad and he shot him." Nutt was among 11 witnesses who testified during the five-hour preliminary hearing last Friday.

The pair had allegedly gone to the victim's home to buy a firearm when the situation "went bad"...

Andrew Nutt will face charges of premeditated murder, felony murder, larceny and using a gun during a felony.

Pisarski, will face charges of felony murder and larceny after Plakas dismissed charges of premeditated murder and using a gun during a felony against her.

LaBita was found dead in his home on Gilbert Street Oct. 27 when neighbors reported to police that his dog had been left outside for two days and his garage door remained open. Responding officers found him dead from an apparent gunshot wound to the back of the head which an autopsy by the Wayne County Medical Examiner ruled was the cause of death and a homicide.

LaBita was a widower in the process of selling his possessions, including handguns and long guns in preparation for a move out of state, according to witnesses. Several police officers told the court that both Andrew Nutt and Pisarski admitted being at LaBita's home before he was found dead. Officers who questioned Pisarski said she told them that she became bored with the gun talk going on between Nutt and LaBita and left the room to use the restroom. She said she heard a bang and that Nutt came to the bathroom door and escorted her out of the house.

Nutt also admitted being in the house but did not confess to the killing. His brother, Timothy Nutt, told the court that Andrew Nutt told him that he shot LaBita in the back of the head and took guns out of the home wrapped in blankets.

Prosecutors allege that Nutt and Pisarski took guns and cash from LaBita's home and one officer testified that about $4,000 was found in Nutt's home. None of the firearms have been located, police said.

During their initial arraignment on the charges in 35th District Court, Judge Michael Gerou denied bond for both the defendants who have remained incarcerated since their arrest.

The pair will be arraigned in Wayne County Circuit Court on the murder charges tomorrow.

Jingle girl Annual charity run will honor Canton resident

A local Canton Township girl will be honored during one of the nation's "Most Incredible Themed Races," next month when the Jingle Bell Run/Walk for Arthritis takes place beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Compuware World Headquarters, 1 Campus Martius, Detroit. More than 3,000 participants are expected.

Among them will be family members and supporters of Emi Werschky of Canton who was diagnosed at 2 with juvenile idiopathic arthritis and is the 2014 Detroit Jingle Bell Run/Walk for Arthritis Honoree. After three years of treatment, Werschky experienced a pain free life and thought her arthritis was cured. Unfortunately, arthritis came back and treatments resumed.

"I can't wait until I am just Emi. Not a kid with arthritis," said Werschky.

"Physically, Emi is hurting, but emotionally, she's hurting just as much. She struggles and asks, 'Why me?'" said Lisa Werschky, Emi's mom.

"Emi was just 2 years old when she was officially diagnosed with Juvenile Arthritis. While other 2-year-old children were busy running, climbing, playing and learning to jump, skip, and pedal a bike, our daughter was quickly withdrawing from physical activities," Werschky said. "It was October of 2009 when we noticed Emi was limping and her knee was swollen. Within weeks she could no longer get out of bed, walk up or down stairs, or even stand on her own. The arthritis was spreading and taking away Emi's chances to be a normal and active child.

"Emi has been battling this disease for over five years. Today, thanks to a great team of doctors, medical procedures, and numerous trials of medications to find the right combination, Emi is returning to normal 7-year-old activity. We have experienced what its like to be in remission and how quickly that can end. Emi receives weekly injections in her stomach and takes daily pills to keep her arthritis under control. For a child in the 2nd grade, the side effects to these medications can make it very difficult to keep up in school. We know she still has a fight ahead of her, and Emi does occasionally experience a flare of her symptoms, but she has shown more strength and courage than we could have ever imagined," Werschky said.

Jingle Bell Run/Walk for Arthritis raises funds to fight and cure arthritis, the nation's leading cause of disability. Participants dress in holiday-themed costumes and tie jingle bells to their shoes creating a festive atmosphere. This family-friendly event includes a competitively timed 5K or 10K run, 5K walk, 1K kids' Snowman Shuffle, prizes for best costume and top fundraisers, and medals for the best run times in 13 age categories. Participants will also enjoy a post-race party sponsored by Hard Rock Cafe and New Belgium Brewery. Entry fees are $30 for the 5K run/walk, $35 for the 10K run and $12 for the Snowman Shuffle. All proceeds support Arthritis Foundation programs, services and research.

Register by going to www.Arthritis.org/Michigan or calling (855) 529-2728.

Arthritis is a serious disease that causes slow and painful deterioration of the body's joints. Often mischaracterized as an "old person's" disease, arthritis affects more than 50 million Americans, including 300,000 children. In Michigan, more than 2.3 million adults and 10,300 children have arthritis - 31 percent of the population.

Council 'tables' Westland firefighters' pact

Westland Mayor William Wild said that the city bargaining team will review the pension multiplier section of the proposed new union contract with the Wayne-Westland Professional Firefighters Union.

Union members and officials had already ratified the negotiated agreement waiting for approval of the members of the Westland City Council. While the Wayne and Westland fire departments have merged, each is regulated by union contracts with the individual cities.

The six-year Westland pact calls for a 3-percent pay raise in 2015, a 1-percent raise in 2016 and the option for the reopening of wage negotiations in 2017. At the regular city council meeting earlier this month, a motion to approve the agreement was derailed by Council President James Godbout. Godbout relinquished the chairmanship of the meeting to President Pro Tem Adam Hammons enabling him to offer a motion to table approval of the contract.

Godbout said that he was concerned about the effects of the pension multiplier amounts detailed in the contract. Those amounts, 2.5 percent for current employees of the fire department and at 2.25 percent for those hired after the date of the contract. Godbout said his concern was changing the multiplier from other union contracts in the city. He said he had no issue with the rest of the contract provisions, but wanted the multiplier issue made consistent with other union agreements. That multiplier is used as a factor in the determination of employees' pension amounts.

Wayne Westland Professional Firefighters Union President Mitch Tokarski was less than pleased with Godbout's motion. He said that Godbout was attempting to negotiate the contract in the public eye and from the chair at the city council.

There was no proposed deadline for the review by the bargaining team, City Attorney James Fausone, Personnel Director Cindy King and Deputy Mayor Thelma Kubitskey.

BELLEVILLE - CANTON

Canton Tree Lighting celebration set Dec. 6

The Canton community will begin the holiday season with the 36th Annual Tree Lighting event from 6-8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 3 at the Summit on the Park, located at 46000 Summit Parkway.

Festivities will begin at 6 p.m. outside the Summit on the Park, where visitors can enjoy holiday carols, watch Santa's arrival - courtesy of the Canton Fire Department - and countdown to the official Tree Lighting with Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy. Food options will be available for purchase onsite from The Qais food truck located in front of the Summit.

The fee to participate in the indoor activities is $5 per family, which includes: cookie decorating, arts and crafts, holiday shows and performances for all ages.

The Tree Lighting Marketplace, located in the Summit Banquet Lobby, will be open offering unique gifts and holiday treats for sale. Locally handmade items available include: wool mittens and crocheted necklaces, handmade snowmen, cinnamon pecan sour cream coffee cakes that come boxed with a bow, natural personal care, aromatherapy and household cleaning products, hand-crafted soaps, glass ornaments, hand-painted glassware and barware, holiday jewelry, toffee, cards, and American Girl inspired clothing and accessories. There will also be a snack area in the Marketplace where muffins, homemade pretzels, cookies and candy will be for sale.

Share in the giving spirit as Canton Goodfellows and Canton Leisure Services team up to make sure that "No Child in Canton goes without a Christmas." Stop by the Aquatic Center lobby to find out what items are still needed. Pick up a tag and then bring a new, unwrapped toy or other item to: the Summit on the Park, or the Canton Administration Building.

Contributions will be accepted through Dec. 4.

The Tree lighting event is sponsored in part by Atchinson Ford; Community Financial; The Goddard School; and Jack Demmer Ford.

For additional information about the 36th Annual Tree Lighting Event, call (734) 394-5460 or visit Cantonfun.org.

2 retire from police department

The Canton Police Department will say goodbye to two of its lieutenants this week as two veteran officers retire following long careers with the department.

Both David Schreiner and Mark Gajeski will officially retire as platoon commanders in the patrol division, overseeing the daily operations of their assigned shifts made up of sergeants and patrol officers.

Schreiner was hired as a Canton Police officer in 1987. He was promoted to the rank of sergeant in 2001 and lieutenant in 2013. Schreiner earned his bachelor's degree from Ferris State University, and his master's degree from Eastern Michigan University. He is also a graduate of Eastern Michigan University Police Staff and Command School.

During his 27-year career with the department, Schreiner spent 12 years assigned to the department detective bureau, seven years as a detective and five as the supervising sergeant, investigating and overseeing countless felony cases. Most notably, he investigated a criminal sexual conduct case that was featured on America's Most Wanted. Schreiner also served numerous terms as union president for both the police and command officers unions.

Gajeski was hired as a Canton police officer in 1986. He was promoted to the rank of sergeant in 2006, and to lieutenant earlier this year. Gajeski earned his bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice from Ferris State University, and is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University Police Staff and Command School.

During his 28-year career with the department, Gajeski served 22 years on the Western-Wayne Special Operations Team. As a member of this elite SWAT unit, he specialized in chemical munitions and explosive breaching. He was promoted through the unit from Team Leader to Senior Team Leader, to Executive Officer, serving as second in command of a multi-jurisdictional unit.

"The department is losing a tremendous amount of skill and knowledge with the retirement of these two individuals," said Public Safety Director Todd Mutchler. "Their careers with Canton took them down two diverse paths, with both men excelling in their respective specialty of choice-Lt. Gajeski's being special operations, and Lt. Schreiner's being criminal investigations. They both have done an outstanding job of mentoring officers in their fields of specialty, setting the department up for continued success in their absence.

"I wish them both the best in their future endeavors," Mutchler said.

Van Buren Schools to ask for millage renewal

Voters in the Van Buren Schools district will face a millage question in the election next May.

Members of the board of education unanimously agreed last week to place a seven-year renewal of the 1.13 sinking fund millage on the ballot in May to extend the current millage which will expire in December of 2015.

School officials said there is nothing unusual or different about the millage question and it is exactly the same rate that residents are currently paying. It is simply a renewal of the current sinking fund rate. Superintendent of Schools Michael Van Tassel said the May election would allow the board to time to reevaluate the request if voters do not approve the renewal at the May election. VanTassel said that the school administration would not present the millage question in the same way if voters reject it in May, but would attempt to rework the ballot proposal, should it fail.

The cost for the election is estimated at from $6,000-$9000, officials said. The sinking fund is the mechanism in school financing that funds repairs, construction and building maintenance. Officials said the May language would be exactly the same as the question voters approved in 2008.

The proposal would mean residents would continue to pay $1.13 for every thousand dollars of taxable value of property within the district until 2022

"It is estimated that the revenue the school district will collect if the millage is approved and levied in the 2016 calendar year shall be approximately $1,715,961 from the local taxes authorized in this proposal. A portion of the revenue collected may be subject to capture by the Van Buren Township Downtown Development Authority," according to the ballot language.

Food drive aids Goodfellows

The Canton Goodfellows are teaming up with Canton Leisure Services to help make things brighter for needy families in the Canton community during the upcoming holiday season with its "No Child Without a Christmas" campaign.

A Holiday Food Drive will take place from 4-9 p.m. Nov. 21, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Nov. 22 and from noon until 4 p.m. Nov. 23 at Holiday Market, located at 520 South Lilley Road in Canton. Suggested non-perishable food items include canned goods, rice, macaroni and cheese, noodles, pasta, soup mixes, coffee, powdered juices, cereal, cookies, crackers, jars of gravy, bread mixes, and other dry goods.

"So many families are already struggling to make ends meet throughout the year, so holidays can be an extremely difficult time of the year for them," said Canton Recreation Supervisor Jon

LaFever. "Any donation and gifts from area residents make a huge difference in bringing joy to their lives during the holidays."

Donations of new and unwrapped toys will also be collected through Dec. 5, at several Canton Leisure Services locations, including the Summit on the Park, located at 46000 Summit Parkway and the Canton Administration Building, located at 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Individuals, groups or families who would be willing to adopt a family or child and purchase gifts this Christmas should contact the Canton Goodfellows at cantongoodfellows@gmail.com. Cash donations and gift cards are also welcome and can be dropped off at the Leisure Services Department.

For more information, call (734) 394-5360 or visit www.canton-goodfellows.org.

Wayne Goodfellows plan fundraiser for holidays

The Wayne Goodfellows will host the 28th Annual Fundraiser for the group from 5:30 until midnight Dec. 5 at the Wayne Community Center, 4635 Howe Road in Wayne.

Every year, the Wayne Goodfellows provides food, toys, and emergency assistance for the residents of Wayne. Last year, the group was able to help more than 200 families throughout the year and also supported various local organizations that provide support for the less fortunate in the community.

Tickets for the Dec. 5 event are priced at $25 per person and include a dinner buffet, dessert, soft drinks and an entry into the door prize drawing. There will also be prizes, raffles, auctions, a DJ, dancing and a cash bar during the evening.

To purchase tickets, donate an auction or raffle item or for more information, call (734) 722-1111.

District to update policies

Members of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools Board of Education have agreed to a $5,000 fee for the development of a new set of policies for the district. Ongoing updates will cost the district $1,500 annually.

The new policies and bylaws will be compiled by attorneys from the law firm of Lusk and Albertson after a systematic review of all current district policies.

Kevin Sutton, an attorney from Lusk and Albertson, told the board members at a meeting earlier this month that the new documents would encompass all the policies required by federal and state law and be specific to the Wayne Westland district. He said it is difficult to go through a year without updating policies and that most districts have a three-ring binder with policies from past decades that haven't been looked at since inclusion in the binder.

He said that the law firm representatives would review the policies and bylaws currently in place and consult with school board members about preparing a streamlined packet specific to Wayne Westland schools. He said that the preparation would include input from and contact with the policy committee appointed by the board members.

Sutton said the evaluation and preparation of new policies would be "extensive" and take a long time to complete.

Board members agreed to fund the review and development by a unanimous vote.

In the money

The 59th Plymouth Rotary Barbeque generated nearly $50,000 to be used by the Rotary Foundation for community programs and grants. Last week, members of the sponsorship committee for the event presented the foundation with a check for $24,379 and the barbeque committee awarded the group $25,000, all to be used for programs to benefit the Plymouth community. Celebrating the check presentations were: Mike Muma, left, Bill Ventola, Mike Sullivan, Kent Early and Bill Weber. Ventola and Randy Overly proudly displayed the sponsorship committee contribution check, above.

Allen Elementary School, Tanger Center to be closed

Members of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education voted 5-2 last week to close both Allen Elementary School and the Tanger Center.

The board members also approved a plan to repurpose Gallimore Elementary School in Canton Township to house the elementary-level Talented And Gifted (TAG) program as part of a redistricting effort.

The closings and change in use were part of a plan the board members adopted in light of declining enrollment in the district and the opening of a new middle school in Canton, where, studies show, the majority of middle school students live.

The boundaries for that new school building were also adopted by a vote of the board. Currently, TAG students attend either Miller or Dodson elementary school.

The district plans to close Central Middle School in downtown Plymouth and move students to various other schools to evenly distribute classloads at all district buildings.

The new plan met with strong criticism from parents of Allen students who had previously expressed their discontent with the planned closing at board meetings. Parents cited the superior academic performance of Allen students and urged the board members to reconsider the decision to close the school.

The board members, however, opted to follow the recommendation of the administration and the steering committee.

Plymouth resident is caught 'Blue Handed'

Buy Nearby Guy, the campaign mascot of the Michigan Retailers Association, presented Linda Millard of Plymouth with a $500 check on Friday, Oct. 17. Millard was selected in a random drawing from among the shoppers who entered the contest by posting photos of themselves buying nearby on Get Caught Blue-Handed Day - Saturday, Oct. 4. Millard - with help from her daughter, Lauren, posted a photo of herself making purchases at Gigi's Mode on the Buy Nearby Facebook page. The presentation took place outside Gigi's Mode, a women's boutique located in downtown Plymouth that specializes in clothing, shoes, jewelry and gifts.

Millard said she makes it a practice to shop at the unique stores in her community.

"I love the small-town atmosphere of downtown Plymouth," she said. "I'm a firm believer in buying nearby. It's important to our community and our state."

Gigi's Mode is owned by Beverly Whitby and her daughter, Amanda Britcher. They opened their boutique - which carries the tagline "It's a girl thing" - in May 2004.

"I love the [Buy Nearby] campaign," Whitby said. "I think it's important to promote the retail industry and it's important to know the story behind what you buy."

Whitby participated in Get Caught Blue-Handed Day by offering 10 percent off all items in her store that are made in Michigan. She also encouraged Millard and other customers to post photos and qualify for the shopping spree.

President and CEO of Michigan Retailers Association James P. Hallan praised Millard, Gigi's Mode and the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce for helping make the special day a success.

"We're delighted our shopping spree winner is someone who supports the Buy Nearby campaign and practices 'getting caught' shopping at nearby retailers," Hallan said. "We all win when we Buy Nearby."

The retailers group launched the year-round Buy Nearby campaign in 2013 to encourage Michigan residents to have fun shopping and support their communities by buying from retail businesses in Michigan. The campaign designates the first Saturday in October as Get Caught Blue-Handed Day to focus greater retailer, shopper and news media attention on the campaign.

Economic research conducted for MRA shows that Michigan's economy would increase by $9 billion and add nearly 75,000 jobs if all shoppers who make buys from "remote sellers" - mostly online-only merchants outside the state - switched their purchases to Michigan businesses.

Even if shoppers switched only one in 10 of their remote purchases, the state economy would see a gain of $900 million and nearly 7,500 jobs.

NORTHVILLE - ROMULUS

‘Tis the season Goodfellows, Animal Shelter receive welcome donations

Two charitable causes in Romulus received some assistance last week, while another is gearing up for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Representatives from the Romulus Public Service Credit Union presented two checks to the city during the meeting of the city council last week: one for $3,000 for the Romulus Animal Shelter and one for $300 for the Romulus Goodfellows.

The animal shelter donation came from a May promotion in which the credit union challenged members of the community to save more than $500,000 through reduced interest rates on new loans and refinancing previous loans. They hosted a special event, provided games and other activities and offered four different charities to choose from, should the event be successful, said Nadine Hohnke, a representative from the credit union. The animal shelter was by far the favorite.

City Councilman William Wadsworth said the check was the second largest the animal shelter had received; the shelter opened in 2011 and was funded primarily through donations.

The $300 check for the Goodfellows stemmed from the Michigan v. Michigan State rivalry day, in which employees could donate money and dress casually.

The Goodfellows, who gather donations throughout the year to help provide Christmas gifts and meals to members of the community, are gearing up for their annual holiday drive, said Romulus Fire Chief David Allison.

“This gives us a nice boost to begin with,” he said. “We’ll definitely put it to good work.”

Wadsworth listed several other charitable causes in the community, including the Library Fund, the Progressive Fund, the Civic Center, Boy and Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army and the Romulus Helping Hands.

“There are lots of great organizations that need help in the community,” he said.

The Helping Hands is a food pantry that provides necessities to citizens throughout the year and they need donations in order to provide them.

“There’s still a need,” said Councilman Harry Crout. “You don’t realize how blessed you are to open up your refrigerator and find food. Some residents don’t have that.”

He said Thanksgiving may be a difficult time for many Romulus families and the Helping Hands has not received any donated turkeys yet. Last year they gave away 50 turkeys.

“We all need to step up and help out,” he said.

The food pantry is open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. It serves Romulus residents only who are referred there either by a social worker, teacher, minister or other authority figure. For more information or to donate, call (734) 941-5323.

Chamber seeking nominations for Person of the Year, 2014

The Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce is now accepting nominations for the Person of the Year honor in the community.

Criteria for the nominees are individuals who have made significant contributions to Romulus and its residents. A biographical synopsis should be provided stating reasons the nominee should be awarded the Person of the Year honor. An award banquet will take place next spring to honor the winner who will be selected by a committee named by the Camber of Commerce Board of Directors. The committee members will receive and review all the nominations and make the final selection.

The deadline to submit nomination is Dec. 5 and forms are available at the chamber office. There is no age limit for nominees who do not have to be Romulus residents, according to Betsey J. Krampitz, executive director of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

“Being a part of this community, I will tell you that I feel it is a great honor to be nominated and selected by the chamber and recognized by them for outstanding contributions and service to this community,” Krampitz said.

Nominations can be mailed to: Romulus Person of the Year, c/o Romulus Chamber of Commerce, 11189 Shook Road, Romulus, MI 48174.

Annual Northville Parade of Lights, Holiday Tree Lighting set tomorrow

The Annual Northville Holiday Lighted Parade and Tree Lighting Ceremony will take place at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at Town Square.

The parade, which requires that all entries be festooned with lights, will begin on West Cady in front of the Post Office and travel up Wing, down West Main to Linden, turn onto Dunlap and travel to Hutton where participants will turn onto East Main and drive back down Center to East Cady to end where the event began.

The parade theme this year, All I Want For Christmas, is expected to be seen on several of the parade entries. The parade is sponsored by Tom Holzer Ford and the Northville Chamber of Commerce.

Following the parade, the tree lighting will take place at Town Square where there will be a community sing-a-long. Santa Claus will arrive and Tina Genitti along with Mayor Chris Johnson will light the holiday tree. Northville Citizen of the Year Ken Roth will appear and Santa will receive visitors after the festivities.

There will be complimentary refreshments available before and after the parade provided by Destiny Worship Center, First Baptist Church of Northville, Northville Christian Assembly, OakPointe Church, Ward Church and First Church of the Nazarene.

There is no charge for the community event which is open to the public.

For more information, call (248) 349-7640.

Blankets are needed

Next Monday, Nov. 24, is the last day of the Blanket Drive currently under way throughout the City of Romulus.

In an effort to help the Detroit Veterans Center, the city is collecting new and gently-used blankets, comforters, quilts, afghans and even twin-size sheet sets.

Donations are being accepted at Romulus City Hall, 11111 Wayne Road; the Romulus Department of Public Works, 12600 Wayne Road; Romulus Fire Station #4, 28777 Eureka Road and the Romulus Athletic Center, 35765 Northline Road.
